Astronaut, Capsule Aboard Ship

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (UPI) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. and his world-circling Sigma 7 space capsule arrived Thursday at Midway Island, where the capsule was to be loaded aboard a cargo plane for return to its Cape Canaveral starting point while Schirra continued a leisurely cruise to Honolulu.

During the cruise aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Kearsarge, which plucked the capsule from the ocean northeast of Midway Wednesday, Schirra was to relate for space agency officials details of his six-orbit flight that went from start to finish with unprecedented perfection.

One of the most notable achievements was the accuracy with which the capsule, after traveling 160,000 miles at speed of 17,560 miles an hour, was brought down exactly in the target area where the Kearsarge waited to pick it up.

Only real difficulty on the flight disclosed so far was with the temperature in Schirra's pressure suit.

Officials at Cape Canaveral said Thursday the flight came within one and one-half minutes of being ended after the first orbit because of the temperature trouble.

Christ Kraft, Project Mercury flight director, said the decision to continue was made by the astronaut himself just one and one-half minutes before time to fire

Soviet Union Plays Down Space Flight

By NICHOLAS Daniloff

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Thursday played down the space flight of Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr., and played up the fifth anniversary of its pioneer Sputnik I, which launched the space age on Oct. 4, 1957.

Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, relegated Schirra's six orbits to a 250-word account on the back page. It gave banner headlines on the front page to the satellite anniversary, as did other Soviet newspapers.

Pravda's New York dispatch on Schirra's flight had been sent before he completed his orbits and landed, but Moscow radio this morning reported on his safe recovery with a brief news item.

The Moscow man on the street congratulated Schirra, but comparisons to the longer flights of three Soviet spacemen were frequent.

"Only six orbits? That's not very much," one Russian said to an interviewer. "We had many more orbits of the earth."

In August, 1961, Soviet spaceman Titov completed 17 orbits in a flight of more than 24 hours. In August of this year, Andrian Nikolayev and Pavel Popovich made flights of four and three days, Nikolayev completing 64 orbits.

Moscow radio said the Schirra flight was a "decisive step in the preparation for the 24-hour flight around the earth planned for next year, that is, the U.S. version of Titov's flight, which was carried out more than a year ago."

"It's not bad," commented an Army officer. "But the Americans still have to go some way before they duplicate the trips of Popovich and Nikolayev."

"Why don't your scientists develop space ships that can land on earth, as ours do?" a Russian housewife asked.

Pravda stressed the fact that the temperature in Schirra's space suit had risen briefly to 82 degrees.

Pope John Returns After Pilgrimage

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII, slightly tired but beaming, returned to his Vatican home Thursday night from a triumphal pilgrimage to Loreto and Assisi which he said was "the finest trip, the most moving" in his lifetime.

During the 15-hour 38 - minute train trip through the mountains of central Italy — the first railroad journey by a Pope in exactly a century—the Pontiff smiled to the cheers of a half million faithful and wept as he prayed for a successful Ecumenical Council.

He kneeled in humility before the tomb of St. Francis and stood in his train window, as happy as a boy on his first trip. He talked to cardinals and to newsmen, to friars and to the president and premier of Italy.

"We are extremely happy because this day by far surpassed all we could have expected," the Pope said on his return here.

Bill Intended To Open New World Trade

Passage Seen As Victory For Administration

BY VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress gave President Kennedy unprecedented power Thursday to tear down American tariff walls and to provide cash subsidies to any American who loses his job because of the sale of foreign products in this country.

The President plans to use this vast power to negotiate freer access to world markets for the products of American farms and factories.

Envisioning a big expansion in Trans-Atlantic trade, the president foresees a "trading partnership" between the 187 million Americans and the 170 million consumers of six nationalities in Europ's prospering new Common Market.

The lopsided margins by which the House and Senate gave final approval to the trade program provided an anti-climactic finish to the greatest legislative victory Kennedy has scored since he entered the White House.

Both Houses Agree

Shortly before noon the House on a 255 to 91 rollcall approved the final bill, a compromise between somewhat differing measures passed earlier by House and Senate. Then, the Senate by voice vote sent the legislation to the White House.

There was no doubt about Thursday's outcome.

The decisive battles had been fought and won on the House floor last June and on the Senate floor last month when administration forces beat down by close

Kennedy Names 13 To Form Space Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy named on Thursday the 13 prominent Americans who will incorporate the unique company which is to own and operate the U.S. portion of a global space communications system.

The group is made up of five practicing lawyers, four industrialists, two bankers, a publisher-lawyer and a labor union official. No representative of a communications company is included.

Appointed under a recently passed act of Congress, the incorporators are subject to Senate confirmation. They will have wide powers to launch the communications system which ultimately will transmit television and radio signals and voice communications on a worldwide, commercial basis, using space satellites as relay points.

The incorporators will select their own chairman and will serve as a board of directors until stockholders in the new corporations select their own board. The incorporators will not be paid by the government.

Foremost among the incorporators' tasks will be to launch the corporation's financing. It is expected that the primary source of funds will be common stock sold half to the general public and half to established communications companies.

Control of the corporation will pass ultimately to a 15-man board. Six members are to be elected by the public stockholders, six by the communications companies which hold stock and the remaining three are to be appointed by the President of the United States.

Ireland Urges UN To Broaden Finance Power

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Ireland proposed Thursday that broad borrowing powers be granted to the secretary-general as a last ditch measure aimed at preventing the "collapse in chaos" of the United Nations.

In a policy speech to the General Assembly, Frank Aiken, Ireland's foreign minister, charged that some of the big power members of the Security Council were exercising a "financial veto" by refusing to pay for U.N. activities they do not like.

The assembly also heard Liu Chieh, ambassador from Nationalist China, express strong doubts that Communist China is about to develop a nuclear bomb. He said that the "economic chaos and technological deficiencies" on the Chinese mainland make this a most unlikely possibility.

Soviet-bloc delegates boycotted the speech, in which Liu denounced Communist activity in Viet Nam, Laos, Tibet, Berlin and Cuba.

Aiken said that if U.N. members are allowed to pick and choose what activities they want to support financially, the United Nations will suffer the same fate as the League of Nations "with no less disastrous consequences for humanity."

The Irish diplomat said the best way to resolve the financial crisis would be to persuade all members to pay their annual assessments promptly.

As a second course he recommended periodic increases in the U.N. working capital fund to a sum more in keeping with the level of the present budget.

As a last resort he suggested that the secretary-general be empowered "on such terms and conditions as he deems appropriate, to borrow in any financial year up to the full amount of the cost of implementing all the decisions of the United Nations in that year."

Army To Release Mississippi Guard

Men Will Return To Homes, Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army announced Thursday night that approximately 3,500 of the Mississippi National Guard troops called to federal service last weekend for the Oxford integration crisis will be released at midnight Friday.

The Army said that personnel in major Army guard units in the Oxford area are not affected by the action releasing the 3,500 by midnight Oct. 5.

These personnal are two infantry battlegroups, an armored calvary regiment, and a hospital unit totaling approximately 3,000 men.

The announcement was made by Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance.

The Army said that at the same time, Vance took action authorizing the remaining approximately 4,500 Army and Air Guardsmen to return to their homes and jobs without change in their status on active federal service.

Vance said the men affected by the order permitting them to return to their homes and jobs remain in active federal service.

"However, instead of spending their full time training at unit armories they will be required only to be available at all times and to keep their unit commanders informed of their whereabouts."

According to the Army statement, Vance took the action for two reasons:

"First, there is a diminishing requirement for National Guard troops; and second, the state may have a critical need for the bulk of the men released from active federal service to assist in the salvage of four tanks of liquid chlorine from a commercial barge sunk last year in the Mississippi River near Natchez."

A decision recently was made to try to salvage the highly-dangerous chlorine.

UAR Sending Troops To Help Yemen Rebels

CAIRO, U.A.R. (UPI) — The United Arab Republic Thursday dispatched a ship-load of troops from Suez to the Red Sea to stand off the Yemeni coast with orders to help the week-old rebel Yemen government defend itself if necessary, informed sources said Thursday night.

The troops will move immediately if Yemen calls for help against a possible attack by "counter - revolutionaries," these sources said.

Earlier the United Arab Airlines announced the cancellation of all flights to Saudi Arabia, apparently in fear its planes would be seized if they landed there.

No explanation for the cancellation was given but two Saudi transport planes have defected to the United Arab Republic in the past two days.

The two Saudi air force officers were cheered by crowds when they arrived Thursday at Cairo Airport from Assam where they landed in their Saudi planes. They were invited to join the Egyptian air force.

Algeria Approved As UN Member

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Algieria was approved by the Security Council on Thursday for membership in the United Nations. The Algerian delegation will be seated next Monday on approval by a simple majority vote of the General Assembly and will become the 109th U.N. member.

The big test was in the Security Council where the five permanent members, including Nationalist China, have veto power. The Chinese abstained on the council vote making it 10-0.

DeGaulle Faces New Revolt In Parliament

BULLETIN

PARIS (AP) — Usually reliable sources in the French National Assembly said Friday that Premier Georges Pompidou had been ousted by more than an absolute majority on a motion of no confidence. There was no immediate confirmation.

PARIS (UPI)—The French Communist party Thursday night joined a swelling parliamentary revolt against President Charles de Gaulle that appeared almost certain to topple Premier Georges Pompidou's government.

Following a threat by De Gaulle in a nationwide broadcast to quit unless the country backs his plan for election of his successors by the nation as a whole, the National Assembly plunged into a marathon debate on a motion censuring the government.

Indications were that the debate would continue through most of the night and would end with the government's defeat, forcing Pompidou to resign.

The censure motion was backed by almost all parties ranging from the Socialists to the extreme right except De Gaulle's own Union for the New Republic.

Shortly before midnight (7 p.m. EDT) Communist party spokesman Waldeck Rochet announced that the 10 Communist deputies also would vote against the government. More significantly, he announced that the party would order its supporters to vote "no" in the Oct. 28 national referendum on the manner in which French presidents are elected.

Although the Communists have only insignificant parliamentary representation under the present electoral system, they have polled about five million popular votes in nearly every election since World War II.

De Gaulle insists that his successors be elected by a direct vote of the people so they will be strong enough to lead the government.

Despite De Gaulle's eleventh hour appeal over the head of Parliament, there appeared little he could do to save the Pompidou government. He had timed the speech two hours before the start of debate so he could get in the first word.

Red Trade With Cuba Is Target

Expected To Close All U.S. Ports To Communist Vessels

By DONALD MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy plans to issue within two weeks the most sweeping U.S. shipping control in modern peacetime history aimed at cutting Soviet bloc trade with Cuba, officials said Thursday.

The order would close all U.S. ports to all Russian ships if any Soviet vessels continue to supply Cuba with arms.

It would in some cases close American ports and deny U.S. U.S. government cargoes to free world vessels involved in Soviet bloc trade with Cuba.

A committee headed by State Department legal adviser Abram L. Chayes was appointed to work out details. The departments of State, Agriculture, Interior, Treasury, Commerce, Defense, the Foreign Aid Agency and the Maritime Commission all will be involved in drafting the regulations.

The order will be designed to make Soviet bloc trade with Cuba more costly for the Russians, and to discourage free world maritime nations from participating in it. It will not be aimed at free world trade with Cuba as such.

Thursday, in actions relating to the Cuban situation, the President:

—Signed the resolution in which Congress gave its full backing to any action Kennedy might take to meet any offensive threat from the Communist island, including force if necessary.

—Signed into law legislation which gives him standby authority to call as many as 150,000 reservists, and extend the enlistments of some men now serving, should some emergency require it while Congress is away.

On the upcoming shipping order, officials said these carefully worded "policy guidelines" would be included:

1. All U.S. ports will be closed to all ships of any country if any ship under the flag of that country carries arms to Cuba after the order goes into effect.

2. No U.S. government or U.S. government-financed cargo could be carried on a foreign flag ship if any ship of the same owners is used in Communist bloc trade with Cuba after the effective date.

3. No U.S. flagship and no U.S.-owned ship could carry goods to or from Cuba.

4. All U.S. ports would be closed to any ship in the Soviet bloc-Cuban trade which tries to come to the United States "on the same continuous voyage."

V. President Lauds Kennedy In California

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, jumping into the California campaign, declared Thursday night that the Kennedy administration has had a "win" policy abroad and one of "courage" at home on civil rights.

Johnson made no direct mention of the racial strife that cost two lives and brought federal troops to Oxford, Miss. But he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a Democratic dinner:

"Whether the civil rights of one or the human rights of all were at issue, the administration has moved with resolution and responsibility and, above all courage. This administration does not regard 'human welfare' as an ugly word, 'individual dignity' as an empty phrase, nor 'private enterprise' as a waning concept."

In an earlier prepared speech at San Jose, Johnson charged that "obstructionism" rather than modernism has "seized control of the Republican soul." Calling for election of a larger Democratic majority in Congress he said:

"Disavow all they will Republicans are doing in the Congress the work of the extremists who would have America make no progress at all."

"For twenty months we have had—as we have now and will continue to have—a 'win' policy for America. We have had a win policy in Berlin, in Vietnam, in Geneva, in all the battlegrounds of the cold war.

Federal Court Order Sends Longshoremen Back To Work

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge Thursday ordered 93,000 striking longshoremen along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts back to work. The dockworkers said they would have cargo moving by Saturday.

A temporary back-to-work order was handed down by Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey as the result of a Justice Department petition ordered by President Kennedy under the Taft-Hartley law.

William Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), said orders had already been issued to union locals from Maine to Texas to notify members to return to work at 8 a.m. Saturday.

He said he believed this was the earliest that the workers could get back on the job.

Hundreds of shipping companies, idled by the walkout and major maritime unions which honored picket lines, immediately made plans to get thousands of tons of cargo out of warehouses and into the holds of waiting ships.

Other ships were tied up at docks with cargo, some of it perishable, to be unloaded.

The order that McGohey handed down was in the form of a temporary restraining order. The Justice Department had asked for an injunction, which would, under terms of the Taft-Hartley law, provide an 80-day "cooling off" period.

He said he ordered the dockworkers to return to work immediately, however, because Justice Department officials and attorneys had pointed out that the strike effected a "substantial part of the maritime industry and would imperil the health and safety of the nation if permitted to continue."

American export lines promptly rescheduled sailing of the S. S. Independence from New York on Saturday. The ship had cancelled bookings.

McGohey said he was scheduling a hearing before making a decision on the injunction because attorneys for the longshoremen indicated they would oppose the government move.

Justice Department attorney Carl Eardley presented affidavits from Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Maritime Administrator Donald W. Alexander, and secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

"The strike would interfere with foreign trade which last year contributed approximately $3 billion to our merchandise trade surplus," Dillon said.

He pointed out in his affidavit that a continuation of the strike "could do indirect damage by causing loss of foreign markets for finished manufacturers."

The four-day strike has kept an estimated 93,000 dock workers off the job.

Although the Communists have only insignificant parliamentary representation under the present electoral system, they have polled about five million popular votes in nearly every election since World War II.

De Gaulle insists that his successors be elected by a direct vote of the people so they will be strong enough to lead the government.

Despite De Gaulle's eleventh hour appeal over the head of Parliament, there appeared little he could do to save the Pompidou government. He had timed the speech two hours before the start of debate so he could get in the first word.

Red Trade With Cuba Is Target

Expected To Close All U.S. Ports To Communist Vessels

By DONALD MAY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy plans to issue within two weeks the most sweeping U.S. shipping control in modern peacetime history aimed at cutting Soviet bloc trade with Cuba, officials said Thursday.

The order would close all U.S. ports to all Russian ships if any Soviet vessels continue to supply Cuba with arms.

It would in some cases close American ports and deny U.S. U.S. government cargoes to free world vessels involved in Soviet bloc trade with Cuba.

A committee headed by State Department legal adviser Abram L. Chayes was appointed to work out details. The departments of State, Agriculture, Interior, Treasury, Commerce, Defense, the Foreign Aid Agency and the Maritime Commission all will be involved in drafting the regulations.

The order will be designed to make Soviet bloc trade with Cuba more costly for the Russians, and to discourage free world maritime nations from participating in it. It will not be aimed at free world trade with Cuba as such.

Thursday, in actions relating to the Cuban situation, the President:

—Signed the resolution in which Congress gave its full backing to any action Kennedy might take to meet any offensive threat from the Communist island, including force if necessary.

—Signed into law legislation which gives him standby authority to call as many as 150,000 reservists, and extend the enlistments of some men now serving, should some emergency require it while Congress is away.

On the upcoming shipping order, officials said these carefully worded "policy guidelines" would be included:

1. All U.S. ports will be closed to all ships of any country if any ship under the flag of that country carries arms to Cuba after the order goes into effect.
2. No U.S. government or U.S. government-financed cargo could be carried on a foreign flag ship if any ship of the same owners is used in Communist bloc trade with Cuba after the effective date.
3. No U.S. flagship and no U.S.-owned ship could carry goods to or from Cuba.
4. All U.S. ports would be closed to any ship in the Soviet bloc-Cuban trade which tries to come to the United States "on the same continuous voyage."

V. President Lauds Kennedy In California

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, jumping into the California campaign, declared Thursday night that the Kennedy administration has had a "win" policy abroad and one of "courage" at home on civil rights.

Johnson made no direct mention of the racial strife that cost two lives and brought federal troops to Oxford, Miss. But he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a Democratic dinner:

"Whether the civil rights of one or the human rights of all were at issue, the administration has moved with resolution and responsibility and, above all courage. This administration does not regard 'human welfare' as an ugly word, 'individual dignity' as an empty phrase, nor 'private enterprise' as a waning concept."

In an earlier prepared speech at San Jose, Johnson charged that "obstructionism" rather than modernism has "seized control of the Republican soul." Calling for election of a larger Democratic majority in Congress he said:

"Disavow all they will Republicans are doing in the Congress the work of the extremists who would have America make no progress at all."

"For twenty months we have had—as we have now and will continue to have—a 'win' policy for America. We have had a win policy in Berlin, in Vietnam, in Geneva, in all the battlegrounds of the cold war.

Federal Court Order Sends Longshoremen Back To Work

NEW YORK (UPI)—A federal judge Thursday ordered 93,000 striking longshoremen along the Atlantic and Gulf Coasts back to work. The dockworkers said they would have cargo moving by Saturday.

A temporary back-to-work order was handed down by Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey as the result of a Justice Department petition ordered by President Kennedy under the Taft-Hartley law.

William Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA), said orders had already been issued to union locals from Maine to Texas to notify members to return to work at 8 a.m. Saturday.

He said he believed this was the earliest that the workers could get back on the job.

Hundreds of shipping companies, idled by the walkout and major maritime unions which honored picket lines, immediately made plans to get thousands of tons of cargo out of warehouses and into the holds of waiting ships.

Other ships were tied up at docks with cargo, some of it perishable, to be unloaded.

The order that McGohey handed down was in the form of a temporary restraining order. The Justice Department had asked for an injunction, which would, under terms of the Taft-Hartley law, provide an 80-day "cooling off" period.

He said he ordered the dockworkers to return to work immediately, however, because Justice Department officials and attorneys had pointed out that the strike effected a "substantial part of the maritime industry and would imperil the health and safety of the nation if permitted to continue."

American export lines promptly rescheduled sailing of the S. S. Independence from New York on Saturday. The ship had cancelled bookings.

McGohey said he was scheduling a hearing before making a decision on the injunction because attorneys for the longshoremen indicated they would oppose the government move.

Justice Department attorney Carl Eardley presented affidavits from Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz, Maritime Administrator Donald W. Alexander, and secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

"The strike would interfere with foreign trade which last year contributed approximately $3 billion to our merchandise trade surplus," Dillon said.

He pointed out in his affidavit that a continuation of the strike "could do indirect damage by causing loss of foreign markets for finished manufacturers."

The four-day strike has kept an estimated 93,000 dock workers off the job.

Two White Men Charged With Negro Burning

FBI Accuse Pair In Leesburg Case

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced Thursday that two white men had been charged with the Aug. 15 burning of a Negro church near Leesburg, Ga.

He said FBI agents arrested Jack P. Smith, 28, a service station operator, in Smithville, Ga., and that charges had been placed against Douglas Harold Parker, 18, who is confined as a state probation violator in the Georgia Industrial Institute at Alto, Ga., The two men, both of Smithville, were charged with conspiracy against the rights of citizens.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Smith and Parker allegedly conspired to ignite gasoline on the premises of the Shade Grove Baptist Church which had been used by young people for voter registration meetings.

Hoover said the FBI investigation determined that the fire actually was started by Parker.

The Shady Grove Church was one of several Negro churches in Georgia destroyed by fire in recent months.

The conspiracy charges filed against Smith and Parker carry a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine. Smith will be arraigned as soon as possible, the Justice Department said. A federal detainer will be filed against Parker.

U.S. Is Served Show Cause In Walker Arrest

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The federal government was ordered Thursday by a U.S. district judge to show cause why former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, arrested in the Oxford, Miss., rioting, should not be released on bail.

The show cause order, which the government must answer next Tuesday, was issued by Judge John W. Oliver after Walker's attorneys had filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Walker, one of 200 persons arrested in rioting which broke out with the enrollment of a Negro at the University of Mississippi, is charged with inciting insurrection and seditious conspiracy. His bond was set at $100,000 in Oxford and then he was flown here for detention at the U.S. Medical Center.

Judge Oliver also ordered the government to file within 10 days briefs certifying the "true cause" of Walker's detention.

Temperatures reached 88 degrees in the suit before Schirra, a specialist on the capsule and the suit, got it under control.

Kraft said Schirra "knew what was going on all the time" and did a "marvelous job" of controlling the temperature.

The journey also disclosed new fuel saving methods of flight that are expectec to spur the U.S. drive toward the moon.

Scientists first post-flight interest was Schirra's physical condition, which after detailed medical checks was declared excellent. He lost four pounds, which docktors said would be about average for a player in a football game.

No Discomfort

Schirra said he experienced no discomfort during approximately nine hours of weightlessness. He was not troubled by the seasickness type nausea which bothered Soviet Cosmonaut Gherman S. Titov.

The Russian's difficulty, Schirra said, probably was an individual reaction rather than reaction that might be expected regularly from weightlessness.

He said he drank liquid foods during the flight but passed up solid food because it was too difficult to pick up.

"And I was too busy to feel hungry," he said.

Capt. Eugene Rankin of the Kearsarge plotted a roundabout route to Honolulu following the Midway stop so that scientists would have plenty of time to talk to Schirra and to give the astronaut a chance to rest if he desires.

The carrier will arrive off Honolulu Saturday, Rankin said, and Schirra probably will be taken off by helicopter or plane.

Then he will be flown to the Space Administration Center at Houston.

Officials at Cape Canaveral said Schirra's near - flawless flight proved that the United States now can try a full-day-in-orbit flight. And they said the day is fast approaching when American space vehicles can rendezvous high above the earth.

W. Va. Issues Ruling On Cars Owned By Out-Of-State Workers

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—H. Clare Hess, deputy commissioner of the department of Motor Vehicles (DMC) reiterated Thursday that residents of neighboring states who commute to work in West Virginia will not be required to register their cars in the state.

The exception would be a person who also maintains a temporary residence, such as a room or apartment, in the Mountain State.

Hess repeated his interpretation of the state law after new reports of confusion about the law came from the Wheeling area Wednesday.

The confusion started after a memorandum of "policy relating to dual registration" was circulated. The memo, undated and unsigned, carried the letterhead of Samuel R. Mills, director of titles and registration for the DMV.

"Dual registration" would be required of persons working in West Virginia who maintain a permanent residence outside of the state and a temporary residence in West Virginia.

Hess said the policy statement was designed to outline the mechanics of dual registration, not to say which persons had to register in both states.

However, the memo contained a reference to "commuters" and this lead to the confusion. It indicated "commuters" would be required to register their vehicles in West Virginia.

But Hess said, if a person lives in Steubenville, Ohio, for example, and drives daily to work at Weirton Steel Co. on the West Virginia side, returning home every night, he has not established even temporary residence in West Virginia.

But, Hess said, in the case where a person rents a room or apartment for use on weekday nights, and then returns come only on week ends, this would require "dual registration."

Baltimore Begins Three-Day Oral Polio Campaign

BALTIMORE (AP)—A total of 186,158 doses of Type I oral polio vaccine were given in Baltimore City Thursday—the first day of the three-day K.O. Polio campaign.

City health authorities gave this breakdown: 108,351 in the public schools, 42,800 at industries and 35,007 at public feeding centers.

Dr. Robert E. Farber, city health commissioner, said he was pleased with the response in the schools and industrials, but that he had hoped for a better first-day turnout at the centers.

A steady rain during the hours when the feeding stations are open may have kept down the number of doses given there. There are more than a hundred centers.

In Baltimore County, 89,247 persons, including 70,184 pupils, received the vaccine.

The drive in the metropolitan area ends Saturday.

Opposes Public Birth Control

BALTIMORE (AP)—The director of Catholic Charities for the Baltimore Archdiocese said Thursday night he opposes the new policy of the State Board of Welfare on dissemination of birth control information and devices.

The Right Rev. David I. Dorsch denied previously published reports that he favored the regulation which permits case workers to take the initiative in referring married couples to clinics or physicians for birth control information.

The monsignor said he favors the neutral position previously espoused by the welfare board. He said the new regulation was passed by the welfare board over his protest on Sept. 28, and he again disapproved Tuesday when the action was reported to the Legislative Council.

The President's success in winning greater tariff-cutting powers than ever delegated a Chief Executive provided the big surprise of the election-year session in which his education and medical care programs were scuttled.

Last winter some White House advisers were so pessimistic they urged Kennedy to put off asking for the trade legislation until next year to give them time to whip up public support.

Contains Lapse Clause

The bill would:

—Give the President authority to reduce all American tariffs by 50 per cent — and to abolish duties on some items. The powers would lapse unless used in five years.

—Set up permanent new federal "adjustment" programs for American workers who lose their jobs, and for business firms which suffer financially as a result of competition from foreign goods in the United States. Workers could qualify for 52 weeks of payments ranging as high as $61 weekly. For workers being retrained for new jobs the payments could run as long as 78 weeks.

On Thursday's anti - climactic vote a majority of House Republicans for the first time supported the President's trade program. Republicans backed it 91 to 78 and Democrats 178 to 35.

In the crucial House battle last June Republicans lined up 127 to 44 and then 90 to 80 in two unsuccessful attempts to defeat what was, in substance, virtually the same legislation as the final bill.

Talbot County Man Is Killed

WHITMAN, Md. (AP) — A 39-year-old Talbot County man was killed Thursday when his truck veered off a road one mile east of Maryland Route 33, slammed into an embankment and landed on top of him.

Cold Forces JFK To Cancel Appointments

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A cold forced President Kennedy to cancel all his appointments Thursday. But he went ahead with plans for a political speaking trip this weekend in Michigan, Kentucky, Ohio and Minnesota.

The White House described the President's ailment as "a minor upper respiratory infection." Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the Chief Executive remained in his quarters, spent part of the time in bed reading documents and conducted some business by telephone.

The President acted on the recommendation of Rear Adm. George G. Burkley, assistant White House physician.

Salinger said the doctors were hopeful that Kennedy would be up and around Friday. He said the President's symptoms consisted chiefly of a head congestion, normally associated with a cold. There was no fever.

According to Salinger, there was no indication that the President would have to revise his weekend speaking schedule.

This calls for him to go to appear at Covington, Ky., Cincinnati, and Detroit, Flint and Muskegon, Mich., Friday. He is scheduled to speak at Minneapolis Saturday night and at St. Paul and St. Cloud, Minn., Sunday.

Salinger said Dr. Burkley would accompany the President on the trip.

The President, who has been putting in exceptionally long days of work because of the Mississippi crisis, awoke during the night with his cold, Salinger said.

Hurricane Daisy Is Building Intensity; Weather Bureau Keeping Close Check

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Daisy, its high winds increased to 80-miles-an-hour, steered an uncertain course 680 miles east of Miami Thursday night and residents of the Bahamas and the Atlantic Seaboard were urged to keep close tabs on the storm.

The Weather Bureau said there were indications Daisy may turn away from land Friday but that its present slow forward speed of 8 mph made future movements uncertain.

At 6 p.m. EDT hurricane hunter planes fixed the center of the storm near latitude 25.0 north, longitude 69.3 west. It was moving toward the west-northwest.

"The hurricane is expected to increase slowly in size and intensity and continue on a west-northwest course at about 8 mph Thursday night. A little turning toward the northwest is indicated during Friday," the weather agency said.

This is the total-car warranty

Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers in turn warrant to owners, as follows: that for 24 months or for 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades and brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items. The benefits of the warranty are available to the original purchaser and to subsequent owners of the vehicle during the time and mileage limits prescribed in the warranty.

Here is what it means to you

The new 1963 Ford-built cars and trucks are quality-engineered and manufactured to serve you better and last longer than ever before. The proof is in the warranty . . . proof of quality unheard of a few years ago.

In fact, it was only two years ago that Ford Motor Company announced the 12-month, 12,000-mile passenger car warranty which became the industry standard as other manufacturers followed Ford's lead. At the same time, Lincoln Continental became the only American-built car warranted for two full years or 24,000 miles, whichever came first. Now, this warranty applies to all Ford-built cars, regardless of price. Why is this possible?

Actually, the new warranty is a natural outgrowth of the engineering leadership that has resulted in twice-a-year (or every 6,000-mile) passenger car maintenance. It goes hand-in-glove with such Ford-pioneered service savers as the elimination of the 1,000-mile inspection . . . 30,000- to 36,000-mile intervals between major lubrications, 6,000-mile intervals between oil changes and minor lubrications, self-adjusting brakes, aluminized mufflers, and longer-life electrical systems.

These features that save you time and money as you drive are a direct reflection of the total quality achievements of Ford Motor Company.

The Weather Bureau said there were indications Daisy may turn away from land Friday but that its present slow forward speed of 8 mph made future movements uncertain.

At 6 p.m. EDT hurricane hunter planes fixed the center of the storm near latitude 25.0 north, longitude 69.3 west. It was moving toward the west-northwest.

"The hurricane is expected to increase slowly in size and intensity and continue on a west-northwest course at about 8 mph Thursday night. A little turning toward the northwest is indicated during Friday," the weather agency said.

LINCOLN CONTINENTAL

This is the total-car warranty

Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers in turn warrant to owners, as follows: that for 24 months or for 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty; appropriate adjustments will be made by tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance services, routine replacement of parts, such as filters, spark plugs, ignition points, wiper blades and brake or clutch linings, and normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items. The benefits of the warranty are available to the original purchaser and to subsequent owners of the vehicle during the time and mileage limits prescribed in the warranty.

Here is what it means to you

The new 1963 Ford-built cars and trucks are quality-engineered and manufactured to serve you better and last longer than ever before. The proof is in the warranty . . . proof of quality unheard of a few years ago.

In fact, it was only two years ago that Ford Motor Company announced the 12-month, 12,000-mile passenger car warranty which became the industry standard as other manufacturers followed Ford's lead. At the same time, Lincoln Continental became the only American-built car warranted for two full years or 24,000 miles, whichever came first. Now, this warranty applies to all Ford-built cars, regardless of price. Why is this possible?

Actually, the new warranty is a natural outgrowth of the engineering leadership that has resulted in twice-a-year (or every 6,000-mile) passenger car maintenance. It goes hand-in-glove with such Ford-pioneered service savers as the elimination of the 1,000-mile inspection . . . 30,000- to 36,000-mile intervals between major lubrications, 6,000-mile intervals between oil changes and minor lubrications, self-adjusting brakes, aluminized mufflers, and longer-life electrical systems.

These features that save you time and money as you drive are a direct reflection of the total quality achievements of Ford Motor Company.

Letter Writing Week Observance Begins Sunday

The 25th anniversary of Letter Writing Week will be observed next week, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday.

During the period of October 7 to 13 he suggested writing letters to friends not heard from recently and replying to those who have recently written.

Postmaster Conlon also suggested writing a surprise note to persons on Christmas lists as another way of observing the week. He said a letter is the most economical and personal way to extend greetings and to exchange ideas.

The use of appropriate commemorative stamps to personalize letters, an extra letter to a serviceman, and observance of the week by students in English classes also were suggested by Mr. Conlon.

In 1925, the average American spent 26 cents a year in vending machines. Today, Americans average $12.50 each year, totaling more than two billion dollars.

Truman Visits West Virginia For Speeches

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman will pack three speeches, a news conference, a lunch and a dinner into an 11-hour political campaign visit to central West Virginia Thursday.

Truman, a rather frequent visitor to the Mountain State in recent years, will be campaigning for Democratic Congressman Cleveland M. Bailey who is engaged in the fight of his political life against Republican Arch A. Moore Jr.

Truman's last visit to the state was in June when he was principal speaker at ceremonies in Charleston marking the 99th anniversary of West Virginia's statehood.

Truman is scheduled to arrive at Benedum Airport near here at 11 a.m. EST and go to Grafton by motorcade, addressing a rally at Grafton football stadium at noon.

Following lunch at the Catholic Youth Center in Grafton he will drive to Elkins to take part in the annual Mountain State Forest Festival. After a speech at Elkins he will fly to Clarksburg where a news conference and dinner are scheduled. About 200 persons are expected to attend the $25-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner.

The final event on Truman's schedule is an address at 8 p.m. in Nathan Goff Armory here, after which Truman will leave by plane at 9:30.

Bailey will accompany him throughout the day and Gov. W. W. Barron will introduce Truman at the Clarksburg rally.

In a final business session, Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas was named chairman for 1963, succeeding Ellington. Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky was named vice-chairman.

The Southern governors last met in West Virginia, also at the Greenbrier, in 1956. The National Governors Conference convened there in 1950.

Sears Opposes Higher Auto Insurance Rate

BALTIMORE (AP) — F. Douglas Sears, Maryland insurance commissioner, announced Thursday his opposition to a proposal requiring drivers to pay higher insurance premiums.

Sears said he was in full agreement with Baltimore City's opposition to the plan.

It has been proposed that insured motorists be required to buy extra insurance covering them against uninsured drivers. The Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund has the plan under consideration.

The money for the fund now comes from a mandatory charge of $32 per year against drivers who do not carry liability coverage. Members of the fund have said, however, that it faces a deficit.

The estimated additional cost to all insured drivers would be from $3 to $6 a year.

Unemployment Drops 420,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment dropped by 420,000 to a September total of 3,512,00. But the idle rate stayed disappointingly at 5.8 per cent of the civilian labor force.

The Labor Department said an increase among job-seeking women and a rise in unemployment among teen-agers kept the unemployment rate at the high level it reached in August.

Total employment declined by 1.1 million to a total of 68,668,000. This was a record for September. But the drop from August was about one-third larger than expected for the season.

Tawes Proclaims Oct. 15 As Poetry Day

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The bards will have their day in Maryland on Monday, Oct. 15.

Gov. Tawes has proclaimed the date "Poetry Day" for the state. Maryland's poet laureate, Vincent Godfrey Burns, has invited all poets and poetry lovers to meet in the Senate chamber of the State House at 10 a. m. for a special program by the Maryland State Poetry Society.

Burns said he is also requesting that all schools of Maryland conduct appropriate exercises featuring poetry.

Gov. Tawes issued a proclamation Thursday calling poetry "the joy of youth . . . the voice of love and brotherhood, the spirit of understanding, gentleness and brotherly kindness."

"When bombs and guns and swords and cannon fail poetry will succeed," he said.

Burns said the Monday program will include a reading of several of his poems, and that two of them which have been set to music will be sung by Mylin Barr of Annapolis.

The poet laureate said it is hoped Gov. Tawes can attend the meeting.

What feminine factors of charm impress men most? Not features, but how you walk and stand!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What Do Men See In You?

What men are most likely to notice first is how you walk and how you stand. A correctly proportioned figure that moves with grace—and comes to rest in a standing or sitting position that is lightly poised — will always win the approval of men. Men think of these characteristics as clues to your real personality. A woman of poise has the most appeal because men know she will make a pleasant companion — free of nervous fidgets, unlikely to be the subject of unfathomable whims or quick, unreasonable tempers.

Men also notice clean, glistening, well-brushed hair — a fresh complexion, unburdened a too heavy make-up. Skillfully-applied makeup enhances your natural loveliness and always wins approval because it looks natural.

High up on the list of what men notice first about women are hands. Well-cared-for, capable hands are not only beautiful to see but promise that their owner is not an idle person—and therefore will be interesting to talk with and to know further.

Of course, men are always quick to notice a woman's eyes. They look to see whether there's a "light" shining in them. They look into the eyes for a promise of humor, kindliness, warmth and sincerity.

General good grooming makes an important impression on all men. That spanking-fresh, band box look is something no woman can ever underrate!

The women who make the best impression on men are the women with the highest charm quotients: Women with a radiant, pleasant disposition, graceful posture and gracious poise, coordination in their actions and movement, a natural look about any make-up they may use, and neatness characterizing their whole appearance.

Wherever you shop, you'll want to keep your color type in mind. Send today for my pamphlet called "Your Color Type." Address your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It should be delivered within two weeks.

Rabbi Irsael Wolmark, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob congregation, said Yom Kippur services will begin at 7 p. m. on Sunday.

Liturgical music for the services will be provided by the Beth-Jacob choir under the direction of Cissie Dezen who will be assisted by Ricky Getz, Mildred Ziglin, Robert Gerson, Edward Zucker, Leah Davidson, and Frances Glickman.

The Day of Atonement will begin that evening with Kol Nidre services at 8 p. m. Rabbi Selinger will speak on "Weightlessness."

On Monday, October 8, at 10 a. m. his topic will be "The Pride of Pharoah." A children's service will be held at 1:30 p. m. that day.

At a service at 2:30 p. m. Rabbi Selinger will speak on "The Road of The Loving Heart" and at a memorial service scheduled for 3:30 p. m. he will speak on "Life Triumphant."

Hot Avocado

Avocado can be served as the vegetable when filled with a hot dressing — especially good with baked or grilled fish. For the dressing: (for six avocado halves) beat into ¼ cup catsup, ¼ cup Spanish olive oil, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger, 2 dashes Tabasco, plenty of freshly-ground black pepper. Heat the dressing just to the boiling point, simmer about 2 minutes, pour while hot into cavities of the avocado. (Also good cold).

Opening lead: King of ♦

Declarer managed his assets with great skill in seizing on the only distribution that could give him a chance to make his contract in today's hand.

West opened the king of diamonds against four hearts, and East signalled encouragingly with the six. The queen of diamonds was continued and East completed the echo by playing the deuce. A third round of the suit was ruffed in the closed hand and declarer paused to contemplate his prospects.

Even if the trumps broke well, one trick would have to be conceded there, and a club loser also appeared to be unavoidable. South was reluctant to abandon hope altogether and he searched his mind for some distribution which would give him a chance. Presently, he saw that, if West held specifically the king and one heart as well as the king of clubs, it might be possible to eliminate the club loser thru an end play.

As the first step in his campaign, declarer cashed the ace of hearts in order to remove the small trump from West's hand. He then played three high spades to strip his opponent of all same means of exit later on. Fortunately for South, the spade suit broke. A small trump was led throwing West into the lead with the king of hearts. He was obliged to return a club, and the queen was played from dummy. When this held the trick, declarer drew East's jack of trumps and claimed his contract.

The defenders had two opportunities on the hand. If West, at trick two, leads a small diamond rather than the queen, East will be in with the ace and has the opportunity to shift to a club in order to relieve his partner of the humiliation of a subsequent end play.

The second chance occurred when South cashed the ace of trumps. Had West jettisoned his king, relying on his partner to hold the protected jack of hearts, declarer would have been unable to throw West in at the crucial moment.

What feminine factors of charm impress men most? Not features, but how you walk and stand!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What Do Men See In You?

What men are most likely to notice first is how you walk and how you stand. A correctly proportioned figure that moves with grace—and comes to rest in a standing or sitting position that is lightly poised — will always win the approval of men. Men think of these characteristics as clues to your real personality. A woman of poise has the most appeal because men know she will make a pleasant companion — free of nervous fidgets, unlikely to be the subject of unfathomable whims or quick, unreasonable tempers.

Men also notice clean, glistening, well-brushed hair — a fresh complexion, unburdened a too heavy make-up. Skillfully-applied makeup enhances your natural loveliness and always wins approval because it looks natural.

High up on the list of what men notice first about women are hands. Well-cared-for, capable hands are not only beautiful to see but promise that their owner is not an idle person—and therefore will be interesting to talk with and to know further.

Of course, men are always quick to notice a woman's eyes. They look to see whether there's a "light" shining in them. They look into the eyes for a promise of humor, kindliness, warmth and sincerity.

General good grooming makes an important impression on all men. That spanking-fresh, band box look is something no woman can ever underrate!

The women who make the best impression on men are the women with the highest charm quotients: Women with a radiant, pleasant disposition, graceful posture and gracious poise, coordination in their actions and movement, a natural look about any make-up they may use, and neatness characterizing their whole appearance.

Wherever you shop, you'll want to keep your color type in mind. Send today for my pamphlet called "Your Color Type." Address your request to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It should be delivered within two weeks.

Yom Kippur Services Scheduled

The spiritual leaders of Beth Jacob and B'er Chayim congregations have announced services planned for Yom Kippur, the holiest day of religious observance for Jews all over the world which will be marked beginning at sundown on Sunday.

This unique Jewish Holy Day is the culmination of a 10-day period of repentance which began with Rosh Ha-shono, the Jewish New Year, which this year marked the calendar year of 5723.

Rabbi Irsael Wolmark, spiritual leader of Beth Jacob congregation, said Yom Kippur services will begin at 7 p. m. on Sunday.

Liturgical music for the services will be provided by the Beth-Jacob choir under the direction of Cissie Dezen who will be assisted by Ricky Getz, Mildred Ziglin, Robert Gerson, Edward Zucker, Leah Davidson, and Frances Glickman.

Dr. Samuel Jacobson will assist Rabbi Wolmark in the services. A cemetery memorial service is scheduled for noon on Sunday.

Rabbi Max Selinger, spiritual leader of B'er Chayim congregation said a graveside service will be held on Sunday at 2 p. m. in Eastview Cemetery.

The Day of Atonement will begin that evening with Kol Nidre services at 8 p. m. Rabbi Selinger will speak on "Weightlessness."

On Monday, October 8, at 10 a. m. his topic will be "The Pride of Pharoah." A children's service will be held at 1:30 p. m. that day.

At a service at 2:30 p. m. Rabbi Selinger will speak on "The Road of The Loving Heart" and at a memorial service scheduled for 3:30 p. m. he will speak on "Life Triumphant."

Court Probates Four Wills

The will of Charles G. Holzshu, who was a 95-year-old banker and civic leader at the time of his death September 25, was probated Tuesday along with three others in Allegany County Orphans Court.

His sons, Charles D. Holzshu of Ruxton and J. Henry Holzshu, this city, qualified as executors under a $1,000 bond. They will share his estate equally under terms of the will, dated June 26.

Also probated Tuesday was the will of Mrs. Patricia D. McKenzie, who was a 39-year-old resident of West Mechanic Street, Frostburg, at the time of her death September 21. Her mother, Mrs. Margaret Smith, 101 Pennsylvania Avenue, qualified as executrix of the estate under a $500 bond. Two sons, Ronald Dale Frost and Larry David Frost, will share the estate under terms of the will dated February 9.

The will of Mrs. Bessy Coulehan Johnson Frey, a former resident of Frostburg, also was probated. Mrs. Frey, who was 81, died suddenly September 10 at Port Chester, N. Y. Her friends, Owen E. Hitchins and Susan Beall Hitchins, his wife, this city, qualified as executors under a $500 bond. They are the sole beneficiaries.

Also probated was the last testament of William H. Nolan, who was a 73-year-old resident of 740 Maryland Avenue, when he died September 15. His daughter, Miss Dallas Ellen Nolan of the Maryland Avenue address, the only beneficiary, qualified as executrix under a $100 bond. The will was dated January 17, 1951.

About 160 million U.S. acres are under forest service jurisdiction.

RAILROAD TRACKS PREFABRICATED—The Erie-Lackawanna Railroad is using pre-fabricated, 39-foot panels of rails and ties in its track laying operation in the new Buffalo, N.Y., electronic "push-button" freight yard. Low Velocity Wind Tunnel Developed

A low velocity wind tunnel is being developed at the University of Maryland which may provide an accurate means to measure turbulence within 50,000th of an inch on a surface.

Important in any application of heat and mass transfer, the turbulence measurement will be used to test and modify current theories on this phenomenon.

According to Dr. Joseph Marchello of the University of Maryland department of chemical engineering, who will direct this research project, a wide range of substances diffusing through a turbulent air stream will be studied, including smoke particles, carbon dioxide and hydrogen.

A $33,000 grant has been made to the university department by the National Science Foundation to support this study during the next two years.

Practice Escape From Submarine

LONDON (AP) — The Admiralty said today six men have made a practice escape in the Mediterranean from the submarine Tiptoe at the record depth of 260 feet.

The men used a new two-man escape chamber which makes it unnecessary to flood a compartment of the submarine in order to equalize the water pressure inside with that outside.

West Virginia Jobs Brighter In Two Areas

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The West Virginia Employment picture at the end of August appeared brighter for two of the state's labor market areas but somewhat darker for two others.

The State Department of Employment Security said Wednesday that unemployment increased in the Welch and Montgomery-Oak Hill labor market areas between June and August while it dropped in the Parkersburg and Bluefield areas.

The department also noted that the Parkersburg and Bluefield areas also had drops in their total labor forces.

The department said unemployment in the Welch area increased from 2,480 to 3,010 during the period. The area's total labor force also climbed slightly to 16,130.

In the Montgomery - Oak Hill area joblessness climbed by 29.7 per cent from 2,360 to 3,060 between June and August while its total labor force remained at 15,010.

Employment for the period dropped 5.5 per cent in the Montgomery - Oak Hill area while in the Welch area it dropped by 3.8 per cent.

During August 2,590 persons were out of work in the Parkersburg area. This compared with 2,630 in June. The total labor force dropped 2.1 per cent to 35,980.

The Bluefield area had a drop in unemployment from 2,380 in June to 2,340 in August or 1.7 per cent. Employment for the same period dropped 1.1 per cent to 17,320 as the area's total labor force declined by 1.2 per cent to 19,660.

Houston Plans Big Parade For Schirra

HOUSTON (UPI) — Plans were made Wednesday for a welcome-home parade through downtown Houston and a news conference Sunday for astronaut Walter Schirra.

The parade will move through downtown Houston and end at the Memorial Center on the Rice University campus. Schirra will hold a news conference in the center's grand hall and will be presented a Distinguished Service award.

Schirra was expected to fly to Houston from Hawaii, arriving late Saturday. Gene Horton, public affairs officer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), said Schirra and a debriefing team to accompany him will "get a good night's rest Saturday."

The parade was being planned by city officials, the Houston Chamber of Commerce and NASA.

Horton said tentative plans call for the official parade party to include Robert Gilruth, director of the manned spacecraft center in Houston; all seven astronauts if available, and James E. Webb, NASA administrator or his representative.

Miner Killed In Rock Fall

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (UPI) — A father of three children was crushed to death Thursday in a rock fall at the Alexander mine of Valley Camp Coal Co. near here.

Officials identified the victim as Ted Guzek, 47, of Moundsville, a veteran coal miner who had been employed by the firm for 28 years.

Authorities said the man suffered a brain concussion and crushed chest when a wall gave way as he and other workmen were clearing debris from an earlier roof fall.

Speedsters Are Warned

Strict enforcement of a 20-mile speed limit on Ridgeley's Main Street was favored by a 5-1 vote of the Town Council this week, according to Police Chief Lawrence Y. Chandler.

Action was taken by council following complaints that motorists were endangering life and property by excessive speed, with Chief Chandler pointing out that Main Street is narrow and difficult to negotiate, particularly when cars are parked on each side of the thoroughfare.

Main Street leads to Carpenter's Addition and Western Maryland Railway yards.

Council instructed the police force to issue summons for violators, and to grant no leeway from the 20-mile speed limit. Although the minimum fine and court cost is $15.50, Chief Chandler said the actual fine will be determined by how much the speed limit is violated by motorists.

Negro Girl Pays For Ole Miss Entry

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A 21-year-old Negro girl says she has received "just a receipt" in answer to her application for transfer to the University of Mississippi.

Alfanette Bracey was interviewed by newsmen Wednesday on the campus at Jackson State College for Negroes. She had applied last July for admittance to the university, where rioting broke out last Sunday after another Negro, James H. Meredith, was admitted to the campus.

Miss Bracey said she was merely seeking a higher education in asking for transfer to Mississippi, which she said she felt was a better school.

The interview was interrupted by the college president, Jacob L. Reddix. "You have no authority, young lady, to give an interview," he told Miss Bracey.

Reddix then ordered the newsmen from the campus, saying, "You can just say, 'An irresistible force has met an immovable object.'"

Building Pipeline

HOUSTON, Texas (UPI) — Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. said it is building a 217-mile $8 million pipeline in Ohio that will enable the company to ship liquified petroleum gas directly by pipeline to the East Coast for the first time. The company said it will begin shipping butane through the system when the line is completed this fall.

Kennedy-Lodge Contest Tops New England Politics

By FRANK DONOGHUE

BOSTON (UPI) — Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy will go to the post at least a 5-2 favorite next month in his second political outing.

Ted, 30, is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat his brother, President Kennedy, vacated in 1960.

The underdog in the fight is Republican George Cabot Lodge, 35-year-old son of former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge the 1960 vice presidential candidate.

Ted Kennedy is favored because of the primary clobbering he gave Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, last month.

Kennedy beat McCormack by a better than 2-1 margin in a contest most observers had considered would be close.

Pick Kennedy

At this rather early date in the election campaign, virtually every political expert in the state has picked Kennedy to win over Lodge.

But Lodge exudes confidence and like Ted has been conducting a back-breaking dawn-to-midnight schedule since the primary Sept. 18.

Both candidates have pledged to visit every one of the state's 351 cities and towns before the Nov. 6 election for the remaining two years of the term President Kennedy vacated to enter the White House.

Lodge scored an impressive primary victory by defeating veteran Congressman Laurence Curtis.

Prior to the primary neither Lodge nor young Kennedy had gone personally into the political arena.

The Lodges and Kennedy's have been scrapping over a U.S. Senate seat intermittently for decades. The score to date is 1-1. President Kennedy in 1952 — then a Congressman — ousted Lodge's father from the Senate at a time when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was carrying Massachusetts by a landslide. Lodge was one of Eisenhower's principal backers.

Back in 1916, the ex-ambassador's grandfather, Henry Cabot Lodge, beat Kennedy's grandfather, John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, for the U.S. Senate.

Lodge has an advantage in that he will be on the same ticket with a popular governor who is seeking reelection. Gov. John A. Volpe won renomination without opposition last month and is after a second term.

There is a third candidate, also with a famous name, running for the Senate. He is Harvard Prof. H. Stuart Hughes, grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Hughes, whose nomination papers were signed by 150,000 voters, has advocated disarmament, particularly by unilateral action by this country.

Another hot New England contest is the Connecticut Senate race between former Health Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff and Republican Congressman Horace Seely-Brown.

While both John F. Kennedy and Henry Cabot Lodge are staying out of their own home states to leave the battle to their youngers, Kennedy is scheduled to go into Connecticut to give his former cabinet member a boost.

The President's prestige is clearly on the line there because Ribicoff is campaigning for the administration's policies.

All six gubernatorial chairs and four other Senate seats are up for grabs in New England.

The unsettled Republican situation in New Hampshire, highlighted by the stunning primary defeat last month of Gov. Wesley Powell, has given Democrats hope they can win the governorship in the GOP stronghold.

The subsequent bitter denunciations of his own party by Powell after his defeat at the hands of state Rep. John Pillsbury pushed the primary defeat of Mrs. Doloris Bridges, who sought to gain the seat of her late husband, Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., out of the limelight.

Pillsbury will oppose Democrat John W. King, minority floor leader in the state legislature. Congressman Perkins Bass, who halted Mrs. Bridges' hopes, will oppose Democrat Thomas McInthre of Laconia. In the other senatorial contest, GOP Sen. Norris Cotton takes on Alfred Catalfo of Dover.

Connecticut Gov. John N. Dempsey is opposed by the GOP's John Alsop.

Incumbent Maine Gov. John H. Reed will try for another four year term against Democrat Maynard C. Dolloff and Rhode Island's Democratic Gov. John A. Notte Jr. is favored over Republican John H. Chafee. Massachusetts' Gov. John A. Volpe also was an early favorite to keep his seat which is threatened by Democrat Endicott Peabody, the one-time Harvard football great.

House speaker McCormack has no Republican opponent and therefore is assured of another term in Washington.

In Vermont, Democrats have pinned their hopes on Burlington Attorney Philip H. Hoff, 38, to block Republican Gov. F. Ray Keyser's bid for a second term.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., was considered a heavy favorite to be re-elected over Democratic newcomer W. Robert Johnson.

New England will send a smaller congressional delegation to Washington next January — 24 instead of 27 House members. The three seats, two in Massachusetts and one in Maine, were lost in this year's reapportionment because of the new census.

To Hold Meeting

CLARYSVILLE—The Clarysville Ladies Auxiliary of the Volunteer Firemen will meet Monday, October 8, at 8 p. m. Mrs. Rosetta Adams, president, will officiate.

Serving on the refreshment committee will be Mabel Winfield, Martha Winfield, Mary Louise Winfield and Bessie Winters.

Most of the world's peanut crop is crushed into oil.

Hungarian Bishops Attend Conference

VIENNA (UPI) — A delegation of government-approved Hungarian Roman Catholic Bishops left Thursday for the Second Vatican Council, but the nation's primate, Joszef Cardinal Mindszenty, remained in Budapest.

Cardinal Mindszenty is recognized by the Vatican and most of the world as the head of the church in Hungary. But he was forced to seek asylum in the U.S. Legation in Budapest during the Hungarian rebellion and remains there, nearly seven years later.

Endre Havas, Bishop of Czanad and president of the Hungarian Bench of Bishops, leads the government - sponsored delegation. Other members are Sandor Kovacs, Bishop of Szambathely, and Dr. Pal Brezanocsi, apostolical governor of Eggers.

By FRANK DONOGHUE

BOSTON (UPI) — Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy will go to the post at least a 5-2 favorite next month in his second political outing.

Ted, 30, is the Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate seat his brother, President Kennedy, vacated in 1960.

The underdog in the fight is Republican George Cabot Lodge, 35-year-old son of former United Nations Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge the 1960 vice presidential candidate.

Ted Kennedy is favored because of the primary clobbering he gave Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack, last month.

Kennedy beat McCormack by a better than 2-1 margin in a contest most observers had considered would be close.

Pick Kennedy

At this rather early date in the election campaign, virtually every political expert in the state has picked Kennedy to win over Lodge.

But Lodge exudes confidence and like Ted has been conducting a back-breaking dawn-to-midnight schedule since the primary Sept. 18.

Both candidates have pledged to visit every one of the state's 351 cities and towns before the Nov. 6 election for the remaining two years of the term President Kennedy vacated to enter the White House.

Lodge scored an impressive primary victory by defeating veteran Congressman Laurence Curtis.

Prior to the primary neither Lodge nor young Kennedy had gone personally into the political arena.

The Lodges and Kennedy's have been scrapping over a U.S. Senate seat intermittently for decades. The score to date is 1-1. President Kennedy in 1952 — then a Congressman — ousted Lodge's father from the Senate at a time when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was carrying Massachusetts by a landslide. Lodge was one of Eisenhower's principal backers.

Back in 1916, the ex-ambassador's grandfather, Henry Cabot Lodge, beat Kennedy's grandfather, John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald, for the U.S. Senate.

Lodge has an advantage in that he will be on the same ticket with a popular governor who is seeking reelection. Gov. John A. Volpe won renomination without opposition last month and is after a second term.

There is a third candidate, also with a famous name, running for the Senate. He is Harvard Prof. H. Stuart Hughes, grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Hughes, whose nomination papers were signed by 150,000 voters, has advocated disarmament, particularly by unilateral action by this country.

Another hot New England contest is the Connecticut Senate race between former Health Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham A. Ribicoff and Republican Congressman Horace Seely-Brown.

While both John F. Kennedy and Henry Cabot Lodge are staying out of their own home states to leave the battle to their youngers, Kennedy is scheduled to go into Connecticut to give his former cabinet member a boost.

The President's prestige is clearly on the line there because Ribicoff is campaigning for the administration's policies.

All six gubernatorial chairs and four other Senate seats are up for grabs in New England.

The unsettled Republican situation in New Hampshire, highlighted by the stunning primary defeat last month of Gov. Wesley Powell, has given Democrats hope they can win the governorship in the GOP stronghold.

The subsequent bitter denunciations of his own party by Powell after his defeat at the hands of state Rep. John Pillsbury pushed the primary defeat of Mrs. Doloris Bridges, who sought to gain the seat of her late husband, Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., out of the limelight.

Pillsbury will oppose Democrat John W. King, minority floor leader in the state legislature. Congressman Perkins Bass, who halted Mrs. Bridges' hopes, will oppose Democrat Thomas McInthre of Laconia. In the other senatorial contest, GOP Sen. Norris Cotton takes on Alfred Catalfo of Dover.

Connecticut Gov. John N. Dempsey is opposed by the GOP's John Alsop.

Incumbent Maine Gov. John H. Reed will try for another four year term against Democrat Maynard C. Dolloff and Rhode Island's Democratic Gov. John A. Notte Jr. is favored over Republican John H. Chafee. Massachusetts' Gov. John A. Volpe also was an early favorite to keep his seat which is threatened by Democrat Endicott Peabody, the one-time Harvard football great.

House speaker McCormack has no Republican opponent and therefore is assured of another term in Washington.

In Vermont, Democrats have pinned their hopes on Burlington Attorney Philip H. Hoff, 38, to block Republican Gov. F. Ray Keyser's bid for a second term.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., was considered a heavy favorite to be re-elected over Democratic newcomer W. Robert Johnson.

New England will send a smaller congressional delegation to Washington next January — 24 instead of 27 House members. The three seats, two in Massachusetts and one in Maine, were lost in this year's reapportionment because of the new census.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column is a study of Man. But what IS Man? Here is my definition:

Man is what WOMAN marries. Generally speaking, he has two hands and two feet. But he rarely has more than one dollar or one idea at a time.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the most intricate and challenging forms of plastic art known to civilization. This art requires a knowledge of science, sculpture, common sense, intuition, patience, faith, hope and charity.

It is a psychological phenomenon that a small, tender, soft, violet-scented creature like a woman should enjoy kissing a tubby-chinned, tobacco and bourbon-scented thing like a man.

If you flatter a male you frighten him to death. If you don't, you bore him to death.

If he gets what he wants, he becomes disinterested — and it's the end. If he doesn't get what he wants, he becomes disinterested — and there's no beginning.

If you wear gay colors, eye make-up and startling hats he hesitates to take you out. If you wear a tailored suit and a little brown beret he stares all evening at the woman in gay colors, eye make-up and the startling hat.

If you are a clinging vine, incapable of making a decision, he considers you an idiot. If you are decisive and accomplished he considers you a machine.

If you are simple and uncomplicated he longs for a brainy woman with ideas. If you are a brainy woman with ideas he suspects you are competing with him and eventually he dumps you in favor of a stupid playmate.

What is the solution to this puzzlement of human nature, this collage of quirks and contradictions? Who knows the answers? I don't. That's why I'm writing to Ann Landers.—AUGUSTA MAINE

DEAR AUGUSTA: Woman was not born to understand man. She was born to love him.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I own a beauty salon. Last January one of our clients offered to do our income tax returns and take care of our books in exchange for beauty services. She used to come in every two weeks, so we thought it would be a good deal for all concerned.

I kept track of her "services" and she has averaged two shampoos and sets a week, plus a weekly manicure and pedicure. She has had two permanents and has changed the color of her hair three times. She has had five hair cuts and seven touch-ups. In other words she has enjoyed $638 worth of work since January. This does not include the jars of hand lotion, face cream, hair nets and nail polish she has helped herself to.

My husband and I realize we made a foolish deal. How can we get out of it now?—SAPS

DEAR SAPS: The next time the woman comes in, ask her to bring the books and tell her you are knocking off the arrangement. Hire a male accountant and pay him in money — not shampoos.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Car Sales Up

Auto dealers sold 355,740 new cars in September or nearly 6 per cent more than in the month last year. The sales rate in the last third of the month was off 16 per cent from last year, but observers in Detroit said the drop could be accounted for by the later introduction of new models this year.

The output of 60 million acres of U. S. cropland moved abroad last year as exports.

West Virginians Bothered Over Adequate Education

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginians apparently are less concerned about the cost of educating their children than they are about making sure educational programs are adequate for today's needs.

This was a basic observation in a progress report presented to the Legislature's two main interim committees here Wednesday by a subcommittee on school finance and the school foundation program.

The report stemmed from 10 public meetings held around the state since last November in Moundsville, Welch, Fayetteville, Martinsburg, Elkins, Fairmont, Buckhannon, Charleston, Parkersburg and Huntington.

Study director William K. Hamilton, assistant state school superintendent, said citizens attending the sessions included management personnel, merchants, salesmen, farmers, attorneys, ministers and housewives.

"People are not so much interested in how much money is needed for education," he said, "but in what can be done to improve educational programs and be sure they get the most for their money. They are concerned with program improvement and assured this, they would favor more taxation for curriculum needs and for teacher salaries."

The subcommittee will submit a final report on its study of education to the Committee on Government and Finance and the Commission on Interstate Cooperation prior to the Legislature's 1963 session.

The report will serve as a guideline for the Legislature, along with the State Education Department's 13-point program for educational improvement and studies being conducted by Gov. W. W. Barron's committee on education.

Among other sentiments noted among West Virginians, Hamilton said, were feelings that:

— Schools are doing a good job under the circumstances.

— In order to secure funds for other purposes, too much money may be diverted from instruction and classes though this is where the central purpose of schools rests.

— There is a need for increased vocational training for the 70 per cent of the students who do not go to college.

— Teacher salaries are inadequate, too much of the teachers time is diverted to activities that detract from the basic educational program and teachers are "overloaded." Hamilton also said there seemed to be general support for merit pay and a modification in the importance of a teacher's tenure in his employment and pay.

— Increased reliance on special levies to support instructional programs is dangerous since such programs may be defeated on grounds other than the necessity for the program.

— In the interest of more uniform programs the state might exercise greater control over actual use of state funds by county school systems.

In other action as the interim committees closed a three - day meeting here, the groups heard a proposal that the 1963 Legislature be asked for $75,000 to set up a state grading program for West Virginia meat packers.

State Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson said his department would use the money to hire five inspectors, a supervisor, provide them with six months' schooling, and purchase necessary equipment.

Neither the state nor the U. S. Agriculture Department grade or inspect meat produced and sold in the state. Johnson said the program would enable meat packers to eventually compete better with larger interstate firms and enable them to seek business with state institutions.

The program also would eventually lead to an inspection program. Robert Sarver, Parkersburg, secretary - treasurer of the State Meat Packers Association, and M. E. Coleman, Oak Hill, a past president of the group, appeared in support of the proposal and indicated members would be willing to assume some costs through a fee system.

NEW AMBASSADORS — President Kennedy Wednesday named James Wine, 44, left, to be ambassador to the Republic of the Ivory Coast, and James Riddleberger, 58, to be ambassador to Austria. Wine, now envoy to Luxembourg, will succeed R. Borden Reams, who retired last June. Riddleberger, former head of the foreign economic aid program, will replace Freeman Matthews, who resigned early this year. (AP Photofax)

UN Urged To Aid Red Refugees In Hong Kong

TOKYO (UPI)—The Australian delegation to the Asian People's Anti-Communist League Conference here urged the conference Thursday to appeal to the United Nations to give "immediate and effective relief" to refugees from Communist China who are now in Macao and Hong Kong.

The Australian delegation said the flight of refugees from the China mainland has been reduced "on the surface" by "Communist suppression and partly by compulsory repatriation." But the massive movement of refugee people still goes on and the problem of their relief "cannot be regarded as the responsibility of any one nation or administration. The problem is international and rests fairly on the whole of the free world."

WM Freight Cars Can Be Weighed While Moving

CHICAGO (AP) — The Western Maryland Railway Co. announced Thursday it will install a system of weighing individual freight cars in a moving train.

The new procedure will be used in the line's Port Covington yard in Baltimore. George M. Leilich, operative vice president, said engineering studies indicate the installation will reduce the time needed for weighing cars by 85 to 95 per cent.

The system was developed by International Railroads Weighing Corp. of suburban Northfield. The Western Maryland is the first to adopt it. The weight of each car in a train is printed automatically as the train passes over a scale at up to 7 m.p.h.

Under ordinary operations, cars needing weighing for determining freight charges have to be switched to a special track, placed over a scale, and uncoupled to be weighed one at a time.

Driver Sentenced To 58 Days

A Mt. Savage man was sentencto 58 days in County jail in default of fines totalling $185 on four motor vehicle charges, after a hearing in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Magistrate Paul E. Barnett found Raymond Aldridge, 41, guilty of operating a motor vehicle without a license, failing to keep to right of center of highway, driving a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner, and another motor charge.

Aldridge was arrested Wednesday afternoon on Slabtown Road by State Police Tfc. Joseph H. Helmstetter.

Smallwood expressed the opinion that removal of the Speedliners would affect the general public. He said there would be no westbound run to replace Train 21.

Thomas F. Conlon Jr., local travel agency operator and member of the House of Delegates, emphasized the importance of the Speedliners in making airline and other travel connections for his patrons, and said, "People have been sold on the Speedliner."

Most patrons, he added, request the Speedliner when trying to make connections elsewhere.

Mrs. Rose Marie Murray, a travel clerk at the Conlon agency, cited the speed and dependability of the Speedliners and said patrons of the agency prefer those trains.

Others Oppose

John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, said anything that interferes with the economy of Cumberland and the area is "a deficit." He said he is opposed to anything which hindered the county's economy or put people out of work.

Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, said the removal of the trains certainly would not help the area attract industry.

Representing the B&O at the hearing was Attorney George C. Doering. Attorney Edward J. Ryan represented Brandon and Shear, attorneys for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in Pennsylvania and was attorney for the plaintiffs. Also with Ryan was W. J. Culbertson, state representative of the BRT, Baltimore.

Today the ICC will conduct a hearing in Pittsburgh similar to the one held here yesterday.

Guerrilla War And Rice Prices

War sends prices up. This was true in the United States during every war in its history, and it has been true in South Viet Nam, where the Communist guerrilla war has threatened to defeat the government.

That's why it was impressive news when Defense Secretary Nguyen Dinh Thuan reported on his recent visit to Washington that rice prices had come down. They always have tended to go higher at this season, before the new crop is in.

The Communists have been able to block deliveries and distribution. So the reported fall in price could indicate that the Communists are no longer succeeding in that policy.

This doesn't mean that the Communists are defeated, by a long shot. By the most optimistic estimates it will take at least a year to defeat them. If the North Vietnamese or Chinese Communists invade in force, it will be an entirely new war. But South Viet Nam, with mounting American help, at the moment is making definite headway against the Communist threat there.

They have taken a leaf from the British book in Malaya. Peasants and villagers, who were terrorized into collaborating with the Communists, are being moved into strategic hamlets better able to resist. Many of these people are now volunteering for Vietnamese army schools.

A similar plan succeeded in Malaya, where at one time no British officer could drive down a main road at night without risking a murderous ambush. Of course, any progress in South Viet Nam should have favorable repercussions elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

If these more favorable reports are confirmed, the news will be especially welcome coming coincidently with rumors that 10,000 Communists who were to leave Laos by an October 7 deadline are still there.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Free Press

National Newspaper Week comes in October and is designed to remind the American people of the value of its free press.

In many parts of the world, the press is controlled either by the government or by a political party. Such newspapers and magazines and the news on radio are not free. They are the voice of those in authority. They exist to perpetuate those in authority. They twist and slant and omit news in order to serve those in authority.

A press can only be free under two conditions:

1. That there is ample competition, so that if one publication chooses to serve a particular cause, a limited point of view, another publication will provide the other side. Competition is the heart of truth. In the United States, where there are many cities in which only one newspaper can be economically published, the competition comes from weeklies, columnists of various shades of view, radio and television.

2. That the publication earn its own way through circulation and advertising, so that it need not fall back on any kind of covert subsidy. The cost of publication, both for labor and newsprint, has become so high that many newspapers have suffered in recent years. Nevertheless, no newspaper has become a government or a party organ as is customary in Europe. Many newspapers publish a variety of columnists to maintain a balance of view and often what the columnists say is different from the policy of the newspaper. This overcomes the lack of a competing newspaper.

Freedom is of the spirit. A publisher who takes advantage of his opportunity to prevent his readers from seeing both sides of the coin is intellectually dishonest and there are few such in this country. Nevertheless, it must be pointed out that the greatest strides in preserving freedom of the press have been made by courageous publishers and editors who practised what is called personal journalism.

They attacked abuse. They fought corruption. They were the public tribunes defending the rights of the people, fighting privilege of every kind. It is true that sometimes they went beyond good taste, but viewed objectively and at historic distance, the work of such men as Horace Greeley, Joseph Pulitzer, James Gordon Bennett, William Randolph Hearst, William Allen White and a host of others in small cities and towns helped to develop in this country a great and decent nation.

Some of what they did has come to be called "Yellow Journalism," by which is meant over-emphatic, excited, over-stimulating journalism. Taken on the whole, such journalism served the United States well.

Take for instance, Hearst's slogan, "Remember the Maine." Was it not superior to the powder-puff attitude we take these days toward Cuba which "The New York Times," after four years, is just beginning to recognize as a Communist Revolution, conducted under Russian auspices. Surely, "Remember the Maine" was a total nationalistic concept, just as "Buy American," made sense and makes sense today.

The function of the Press is not only to inform the people but to give them a literate and intelligent leadership. The great variety of publications in this country do precisely that. Some may say that some newspapers write down to the public, use too many photographs, employ too many peep-hole columnists who write rubbish about trivial personalities.

The question is: What is news? Is it only what Nkrumah is doing or what Tshombe is doing or what the President says or is it also something about an actor or actress, a thief, a bum, a murderer, a drug addict, a rapist? Everything is news. Everything that exists or happens or that requires explanation is news. Everything the readers want to read about is news.

The filthy streets of the city in which I live are news; the visitors to the village, in which I summer are news. Is Winston Churchill's health news? So is my next door neighbor's health. It all depends upon where you live and what you do.

That is a free press. It is the publication of what a publisher wants to publish and what a reader wants to read within the margins of decency. What is interesting and important to one person may be dull or even trivial to another. Do you really care more about Mali than about Mississippi?

A free press answers that every day.

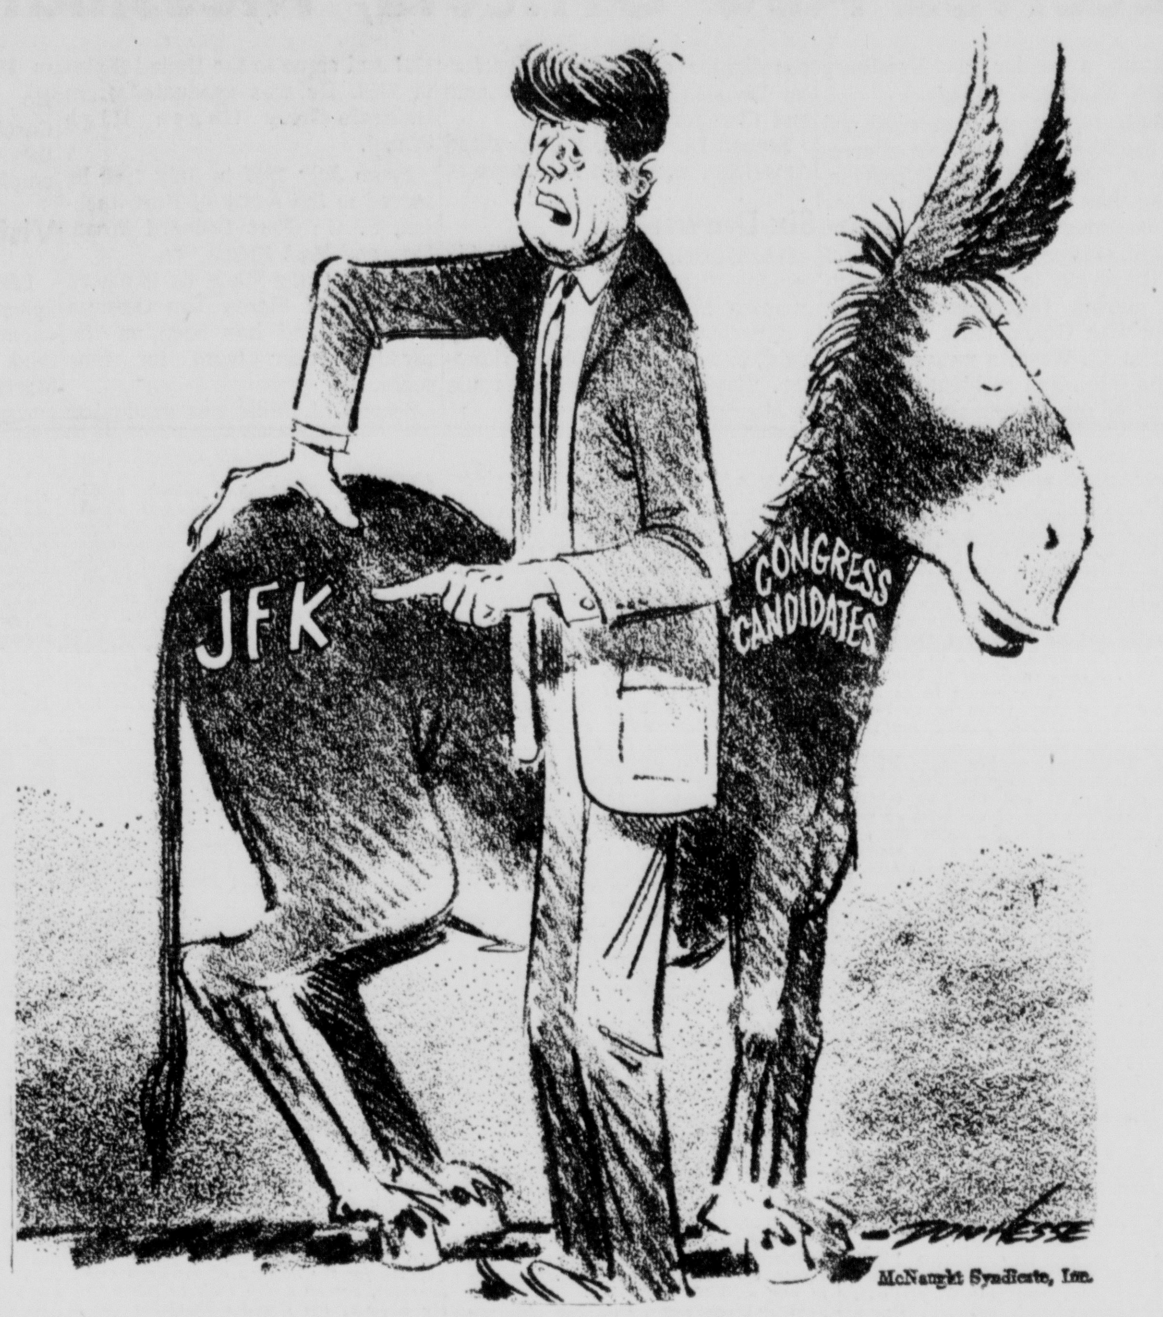
'Always Look For The Brand Name'



Liston Would Help 'Big Brothers' In Effort To Prevent Delinquency

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Charles "Sonny" Liston, the son of an Arkansas cotton picker and now world heavyweight boxing champ, didn't wait more than a few hours before firing back a telegram giving his okay to staging the next fight under the auspices of Big Brothers in order to help prevent juvenile delinquency.

"I would just like to say this is the chance I like best to prove that I mean what I say about helping boys that need help," Liston replied. "Nothing can make me happier than to accept this offer.

I only wish it was up to me. My return-bout contract with Floyd Patterson gives him the right to say when it will be held and where it will be held. I hate to leave it up to him. If he is willing, I am with him all the way. The sooner this fight takes place the better I will like it, indoors or outdoors."

Liston's telegram was in reply to a proposal I had made as president of Big Brothers in the national capital that the next match be staged in the new National Stadium in Washington in the presence of members of Congress and other Washington notables, with part of the proceeds going to keep boys out of trouble.

As Liston pointed out, his contract gives Floyd Patterson certain rights in calling the time and place of the next fight. Big Brothers in the national capital therefore has now put the proposition up to Floyd, who has already done fine work in establishing the Floyd Patterson Houses in New York for boys just out of reformatory.

Actually, Patterson is not entirely a free agent since he is under obligation to Championship Sports. We'll report on developments when and if they materialize.

Medical Double Cross

The doctors of the USA may not know it, but their "trade union" is getting them up to their ears in politics. Most doctors, having spent their lives trying to heal men's bodies, would be flabbergasted at what the American Medical Association and kindred agencies are doing in their name.

Last week, just as the election campaign began to warm up, the AMA, Blue Cross, and Blue Shield began a widespread publicity and advertising campaign on medical care for the elderly. It was timed, not because any bill is now before Congress—theb ill is dead as a Congress—the bill is dead as a dodo for this session—but because

The publicity campaign took two forms:

1. Full-page ads in Time and Life magazines by Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the medical insurance agencies which did a great deal to defeat the medicare bill.

2. A series of letters to newspapers trying to deny carefully documented reports in this column showing how doctors had raised money for key Congressmen who blocked medicare, how they had helped finance the Saskatchewan doctors' strike, and how one doctor in Lexington, Ky., had cut off medical attention to a 78-year-old woman.

The column regarding money-raising for Congressmen who played ball with the doctors' lobby waited until Sept. 18—two months later—to fire the distorted and inaccurate blast at newspapers—just as the election campaign was warming up.

Belated Denial

This is an old political trick—to wait until near the election to confuse the issue; so the doctors' lobby is really learning political techniques.

One denial issued by the AMA lobby was that Dr. Graham Clarkson, medical care director of Saskatchewan, denied ever having told my associate Jack Anderson that the AMA financially supported the doctors' strike which closed 91 hospitals and every doctor's office in Saskatchewan in July.

Dr. Clarkson was even quoted as saying that Anderson had never phoned him.

However, the long-distance records show that Anderson did call him. And Anderson, who takes shorthand, took down Clarkson's definite statement that the AMA had helped to plan and finance the doctors' strike. After he had said this, Dr. Clarkson got cold feet and asked that he not be quoted directly.

The recent ads by Blue Cross and Blue Shield are also interesting as to both timing and content. They offer "amplified" programs "at reasonable rates" for "protection" of all persons over 65.

No details were given as to what the old folks would have to pay for these amplified programs, but the ads, which incidentally cost a lot of money, said they would soon be operating on a "National" scale, and asked that senior citizens phone their local offices for "full details."

When these offices were called in 31 states, however, 24 offices had no information on rates and benefits of the new program.

What New Plan

Here are some of the answers from Blue Cross officials in various states:

Arkansas—"We have nothing on any new plan now."

Southern California—"We don't know of any new plan."

Florida—"There has been some talk about it, but we don't have a new plan as yet."

Michigan—"The ad doesn't apply in Michigan because the Michigan insurance commissioner did not approve the proposed plan. We are still working on it."

Missouri—"No definite plans."

New Hampshire — "You saw something advertised? We have no information on that and won't have until October or November."

New York—"A new program is in the speaking stage, but there has been no decision on that."

Columbus, Ohio—"We know nothing of any new plan."

Oregon—"We probably will have some information available by the end of November."

The most candid replies of all came in the following telephone colloquy with a lady aide in the Blue Cross office in Washington, D. C.:

"This is still in the proposed state," she said. "I can't tell you what the rates or benefits will be. However, because of the group coverage of older people, the rates may be quite high."

"Can you tell me why this big ad was put in the magazines, if so little has actually been determined?" she was asked.

"Maybe the ad shouldn't have been used, at least this early," she replied. "The ad was supposed to be a general statement on plans by the Blue Cross headquarters (in Chicago), but, of course, it doesn't sound like a general statement. I don't think the Blue Cross officials in any of the states were happy about it."

Peaceful Cardiff Street War-Minded On Cuba

By Joseph Alsop

LOS ANGELES

The little, green-embowered, gimcrack houses are prettily painted in bright colors. The people are pleasant and friendly. Cardiff and Bagley Streets, Gracia Street, and LaPetite Court positively exude the cozy but anonymous peacefulness which seems to be the hallmark of modest, semi-suburban neighborhoods in this sprawling city.

Yet when Tom and Joan Braden of the Oceanside Blade-Tribune and this reporter came to these quiet streets to ask about the California election, we found a mood that was almost the opposite of peaceful.

We also found a trend of voter-opinion that was much more favorable to the Guebrnatorial candidacy of former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon than the state-wide polls and the views of the local experts alreday reported in this space.

Yet as simple news, pride of place must still be given to the fact that large numbers of quite ordinary Americans—and Americans, at that, with a solid though humble stake in life—are now decidedly war-minded. The Cuban affair, quite plainly, has begun to cause a general loss of patience.

Take Mrs. Margaret Harrison, a pretty young woman with a pretty baby and a nice littl house, whose husband is a graduate student in physics. She voted for President Kennedy last time, and she would do so again if he were making another race against Nixon. She says Kennedy has been "a good President." But she adds:

"Kennedy ought to have been more decisive about Cuba; I can't get away from that feeling. I'd go to war, if that's the only way to clean up the Cuban mess."

Or take Richard Koch, a milk driver, who is a real Kennedy enthusiast. Remembering that Castro had come to power under President Eisenhower, he remarked that "Cuba had been bungled from the start." Remembering also Khrushchev's guarantee to Cuba, he said gloomily that "it was a mighty touchy business."

"All the same," he concluded, "I'd go to war if need be. The Russians took over Czechoslovakia, after all."

As these two fragments of interviews suggest, the new feeling generated by Cuba is not partisan, in the sense that it is quite as common among Democrats, including Democrats strongly for Kennedy, as it is among Republicans of all colors. It is also widespread among Republicans, however. Typical of these is Roy Piston, a youngish stockbroker.

"We ought to invade Cuba and cut out this cancer," he said. "I'll go if I have to."

Among those with Cuba uppermost in their minds (which means about half the people we talked to), there was also another smaller group, again bi-partisan. The people of this second group said they were "ready to leave it to the President," or they volunteered that "Cuba wasn't worth a war." But even these people plainly shared the basic grievance of one of the war party, a young clerk, J. Lovett. He also voted for Kennedy in 1960, but he now remarked bitterly:

"With all the national authority and strength that we have, we're acting as though we were Guatemale. Let's do what we need to do, and if the Russians don't like it, let them not like it."

A few score interviews in a couple of Los Angeles precincts do not reveal national public opinion. But the people of Cardiff Street and LaPetite Court were only saying, with particular vividness and freedom, the same things that are reportedly being said all over the country. Inquiries were made on this point after our own miniature poll was completed. These inquiries showed that as yet unpublished national polls have found the same reactions we found.

If these are not flash-in-the-pan reactions (which they may be), the feeling about Cuba on Cardiff Street marks a new phase in America's response to the challenge of the cold war. The first phase, noble and hopeful, was the phase of the Marshall Plan. Then followed the ignoble McCarthy phase, when the burdens and dangers of the cold war were idiotically blamed on a home-brewed Communist plot, rather than on the Communist masters of the Kremlin.

In the third phase, under the leadership of President Eisenhower most people tried to forget that there was such a thing as the cold war. But in this fourth phase that now seems to be opening, the long enduring fact of the cold war is once again on every one's mind; and a sense of endless, intolerable frustration is leading to demands for victory, even at great risk.

It is dangerous to exaggerate. But it is impossible not to be deeply impressed when you hear a solid, hard-working family man pointing to his neat little house, and saying: "I know the policy I favor might mean an A-bomb right there. But I'll risk that. It's worth it to win." Joan Braden heard just that, and each of us had nearly comparable experiences.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT — If you want to learn how to succeed as head of a big government department, you could do worse than model yourself after Robert F. Kennedy, Attorney General. Of course, being the brother of a President helps, but Bobby has other assets.

An ever-present problem in any large government agency is to maintain morale of employes so the necessary work can be done with some degree of efficiency. Unlike private employment, government work is so big and so impersonal that accolades from the boss rarely, if ever, occur.

However, a Justice Department attorney who had won a tax case in the courts promptly got a telephone call from Kennedy recently congratulating him on his conduct of the case in warm and understanding terms.

In telling of the incident, the lawyer explained it was not an isolated instance, but something that has been going on in the department since Kennedy became its head. He explained further that the case he prosecuted was not unusual and that he and other department attorneys had handled many similar cases under previous administrations without one word of comment or recognition.

Kennedy also follows the practice of dropping in on department working groups, giving them a word of encouragement, and displaying an interest in and knowledge of what they are trying to accomplish.

As a result, morale is higher in the Justice Department than at any time in the memory of non-partisan oldtime employes. And it is among the highest of any government department.

Readers Suggest Ammonia To Combat Insects

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Many of our readers have been plugging ammonia as an inexpensive home remedy to combat insects. A Cincinnati woman believes the best defense is a good offense. She writes, "Everybody seems to be afraid of hornets and runs when this insect gets into the house. But not me. I sprinkle a little ammonia on the broom and go after them. This magic wand never fails."

A Tampa man has ". . . always used amonia which, if applied within a few minutes after being stung, will stop pain immediately." There is no harm in trying this home remedy but it is easier and quicker to chase hornets and wasps with a good insect spray. Ointments containing antihistaminic or steroid drugs are more expensive remedies for an insect bite but they really work.

Ichthyosis is a congenital condition in which the skin is so dry it seems to be covered with fish scales. We have written on how certain families and victims adjusted to the disturbance because cause and cure are not known.

A Chicago mother had the following comment: "May I humbly suggest that some of these children may not be suffering from ichthyosis but from a thyroid deficiency?" Her eldest son went through this experience and improved markedly after taking thyroid tablets.

There are other causes of dry skin, including eczema and a thyroid or vitamin A deficiency. These conditions are considered before the diagnosis of ichthyosis is made. It is wonderful when a different origin can be found, and doubly so when it can be remedied.

We receive many letters and suggestions from readers with unique medical experiences, who believe the same results will follow in others with similar ailments. This usually leads to misunderstandings, especially when the suggestion is tried and fails. We included the above letter because thyroid is given in dry skin and it works occasionally.

CHICKEN BONES

J. C. writes: My husband thinks small chicken bones are safe to eat. I don't. What do you think?

REPLY

If they are not safe for dogs, they are not safe for humans. Chicken bones are sharp and if they perforate the gastro-intestinal tract, the individual may develop infections, abscesses, or peritonitis. These bones should be avoided unless they are crunchy and so brittle the pieces can be chewed into harmless bits.

BORED MAN

L. G. writes: What can a middle aged man do who is dissatisfied with himself to the point of depression?

REPLY

See his physician, religious adviser, or psychiatrist. It may be that all this man needs is a vacation, a new job, or new interests.

CANCER AND X-RAYS

W. B. writes: Can you get cancer from having hair removed from the face by X-rays?

REPLY

Cancer of the skin has been traced to excessive X-raying. There are safer ways to remove unwanted hair.

PEROXIDING THE SKIN

M. W. writes: Is it harmful to use peroxide on the face daily?

REPLY

No. Some women do this to bleach facial hair.

ELECTRONICS AND PRESSURE

O. O. W. writes: Do electric machines have any value in curing high blood pressure?

REPLY

No.

PEPPER-UPPERS

L. F. writes: Are psychic energizers habit forming?

REPLY

Yes, but the habit is related more closely to that of coffee than to opium.

TOMORROW: A long forgotten epidemic.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A lecturer who underestimates his audience is not worth listening to. I shall never forget a letter I received after I had spoken to a ladies' club — years ago — in Grand Rapids, Michigan. "Thank you for obviously putting your heart into your appearance here," it read, and continued, "I wonder if you knew that the dignified matron in the front row who asked you about the menace of comic books was once the shining star of the Folies Bergere in Paris (without that mink coat, of course)? The lady next to her, with the ermine scarf, is an archaeologist who has worked and suffered in the most remote corners of the world. And behind them sat two maiden ladies who have contributed over five million dollars anonymously to charities, and a lady who almost broke the bank at Monte Carlo some years ago. Could an audience at Carnegie Hall top an array like that?"

Bill Weldon drove his secretary Corinne to a tennis match one blazing afternoon in Columbus.

"I hope our seats aren't too far front," said Corinne. "It's too cold there." The puzzled Mr. Weldon asked, "Why do you think it's colder down front, Corinne?" She explained, "I'm sure I don't know, but it certainly was at the ice carnival in January!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The man said it would cost $105 to scrape and varnish the dining room floor and I said nothing doing. We'd do the work ourselves. You know something? I wish I was dead. . .

The dining room is shaped like a capital T. The cross bar is the front of the house. The foot of the T has a picture window looking out on a dismal area way. It all started when Kelly said: "How about getting that planter out of here?" That planter happens to be a stroke of genius engineered by me when I was a bachelor. It is a long casket-shaped thing made of white brick.

It sits three feet inside the picture window and is full of green growing things, and some gay plants which are phoney. After it was finished, I had to put an extra lalley column below to keep the thing from falling into the cellar. One of our housekeepers — no longer with us — used to tell visitors that I had a relative buried in it.

Anyway, Kelly said that the planter had to go. At once I realized that women have some sort of a nesting instinct which makes them want to change things. Especially things which were not devised by them. So I said: "Okay." A man named Sal Santora chipped the bricks out of the dining room. When the planter was gone, we found we had a big hole in the gray broadloom.

Well, we had no 10-foot casket to cover it, so the broadloom had to come up. When that was done, we needed new rugs. The floor looked pretty bad too. It would have to be redone. The walls, which are knotty pine, began to look dark and dirty.

"How about white on the walls?" Mrs. B. said. "A nice flat white with a strain of antique gold running through." It began to look like a king-sized nesting instinct. The ceiling was pastel green. Of course that wouldn't go with the white walls.

It wouldn't go with the ochre rugs she had in mind either.

Well, first things first. We put all the furniture out on the front porch. The word spread through Sea Bright that the Bishops were moving. Two bill collectors showed up and waited on the lawn. Mrs. B. and Gayle decided that a walnut stain would be nice on the dining room floor, so the three of us started on different sides of the room.

My brush was too big for the can, so, in taking it out, some of the walnut flicked onto the new white walls. My father, who sleeps in a Barcalounger chair (never a bed), walked around muttering: "Where am I going to sleep?" His chair was on the porch.

The second coat of walnut made the floor look fine, but it wouldn't dry. The only way from the back of the house to the front was through the toolshed, onto the porch, climb the furniture and in the bedroom window to the bathroom. Somehow, Rocky got into the dining room and his paws got stuck on the walnut.

This wasn't so bad but, when we got him out of it, he decided to lick his paws clean and, when the turpentine got on his tongue, he became the hottest dog east of the Alleghenies. Nobody could wait for the floor to dry, so we went barefoot and decided to flick the antique gold on the walls.

I was up on a kitchen stool working on the walls. By some error, they began to look mustard. My wife thought that the pail of gold paint looked precarious on the ladder so, unknown to me, she removed it. I backed down the ladder to examine my artistry, and put my right foot in the bucket, which she had thoughtfully placed at the foot of the ladder.

The bucket tilted and spilled onto the walnut floor. Our housekeeper, Mrs. Katharina Rook, became hysterical and went to bed. I quit the job angry, and found that the free foot was now embeddled in the tacky walnut. The gold foot was all right, except that it was dripping.

The next day the rug man phoned to say that the ochre rugs would not arrive for a month. I figured it would take that long for the floor to dry, so I said: "Don't worry, my friend. You have time to weave a couple."

Gayle went out and got some real gold paint, which she said could be stroked on to achieve an antique effect. My feeling was that, by the time the floor dried, the white walls would look antique anyway, but the woman said I was just a wise guy who doesn't understand interior decoration.

This morning I came out of the bedroom to the dining room. The floor was still a little tacky. The only item of furniture in the place was my father's chair. He was asleep in it. With his mouth open, he looked as though he was lying in state.

The dog got up, and left a big circle of gray fur on the floor. Just then, Flo Walter, my secretary, walked in. "Look at what that dog did," I said. She smiled. "Oh," she said, "I thought it was a throw rug.". . .

Guerrilla War And Rice Prices

War sends prices up. This was true in the United States during every war in its history, and it has been true in South Viet Nam, where the Communist guerrilla war has threatened to defeat the government.

That's why it was impressive news when Defense Secretary Nguyen Dinh Thuan reported on his recent visit to Washington that rice prices had come down. They always have tended to go higher at this season, before the new crop is in.

The Communists have been able to block deliveries and distribution. So the reported fall in price could indicate that the Communists are no longer succeeding in that policy.

This doesn't mean that the Communists are defeated, by a long shot. By the most optimistic estimates it will take at least a year to defeat them. If the North Vietnamese or Chinese Communists invade in force, it will be an entirely new war. But South Viet Nam, with mounting American help, at the moment is making definite headway against the Communist threat there.

They have taken a leaf from the British book in Malaya. Peasants and villagers, who were terrorized into collaborating with the Communists, are being moved into strategic hamlets better able to resist. Many of these people are now volunteering for Vietnamese army schools.

A similar plan succeeded in Malaya, where at one time no British officer could drive down a main road at night without risking a murderous ambush. Of course, any progress in South Viet Nam should have favorable repercussions elsewhere in Southeast Asia.

If these more favorable reports are confirmed, the news will be especially welcome coming coincidently with rumors that 10,000 Communists who were to leave Laos by an October 7 deadline are still there.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Free Press

National Newspaper Week comes in October and is designed to remind the American people of the value of its free press.

In many parts of the world, the press is controlled either by the government or by a political party. Such newspapers and magazines and the news on radio are not free. They are the voice of those in authority. They exist to perpetuate those in authority. They twist and slant and omit news in order to serve those in authority.

A press can only be free under two conditions:

1. That there is ample competition, so that if one publication chooses to serve a particular cause, a limited point of view, another publication will provide the other side. Competition is the heart of truth. In the United States, where there are many cities in which only one newspaper can be economically published, the competition comes from weeklies, columnists of various shades of view, radio and television.

2. That the publication earn its own way through circulation and advertising, so that it need not fall back on any kind of covert subsidy. The cost of publication, both for labor and newsprint, has become so high that many newspapers have suffered in recent years. Nevertheless, no newspaper has become a government or a party organ as is customary in Europe. Many newspapers publish a variety of columnists to maintain a balance of view and often what the columnists say is different from the policy of the newspaper. This overcomes the lack of a competing newspaper.

Freedom is of the spirit. A publisher who takes advantage of his opportunity to prevent his readers from seeing both sides of the coin is intellectually dishonest and there are few such in this country. Nevertheless, it must be pointed out that the greatest strides in preserving freedom of the press have been made by courageous publishers and editors who practised what is called personal journalism.

They attacked abuse. They fought corruption. They were the public tribunes defending the rights of the people, fighting privilege of every kind. It is true that sometimes they went beyond good taste, but viewed objectively and at historic distance, the work of such men as Horace Greeley, Joseph Pulitzer, James Gordon Bennett, William Randolph Hearst, William Allen White and a host of others in small cities and towns helped to develop in this country a great and decent nation.

Some of what they did has come to be called "Yellow Journalism," by which is meant over-emphatic, excited, over-stimulating journalism. Taken on the whole, such journalism served the United States well.

Take for instance, Hearst's slogan, "Remember the Maine." Was it not superior to the powder-puff attitude we take these days toward Cuba which "The New York Times," after four years, is just beginning to recognize as a Communist Revolution, conducted under Russian auspices. Surely, "Remember the Maine" was a total nationalistic concept, just as "Buy American," made sense and makes sense today.

The function of the Press is not only to inform the people but to give them a literate and intelligent leadership. The great variety of publications in this country do precisely that. Some may say that some newspapers write down to the public, use too many photographs, employ too many peep-hole columnists who write rubbish about trivial personalities.

The question is: What is news? Is it only what Nkrumah is doing or what Tshombe is doing or what the President says or is it also something about an actor or actress, a thief, a bum, a murderer, a drug addict, a rapist? Everything is news. Everything that exists or happens or that requires explanation is news. Everything the readers want to read about is news.

The filthy streets of the city in which I live are news; the visitors to the village, in which I summer are news. Is Winston Churchill's health news? So is my next door neighbor's health. It all depends upon where you live and what you do.

That is a free press. It is the publication of what a publisher wants to publish and what a reader wants to read within the margins of decency. What is interesting and important to one person may be dull or even trivial to another. Do you really care more about Mali than about Mississippi?

A free press answers that every day.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Charles "Sonny" Liston, the son of an Arkansas cotton picker and now world heavyweight boxing champ, didn't wait more than a few hours before firing back a telegram giving his okay to staging the next fight under the auspices of Big Brothers in order to help prevent juvenile delinquency.

"I would just like to say this is the chance I like best to prove that I mean what I say about helping boys that need help," Liston replied. "Nothing can make me happier than to accept this offer.

I only wish it was up to me. My return-bout contract with Floyd Patterson gives him the right to say when it will be held and where it will be held. I hate to leave it up to him. If he is willing, I am with him all the way. The sooner this fight takes place the better I will like it, indoors or outdoors."

Liston's telegram was in reply to a proposal I had made as president of Big Brothers in the national capital that the next match be staged in the new National Stadium in Washington in the presence of members of Congress and other Washington notables, with part of the proceeds going to keep boys out of trouble.

As Liston pointed out, his contract gives Floyd Patterson certain rights in calling the time and place of the next fight. Big Brothers in the national capital therefore has now put the proposition up to Floyd, who has already done fine work in establishing the Floyd Patterson Houses in New York for boys just out of reformatory.

Actually, Patterson is not entirely a free agent since he is under obligation to Championship Sports. We'll report on developments when and if they materialize.

Medical Double Cross

The doctors of the USA may not know it, but their "trade union" is getting them up to their ears in politics. Most doctors, having spent their lives trying to heal men's bodies, would be flabbergasted at what the American Medical Association and kindred agencies are doing in their name.

Last week, just as the election campaign began to warm up, the AMA, Blue Cross, and Blue Shield began a widespread publicity and advertising campaign on medical care for the elderly. It was timed, not because any bill is now before Congress—theb ill is dead as a Congress—the bill is dead as a dodo for this session—but because

The publicity campaign took two forms:

1. Full-page ads in Time and Life magazines by Blue Cross and Blue Shield, the medical insurance agencies which did a great deal to defeat the medicare bill.

2. A series of letters to newspapers trying to deny carefully documented reports in this column showing how doctors had raised money for key Congressmen who blocked medicare, how they had helped finance the Saskatchewan doctors' strike, and how one doctor in Lexington, Ky., had cut off medical attention to a 78-year-old woman.

The column regarding money-raising for Congressmen who played ball with the doctors' lobby waited until Sept. 18—two months later—to fire the distorted and inaccurate blast at newspapers—just as the election campaign was warming up.

Belated Denial

This is an old political trick—to wait until near the election to confuse the issue; so the doctors' lobby is really learning political techniques.

One denial issued by the AMA lobby was that Dr. Graham Clarkson, medical care director of Saskatchewan, denied ever having told my associate Jack Anderson that the AMA financially supported the doctors' strike which closed 91 hospitals and every doctor's office in Saskatchewan in July.

Dr. Clarkson was even quoted as saying that Anderson had never phoned him.

However, the long-distance records show that Anderson did call him. And Anderson, who takes shorthand, took down Clarkson's definite statement that the AMA had helped to plan and finance the doctors' strike. After he had said this, Dr. Clarkson got cold feet and asked that he not be quoted directly.

The recent ads by Blue Cross and Blue Shield are also interesting as to both timing and content. They offer "amplified" programs "at reasonable rates" for "protection" of all persons over 65.

No details were given as to what the old folks would have to pay for these amplified programs, but the ads, which incidentally cost a lot of money, said they would soon be operating on a "National" scale, and asked that senior citizens phone their local offices for "full details."

When these offices were called in 31 states, however, 24 offices had no information on rates and benefits of the new program.

What New Plan

Here are some of the answers from Blue Cross officials in various states:

Arkansas—"We have nothing on any new plan now."

Southern California—"We don't know of any new plan."

Florida—"There has been some talk about it, but we don't have a new plan as yet."

Michigan—"The ad doesn't apply in Michigan because the Michigan insurance commissioner did not approve the proposed plan. We are still working on it."

Missouri—"No definite plans."

New Hampshire — "You saw something advertised? We have no information on that and won't have until October or November."

New York—"A new program is in the speaking stage, but there has been no decision on that."

Columbus, Ohio—"We know nothing of any new plan."

Oregon—"We probably will have some information available by the end of November."

The most candid replies of all came in the following telephone colloquy with a lady aide in the Blue Cross office in Washington, D. C.:

"This is still in the proposed state," she said. "I can't tell you what the rates or benefits will be. However, because of the group coverage of older people, the rates may be quite high."

"Can you tell me why this big ad was put in the magazines, if so little has actually been determined?" she was asked.

"Maybe the ad shouldn't have been used, at least this early," she replied. "The ad was supposed to be a general statement on plans by the Blue Cross headquarters (in Chicago), but, of course, it doesn't sound like a general statement. I don't think the Blue Cross officials in any of the states were happy about it."

Peaceful Cardiff Street War-Minded On Cuba

By Joseph Alsop

LOS ANGELES

The little, green-embowered, gimcrack houses are prettily painted in bright colors. The people are pleasant and friendly. Cardiff and Bagley Streets, Gracia Street, and LaPetite Court positively exude the cozy but anonymous peacefulness which seems to be the hallmark of modest, semi-suburban neighborhoods in this sprawling city.

Yet when Tom and Joan Braden of the Oceanside Blade-Tribune and this reporter came to these quiet streets to ask about the California election, we found a mood that was almost the opposite of peaceful.

We also found a trend of voter-opinion that was much more favorable to the Guebrnatorial candidacy of former Vice-President Richard M. Nixon than the state-wide polls and the views of the local experts alreday reported in this space.

Yet as simple news, pride of place must still be given to the fact that large numbers of quite ordinary Americans—and Americans, at that, with a solid though humble stake in life—are now decidedly war-minded. The Cuban affair, quite plainly, has begun to cause a general loss of patience.

Take Mrs. Margaret Harrison, a pretty young woman with a pretty baby and a nice littl house, whose husband is a graduate student in physics. She voted for President Kennedy last time, and she would do so again if he were making another race against Nixon. She says Kennedy has been "a good President." But she adds:

"Kennedy ought to have been more decisive about Cuba; I can't get away from that feeling. I'd go to war, if that's the only way to clean up the Cuban mess."

Or take Richard Koch, a milk driver, who is a real Kennedy enthusiast. Remembering that Castro had come to power under President Eisenhower, he remarked that "Cuba had been bungled from the start." Remembering also Khrushchev's guarantee to Cuba, he said gloomily that "it was a mighty touchy business."

"All the same," he concluded, "I'd go to war if need be. The Russians took over Czechoslovakia, after all."

As these two fragments of interviews suggest, the new feeling generated by Cuba is not partisan, in the sense that it is quite as common among Democrats, including Democrats strongly for Kennedy, as it is among Republicans of all colors. It is also widespread among Republicans, however. Typical of these is Roy Piston, a youngish stockbroker.

"We ought to invade Cuba and cut out this cancer," he said. "I'll go if I have to."

Among those with Cuba uppermost in their minds (which means about half the people we talked to), there was also another smaller group, again bi-partisan. The people of this second group said they were "ready to leave it to the President," or they volunteered that "Cuba wasn't worth a war." But even these people plainly shared the basic grievance of one of the war party, a young clerk, J. Lovett. He also voted for Kennedy in 1960, but he now remarked bitterly:

"With all the national authority and strength that we have, we're acting as though we were Guatemale. Let's do what we need to do, and if the Russians don't like it, let them not like it."

A few score interviews in a couple of Los Angeles precincts do not reveal national public opinion. But the people of Cardiff Street and LaPetite Court were only saying, with particular vividness and freedom, the same things that are reportedly being said all over the country. Inquiries were made on this point after our own miniature poll was completed. These inquiries showed that as yet unpublished national polls have found the same reactions we found.

If these are not flash-in-the-pan reactions (which they may be), the feeling about Cuba on Cardiff Street marks a new phase in America's response to the challenge of the cold war. The first phase, noble and hopeful, was the phase of the Marshall Plan. Then followed the ignoble McCarthy phase, when the burdens and dangers of the cold war were idiotically blamed on a home-brewed Communist plot, rather than on the Communist masters of the Kremlin.

In the third phase, under the leadership of President Eisenhower most people tried to forget that there was such a thing as the cold war. But in this fourth phase that now seems to be opening, the long enduring fact of the cold war is once again on every one's mind; and a sense of endless, intolerable frustration is leading to demands for victory, even at great risk.

It is dangerous to exaggerate. But it is impossible not to be deeply impressed when you hear a solid, hard-working family man pointing to his neat little house, and saying: "I know the policy I favor might mean an A-bomb right there. But I'll risk that. It's worth it to win." Joan Braden heard just that, and each of us had nearly comparable experiences.

There are other causes of dry skin, including eczema and a thyroid or vitamin A deficiency. These conditions are considered before the diagnosis of ichthyosis is made. It is wonderful when a different origin can be found, and doubly so when it can be remedied.

We receive many letters and suggestions from readers with unique medical experiences, who believe the same results will follow in others with similar ailments. This usually leads to misunderstandings, especially when the suggestion is tried and fails. We included the above letter because thyroid is given in dry skin and it works occasionally.

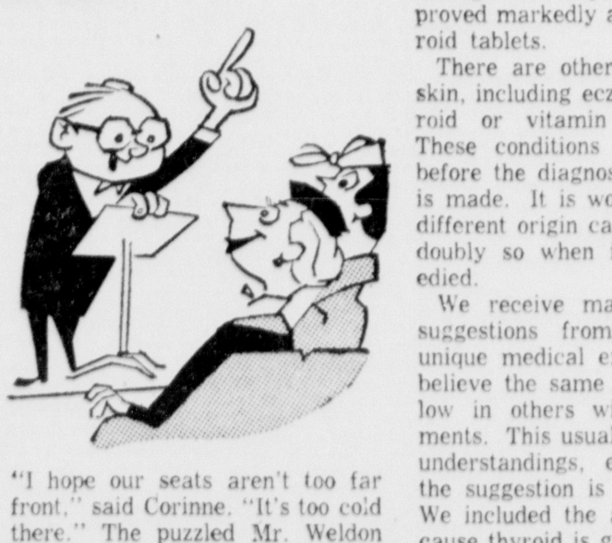
Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A lecturer who underestimates his audience is not worth listening to. I shall never forget a letter I received after I had spoken to a ladies' club — years ago — in Grand Rapids, Michigan. "Thank you for obviously putting your heart into your appearance here," it read, and continued, "I wonder if you knew that the dignified matron in the front row who asked you about the menace of comic books was once the shining star of the Folies Bergere in Paris (without that mink coat, of course)? The lady next to her, with the ermine scarf, is an archaeologist who has worked and suffered in the most remote corners of the world. And behind them sat two maiden ladies who have contributed over five million dollars anonymously to charities, and a lady who almost broke the bank at Monte Carlo some years ago. Could an audience at Carnegie Hall top an array like that?"



Bill Weldon drove his secretary Corinne to a tennis match one blazing afternoon in Columbus. "I hope our seats aren't too far front," said Corinne. "It's too cold there." The puzzled Mr. Weldon asked, "Why do you think it's colder down front, Corinne?" She explained, "I'm sure I don't know, but it certainly was at the ice carnival in January!"

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

The man said it would cost $105 to scrape and varnish the dining room floor and I said nothing doing. We'd do the work ourselves. You know something? I wish I was dead. . .

The dining room is shaped like a capital T. The cross bar is the front of the house. The foot of the T has a picture window looking out on a dismal area way. It all started when Kelly said: "How about getting that planter out of here?" That planter happens to be a stroke of genius engineered by me when I was a bachelor. It is a long casket-shaped thing made of white brick.

It sits three feet inside the picture window and is full of green growing things, and some gay plants which are phoney. After it was finished, I had to put an extra lalley column below to keep the thing from falling into the cellar. One of our housekeepers — no longer with us — used to tell visitors that I had a relative buried in it.

Anyway, Kelly said that the planter had to go. At once I realized that women have some sort of a nesting instinct which makes them want to change things. Especially things which were not devised by them. So I said: "Okay." A man named Sal Santora chipped the bricks out of the dining room. When the planter was gone, we found we had a big hole in the gray broadloom.

Well, we had no 10-foot casket to cover it, so the broadloom had to come up. When that was done, we needed new rugs. The floor looked pretty bad too. It would have to be redone. The walls, which are knotty pine, began to look dark and dirty.

"How about white on the walls?" Mrs. B. said. "A nice flat white with a strain of antique gold running through." It began to look like a king-sized nesting instinct. The ceiling was pastel green. Of course that wouldn't go with the white walls.

It wouldn't go with the ochre rugs she had in mind either.

Well, first things first. We put all the furniture out on the front porch. The word spread through Sea Bright that the Bishops were moving. Two bill collectors showed up and waited on the lawn. Mrs. B. and Gayle decided that a walnut stain would be nice on the dining room floor, so the three of us started on different sides of the room.

My brush was too big for the can, so, in taking it out, some of the walnut flicked onto the new white walls. My father, who sleeps in a Barcalounger chair (never a bed), walked around muttering: "Where am I going to sleep?" His chair was on the porch.

The second coat of walnut made the floor look fine, but it wouldn't dry. The only way from the back of the house to the front was through the toolshed, onto the porch, climb the furniture and in the bedroom window to the bathroom. Somehow, Rocky got into the dining room and his paws got stuck on the walnut.

This wasn't so bad but, when we got him out of it, he decided to lick his paws clean and, when the turpentine got on his tongue, he became the hottest dog east of the Alleghenies. Nobody could wait for the floor to dry, so we went barefoot and decided to flick the antique gold on the walls.

I was up on a kitchen stool working on the walls. By some error, they began to look mustard. My wife thought that the pail of gold paint looked precarious on the ladder so, unknown to me, she removed it. I backed down the ladder to examine my artistry, and put my right foot in the bucket, which she had thoughtfully placed at the foot of the ladder.

The bucket tilted and spilled onto the walnut floor. Our housekeeper, Mrs. Katharina Rook, became hysterical and went to bed. I quit the job angry, and found that the free foot was now embeddled in the tacky walnut. The gold foot was all right, except that it was dripping.

The next day the rug man phoned to say that the ochre rugs would not arrive for a month. I figured it would take that long for the floor to dry, so I said: "Don't worry, my friend. You have time to weave a couple."

Gayle went out and got some real gold paint, which she said could be stroked on to achieve an antique effect. My feeling was that, by the time the floor dried, the white walls would look antique anyway, but the woman said I was just a wise guy who doesn't understand interior decoration.

This morning I came out of the bedroom to the dining room. The floor was still a little tacky. The only item of furniture in the place was my father's chair. He was asleep in it. With his mouth open, he looked as though he was lying in state.

The dog got up, and left a big circle of gray fur on the floor. Just then, Flo Walter, my secretary, walked in. "Look at what that dog did," I said. She smiled. "Oh," she said, "I thought it was a throw rug.". . .

Provided, if a claimant had not earned qualifying wages, as required in Section 4 (e) of this article, for the weekly benefit amount shown in the schedule of benefits on the basis of his earnings in the calendar quarter of the base period in which his earnings were highest, but did earn qualifying wages for a lower division on said schedule, he is to be considered eligible for benefits as shown in said lower division. (1) In determining whether or not any work is suitable for an individual, the Executive Director shall consider the degree of risk involved to his health, safety, and morals, his physical fitness and prior training, his experience and prior earnings, his length of unemployment and prospects for securing local work in his customary occupation, and the distance of the available work from his residence.

The sale of free share accounts of any association doing business in this State is hereby exempted from all provisions of law of this State which provide for the supervision and regulation of the sale of securities, and the sale of any such accounts shall be legal without any action or approval whatsoever on the part of any official authorized to license, regulate, and supervise the sale of securities.

161JJ. SEVERABILITY.

If any provision of this sub-title or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the other provisions or any other application of this sub-title which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end, the provisions of this sub-title are declared to be severable.

LaVale Community Church Of The Brethren Plans Initial Service Sunday

The newly-organized LaVale Community Church of the Brethren is making preparations for its first worship services to be held Sunday.

Worship services and other church functions will be held in the large dwelling on the recently-purchased four-acre property on Doris Street, LaVale.

A remodeling program is under way to make the building ready for the inaugural services. These facilities will be used until a new church building is built.

Church school will begin Sunday at 9:45 a. m. with worship hour to follow at 11 a. m. Rev. Richard Simmons, pastor, who has arrived with his family, will speak on the topic, "How Shall the Church Be Recognized?"

Rev. Owen Stultz, district executive secretary, served as advisor to its establishment. The district organization of 12 churches in Western Maryland is purchasing the property and is financially helping the new church to get started. Several men of area churches have contributed work in the remodeling project.

The church's first meeting was held in the LaVale homes of members of the Living Stone Church of the Brethren. Meetings later moved to the LaVale Fire Hall when the group became larger. During these meetings, the church establishment, property purchase and the securing of a new pastor were discussed.

Richard Alexander has served as chairman of the fellowship group while Mrs. June Walker has served as secretary-treasurer. Donald Ridgeley, Esther Ridgeley and Roy Broadwater served on the steering committee. John Border and William Abbott currently serve as committee members.

As used in the foregoing provisions of this Section, the term "give" means to give, to sell or dispose of for less than full monetary value as hereinbefore defined, or with any agreement or undertaking, contingent or otherwise, for repurchase or redemption, whether total or partial, or to offer, promise, or agree to do any of the foregoing. If any provision of this sub-title or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the other provisions or any other application of this sub-title which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end, the provisions of this sub-title are declared to be severable.

Appeal For Dwelling Permit Heard In Court

Testimony and arguments were heard in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in an appeal by Eugene Bertone, 604 Louisiana Avenue, from the decision of the City Board of Zoning Appeals in refusing him a permit to erect a dwelling on a lot at 606 Louisiana Avenue.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer testified that the building permit was denied originally because the side yards did not meet the required width. On one side there was four and a half feet and on the other the space was two and one half feet.

Nuzum said also that the houses in that block of Louisiana Avenue conform generally to the 25 foot building line.

Robert Lee Lewis, Lafayette Avenue, who owns the property at 608 Louisiana Avenue, told the court that he intends to move back into the residence after having been at his present residence about five months.

Lewis said that the proposal of Bertone to install a circular driveway in front of his home would pose a hazard to his children. He also said that with the proposed dwelling being 50 feet back on the lot it would deprive him of privacy as the bedrooms in the house at 608 Louisiana Avenue are in the rear of the structure.

Bertone said he plans to occupy the new home and sell his present residence to relatives. He said that he wants to utilize the level space in front of his home for the driveway and landscaping as the lot slopes in the rear and is not suitable for landscaping.

William H. Geppert was counsel for Bertone while Donald W. Mason was counsel for Lewis.

The giving of the aforesaid worthless check, draft or negotiable instrument shall be prima facie evidence of intent to cheat or defraud; provided that if such person shall be a bona fide resident of the State of Maryland and shall deposit with the drawee of such paper within ten days thereafter funds sufficient to meet the same, with all costs and interest which may have accrued, he shall not be prosecuted under this section, and no prosecution either by presentment, indictment or otherwise, shall be instituted or commenced until after the expiration of said period of ten days.

Appeal For Dwelling Permit Heard In Court

Testimony and arguments were heard in Circuit Court yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in an appeal by Eugene Bertone, 604 Louisiana Avenue, from the decision of the City Board of Zoning Appeals in refusing him a permit to erect a dwelling on a lot at 606 Louisiana Avenue.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer testified that the building permit was denied originally because the side yards did not meet the required width. On one side there was four and a half feet and on the other the space was two and one half feet.

Nuzum said also that the houses in that block of Louisiana Avenue conform generally to the 25 foot building line.

Robert Lee Lewis, Lafayette Avenue, who owns the property at 608 Louisiana Avenue, told the court that he intends to move back into the residence after having been at his present residence about five months.

Lewis said that the proposal of Bertone to install a circular driveway in front of his home would pose a hazard to his children. He also said that with the proposed dwelling being 50 feet back on the lot it would deprive him of privacy as the bedrooms in the house at 608 Louisiana Avenue are in the rear of the structure.

Bertone said he plans to occupy the new home and sell his present residence to relatives. He said that he wants to utilize the level space in front of his home for the driveway and landscaping as the lot slopes in the rear and is not suitable for landscaping.

William H. Geppert was counsel for Bertone while Donald W. Mason was counsel for Lewis.

Where the value of such money, credit, goods, release, wares or anything of value is less than one hundred dollars, such person, upon conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned for not more than eighteen months in the house of correction or jail, or both fined and imprisoned in the discretion of the court and the trial magistrates of the counties [and police magistrates in the City of Baltimore] shall have concurrent jurisdiction over such offense with the circuit courts of the counties [and with the Criminal Court of Baltimore City, as the case may be]. Where the value of such money, credit, goods, wares or anything of value is less than one hundred dollars, such person, upon conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not more than fifty dollars or imprisoned for not more than eighteen months in the house of correction or jail, or both fined and imprisoned in the discretion of the court, and the trial magistrates of the counties [and police magistrates in the City of Baltimore] shall have concurrent jurisdiction over such offense with the circuit court of the counties [and with the Criminal Court of Baltimore City, as the case may be]. And upon the trial of any person accused of violation of this section, the fact that such person without the consent of such other to stop or countermand the countermanded payment of such instrument, or otherwise caused the drawee to disregard or dishonor the same without returning or tendering the return of the thing so obtained shall be presumptive evidence of such intent to cheat and defraud.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the removal of the remains of any human body, or of any monument, gravestone or other marker from an abandoned cemetery, provided that the prior consent in writing of the State's attorney of the county or of Baltimore City shall have been secured and provided further that such remains, monuments, gravestone or other marker is placed in an accessible place in a permanent cemetery. WM Bridge Club Tournament Planned October 12-14

The twelfth annual Mason-Dixon tournament of the Western Maryland Bridge Club will be staged October 12-14 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Edgar J. Dawson, president said the event is a sectional tournament that is sanctioned by the American Contract Bridge League. The tournament annually draws top-flight players from the major cities along the Eastern seaboard.

Theodore W. Gray has been named general chairman of the tournament, with the tourney directors being E. C. Donaghy, of Pittsburgh, and George Bottorf, this city.

Chairmen of the various committees are Mrs. Milton Gerson and A. J. Feigus, prizes; Mrs. Emma Everstine, women's pairs; James Preaskorn, men's pairs; Mrs. Samuel Wood, open pairs; Mrs. William Frailey, open team-of-fours.

Mrs. Bernard J. McGreevy, hospitality; Bottorf and Feigus, publicity, and Mrs. Theodore W. Gray, attendance partners.

The program calls for the women's pair and men's pair events to be staged Friday, October 12, each event starting at 8 p. m. The open pair event will be staged in two sections, the qualifying round scheduled for 2 p. m. on October 13, and the finals at 8 p. m.

A special pair event, for those who fail to qualify, will be played in conjunction with the finals of the open pairs.

The tournament this year will feature an open team-of-four, board-a-match event, Gray pointed out. This will be played on Sunday, October 14, beginning at 1:30 p. m.

The team-of-four play was staged for the first time at the club's spring tournament, and proved so popular that it is being incorporated in next week's tourney, Dawson stated.

Area Firemen Aid Dystrophy Fund Drive

The volunteer fire departments of Maryland will assist in the Muscular Dystrophy appeal in November, according to David E. Kirk, this city, first vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Kirk, who will chairman the drive of the volunteers in this area, said letters have been sent to all affiliated fire departments to inform them of the state association's decision.

Co-chairman of the endeavor will be Alvin Rankin, Frostburg, treasurer of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association. The two-county unit is affiliated with a Muscular Dystrophy chapter which is headed by Virgil A. Parker, chief of the Cumberland Fire Department.

Kirk said the MD drive is conducted in all parts of the country by either paid or volunteer fire companies, and is the only such appeal in which the State Fire Association participates.

Committees will be formed to distribute canisters in business places in the two counties, and to conduct a house-to-house solicitation, Kirk said.

The canisters will be distributed at a meeting of the two-county fire association in Midland on Sunday, October 14. Kirk advised members to take note of the date since it has been advanced so as not to conflict with the World Series.

Members of the state association MD committee, besides Kirk, are Lawrence A. Dorsey, Woodsboro; Edgar Hurlock, Churchill, and Charles Hare, Elliott City.

Garrett Sentencing Slated

Four operators of Garrett County taverns will be sentenced today when they appear in Garrett County Circuit Court, Oakland, before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill.

The four defendants were found guilty on charges of after-hours sale of beer in jury trials held this week in Oakland.

They are Richard R. Perando, operator of the Maple View Inn, Route 135 near Deer Park; Bruce D. Smouse, operator of the Boone's Sun Deck Inn, McHenry; Leo E. Friend, operator of Stone Tavern, Deep Creek Lake, and Robert F. Thomas, of Deep Creek Lodge, Deep Creek Lake.

An indictment against Franklin Perando, brother of Richard R. Perando, was dismissed prior to the trial of the Maple View Inn case.

All of the other officers listed in the Deep Creek Lake Corporation that operates Deep Creek Lodge were removed from the indictment, with Thomas being the only one tried.

In another trial this week, Gorman Lee Thayer, operator of Sky High Tavern, Deep Creek Lake, entered a plea of guilty to sale of beer on Sunday and was fined $50 by Judge Hamill.

Another indictment of the September grand jury will be placed before the court Tuesday when Robert D. Kemp is tried for the sale and possession of liquor at Bob and Madeline's Tavern, Deer Park. The establishment only has a beer license.

The arrests followed a series of three weekend investigations by special State Police investigators.

Testifying at the trials this week were Corporals Vincent Boose and William E. Seekford. They related evidence obtained during August, which is the peak of the summer recreation period.

Civil Service Unit Rules On City Lists

The City Civil Service Board Tuesday ruled that eligibility lists created by municipal furloughs will be effective for no longer than two years.

The decision was made following discussion in which it was pointed out that eligibility examinations are held every two years for the various city positions.

In effect, the ruling removed four names from an eligibility list for the post of assistant sewage treatment plant operator. The list was created four years ago, and brought up to date by a recent examination.

The board also ruled that Donald Puhalla, a member of the City Fire Department, will complete his probationary period next March 4.

A ruling was asked by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who explained that Puhalla joined the department on May 9, 1961, but was called into the armed forces last November 4.

The Civil Service Board advanced Puhalla's eligibility by crediting him with some of the time spent in the service of his country.

Visits Relatives

FROSTBURG — Rev. Joseph McMahon, pastor of St. Pius Church, Portland, Ore., accompanied by his aunts, Miss Helen Stenger and Mrs. T. L. Caserly of Pittsburgh, Pa. spent the weekend here visiting Miss Mary and Clara McMahon and in Cresaptown visiting, Leo McMahon, aunts and uncle of Father McMahon.

In ancient Greece, small pieces of bread were used in place of napkins. They were disposed of by throwing them on the floor for the dogs.

A holdup takes place on the average of every 10 minutes in the United States.

It took Leonardo da Vinci about two years to paint "The Last Supper."

It shall be the duty of all police officers and detectives in Baltimore City to arrest and take before [some one of the station house justices in] the Municipal Court of Baltimore City all persons whom they shall find in Baltimore City or upon any train, boat, car or other vehicle commonly used for the transportation of passengers which may be bound to or from Baltimore City who they shall know or have good reason to believe are common thieves or pickpockets, and said [police justices] Municipal Court shall commit or bail such persons for trial before the Criminal Court of Baltimore; and if any person in Baltimore City shall be charged on oath before any [station house justice in] judge of the Municipal Court of Baltimore City or before the judge of the Criminal Court of Baltimore with being a common thief or pickpocket, such [justice or] judge shall issue a warrant for the arrest of such person and commit or bail him for trial; and any person convicted in the Criminal Court of Baltimore of being a common thief or common pickpocket shall be fined not exceeding one thousand dollars or be imprisoned in jail or in the house of correction or in the penitentiary for a period not exceeding five years, or be both fined and imprisoned within the limits above prescribed in the discretion of the court; but if any person is arrested or indicted a second time or more for such offense, he shall be convicted only on proof that he has continued to be a common thief or pickpocket since his last conviction or acquittal, and it shall be necessary to charge in the indictment only that the person is a common thief or common pickpocket, and any evidence, either of facts or reputation, proving that such person is habitually and by practice a thief or pickpocket, shall be sufficient for his conviction if satisfactorily establishing the fact to the court or jury by whom he is tried, and there shall be no discretion in any police officer or [police justice] Municipal Court judge to discharge or release any person who is by such proof before them or knowledge on their part shown to be a thief or pickpocket as aforesaid, but such person shall be bailed or committed for trial; and no conviction or charge of or for being a common thief or pickpocket shall prevent any such person from being tried and convicted for any particular act of larceny he may have committed.

§ 13. General provisions.

(a) Jurisdiction and general powers.—The several trial magistrates of the State of Maryland [(except in the City of Baltimore)] are hereby vested with, and shall have hereafter jurisdiction to hear, try and determine all cases involving the charge of any offense, crime or misdemeanor, not punishable by confinement in the penitentiary, as provided in the particular penal statute defining said offense and not as provided in § 706 of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, or involving a felonious intent, which may be committed within their respective counties; and shall have jurisdiction to hear, try and determine all prosecutions or proceedings for the recovery of any penalty for doing or omitting to do any act within their respective counties, the doing of which or the omission to do which, is made punishable under the laws of this State by any pecuniary fine or penalty, or by imprisonment in jail or in the Maryland House of Correction, as provided in the particular penal statute defining said offense and not as provided in § 706 of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, all of which acts or omissions are hereby declared to be criminal offenses; and the said trial magistrates shall have power to issue all process, and to do all acts which may be necessary for the exercise of their said jurisdiction, and may pronounce judgment and sentence in all such cases coming before them, in the same manner, and to the same extent as the circuit courts for said counties could, if such cases had been tried before said courts; provided, however, that the accused, when brought before any such trial magistrate, or being informed by him of his right to trial by jury, freely elects to be tried before such trial magistrate, and provided, further, that a jury trial be not prayed in such case on the part of the State by the State's attorney.

§ 17. [Baltimore City and] Prince George's and Charles Counties—suspension of sentence and costs.

The justices of the peace in and for [Baltimore City (except traffic court magistrates) and] Prince George's and Charles counties shall have and possess power to suspend sentence or costs or both sentence and costs, generally or for a definite time, in any case within their jurisdiction, provided that such suspension is made at the trial of the case and not after judgment is pronounced; and said justices of the peace may make such orders and impose such terms as to costs, recognizance for appearance, or matters relating to the residence or conduct of the convicts as may be deemed proper; and if the convict is a minor, said justices of the peace may also make such orders as to his detention in any care or custody as may be deemed proper.

Area Firemen Aid Dystrophy Fund Drive

The volunteer fire departments of Maryland will assist in the Muscular Dystrophy appeal in November, according to David E. Kirk, this city, first vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association.

Kirk, who will chairman the drive of the volunteers in this area, said letters have been sent to all affiliated fire departments to inform them of the state association's decision.

Co-chairman of the endeavor will be Alvin Rankin, Frostburg, treasurer of the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association. The two-county unit is affiliated with a Muscular Dystrophy chapter which is headed by Virgil A. Parker, chief of the Cumberland Fire Department.

Kirk said the MD drive is conducted in all parts of the country by either paid or volunteer fire companies, and is the only such appeal in which the State Fire Association participates.

Committees will be formed to distribute canisters in business places in the two counties, and to conduct a house-to-house solicitation, Kirk said.

The canisters will be distributed at a meeting of the two-county fire association in Midland on Sunday, October 14. Kirk advised members to take note of the date since it has been advanced so as not to conflict with the World Series.

Members of the state association MD committee, besides Kirk, are Lawrence A. Dorsey, Woodsboro; Edgar Hurlock, Churchill, and Charles Hare, Elliott City.

Garrett Sentencing Slated

Four operators of Garrett County taverns will be sentenced today when they appear in Garrett County Circuit Court, Oakland, before Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill.

The four defendants were found guilty on charges of after-hours sale of beer in jury trials held this week in Oakland.

They are Richard R. Perando, operator of the Maple View Inn, Route 135 near Deer Park; Bruce D. Smouse, operator of the Boone's Sun Deck Inn, McHenry; Leo E. Friend, operator of Stone Tavern, Deep Creek Lake, and Robert F. Thomas, of Deep Creek Lodge, Deep Creek Lake.

An indictment against Franklin Perando , brother of Richard R. Perando, was dismissed prior to the trial of the Maple View Inn case.

All of the other officers listed in the Deep Creek Lake Corporation that operates Deep Creek Lodge were removed from the indictment, with Thomas being the only one tried.

In another trial this week, Gorman Lee Thayer, operator of Sky High Tavern, Deep Creek Lake, entered a plea of guilty to sale of beer on Sunday and was fined $50 by Judge Hamill.

Another indictment of the September grand jury will be placed before the court Tuesday when Robert D. Kemp is tried for the sale and possession of liquor at Bob and Madeline's Tavern, Deer Park. The establishment only has a beer license.

The arrests followed a series of three weekend investigations by special State Police investigators.

Testifying at the trials this week were Corporals Vincent Boose and William E. Seckford. They related evidence obtained during August, which is the peak of the summer recreation period.

Civil Service Unit Rules On City Lists

The City Civil Service Board Tuesday ruled that eligibility lists created by municipal furloughs will be effective for no longer than two years.

The decision was made following discussion in which it was pointed out that eligibility examinations are held every two years for the various city positions.

In effect, the ruling removed four names from an eligibility list for the post of assistant sewage treatment plant operator. The list was created four years ago, and brought up to date by a recent examination.

The board also ruled that Donald Puhalla, a member of the City Fire Department, will complete his probationary period next March 4.

A ruling was asked by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, who explained that Puhalla joined the department on May 9, 1961, but was called into the armed forces last November 4.

The Civil Service Board advanced Puhalla's eligibility by crediting him with some of the time spent in the service of his country.

(1) Suspend the imposition of sentence; [and] or

(2) Place such person on probation without finding a verdict; and

(3) Make such conditions of suspension of sentence and probation as the court may deem proper.

§ 13. General provisions.

(a) Jurisdiction and general powers.—The several trial magistrates of the State of Maryland [(except in the City of Baltimore)] are hereby vested with, and shall have hereafter jurisdiction to hear, try and determine all cases involving the charge of any offense, crime or misdemeanor, not punishable by confinement in the penitentiary, as provided in the particular penal statute defining said offense and not as provided in § 706 of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, or involving a felonious intent, which may be committed within their respective counties; and shall have jurisdiction to hear, try and determine all prosecutions or proceedings for the recovery of any penalty for doing or omitting to do any act within their respective counties, the doing of which or the omission to do which, is made punishable under the laws of this State by any pecuniary fine or penalty, or by imprisonment in jail or in the Maryland House of Correction, as provided in the particular penal statute defining said offense and not as provided in § 706 of Article 27 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, all of which acts or omissions are hereby declared to be criminal offenses; and the said trial magistrates shall have power to issue all process, and to do all acts which may be necessary for the exercise of their said jurisdiction, and may pronounce judgment and sentence in all such cases coming before them, in the same manner, and to the same extent as the circuit courts for said counties could, if such cases had been tried before said courts; provided, however, that the accused, when brought before any such trial magistrate, or being informed by him of his right to trial by jury, freely elects to be tried before such trial magistrate, and provided, further, that a jury trial be not prayed in such case on the part of the State by the State's attorney.

§ 17. [Baltimore City and] Prince George's and Charles Counties—suspension of sentence and costs.

The justices of the peace in and for [Baltimore City (except traffic court magistrates) and] Prince George's and Charles counties shall have and possess power to suspend sentence or costs or both sentence and costs, generally or for a definite time, in any case within their jurisdiction, provided that such suspension is made at the trial of the case and not after judgment is pronounced; and said justices of the peace may make such orders and impose such terms as to costs, recognizance for appearance, or matters relating to the residence or conduct of the convicts as may be deemed proper; and if the convict is a minor, said justices of the peace may also make such orders as to his detention in any care or custody as may be deemed proper.

§ 22. Amendment of information, warrant, docket entries, etc.

In all criminal cases before justices of the peace and before the Municipal Court of Baltimore City, the justice or judge, of his own motion, or on the motion of the State's attorney, may at any time during trial before final judgment amend the information, warrant, his docket entries, name of the offenders or other proceedings in such cases pending before him; and in all criminal trials in the circuit court to which cases have been removed on an application for a jury trial or on an appeal from the judgment of a justice of the peace or said Municipal Court, the court, on motion of the State's attorney, may at any time before the trial or during the progress of trial, before final judgment, amend the information, warrant, docket entries, name of the offender or other proceedings in such case; provided, however, that such amendment does not change the character of the offense or crime with which the accused is charged.

§ 23. Summons or notice to accused.

Every justice of the peace, police justice, judge of the Municipal Court of Baltimore City, or other similar official in those offenses which he has jurisdiction to hear and determine may, in his discretion, issue a summons directed to the proper officer requiring him to summons or give notice to the party whose attendance is required of the nature and circumstances of the supposed offense, and of the day and hour of the appearance of the accused before such court, justice of the peace, police justice or other similar officer; and a copy of every such notice or summons shall be served upon the accused which shall be returnable on a day to be stated in said summons or notice, not exceeding five days from the time of issuing the same; but the invalidity of any such notice or summons or of such service thereof shall not affect the jurisdiction of such court, justice of the peace, police justice or other similar official if the accused party appears and the charge is one of which the official issuing the notice or summons has jurisdiction, and the said notice or summons may be amended.

§ 24. Warrant of arrest.

Nothing in § 23 shall prevent a Municipal Court judge, justice of the peace, police justice or other similar official from issuing a warrant of arrest in the first instance, or at any time after the issuing of the notice or summons mentioned in § 23, and when the warrant of arrest is issued it shall supersede and nullify any outstanding notice or summons issued under the provisions of § 23.

§ 29. Delivery with other papers to clerk in case of vacancy in office—in general.

(a) Delivery within thirty days.—Whenever a justice of the peace shall vacate his office by resignation, removal from office, or the expiration of his official term, he shall deliver his docket, together with all the notes, bonds, accounts and papers in his possession appertaining to judgments or whereupon suits have been entered, to the clerk of the circuit court for the county in which such justice resides, [or to the clerk of the Baltimore City Court, in case such justice resides within the City of Baltimore] within thirty days after such resignation, removal from office, or expiration of official term; and any justice of the peace who shall fail to deliver his docket, as aforesaid (in case the said docket shall not have been unavoidably lost or destroyed), shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be subject to a fine of two hundred dollars or to six months imprisonment in the jail of the county [or city,] at the discretion of the court.

§ 38. Attachment for contempt and fine for failure of witness to appear.

If the witness shall fail to appear on the return day of the summons the justice shall issue an attachment of contempt made returnable before the justice issuing the same who may, at his discretion, fine such defaulting witness in any sum not exceeding three dollars and shall issue execution for such fine and costs; and the same shall be collected and paid to the justice who shall, on or before the first day of January, annually, pay the same to the clerk of the circuit court for the county [, or the clerk of the Superior Court of Baltimore City.]

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 3—It looks very favorable for Tuesday Weld to get the lead in "Of Human Bondage," the Somerset Maugham story that brought Bette Davis fame. I asked Bette if it were true that she had recommended Tuesday over all the young girls to play her part.

"That isn't quite true," she said. "Director Henry Hathaway asked me when we met at a party if I thought Miss Weld could do the difficult role. I told him I thought she could fill all the requirements."

This could be a big step upward for Tuesday, who started out as a baby beatnik, but all her antics didn't hide her acting talent.

I remember when she came to see me for an interview, and said her feet hurt. "You see, I'm not accustomed to shoes," she told me at the time and I gave her a lecture on how not to dress.

Shocking word out of New York is that Magda, the eldest of the glamorous Gabors, Zsa Zsa and Eva, is in Mt. Sinai Hospital paralyzed on her right side following a freak accident. A very upset Eva says, "Magda tripped over her little dog on her Southampton home and struck her head. She was rushed to the hospital immediately and as of today we are hopeful. This is the first time she has been able to move any part of the affected side — her big toe."

Eva has not left the hospital since her sister was admitted. She hopes all their friends will say a little prayer for Magda.

Carol Burnett made no bones about being in love with Joe Hamilton, and if he's ever free, she'll marry him. He's been separated from his wife for seven years. Carol recently divorced Don Soroyan from whom she was separated for three years.

I talked with Carol who told me she's going to be on the Jack Benny TV show and then do a Garry Moore show, which Joe Hamilton produces. After that, Carol does her own TV spec.

She said if she ever goes back to Las Vegas for a nightclub engagement, she'll go to the Sands Hotel. She loved every minute there. She was a great hit and Jack Entratter will be happy to have her back.

The battling Keely Smith and Louis Prima will shortly be able to carry on their alimony and child support battle within shouting distance of each other in New York. Keely opens at the Americana Hotel just about the same time Louis and his new partner Gia Maione move into the Basin Street East.

As usual in fights of this kind, each participant has a "side." Keely says her ex-husband is not keeping up his alimony and child support payments and she filed court action to collect.

Louis says he held up payments because Keely would not give him proper visitation rights to see their children. The smart thing to do is to get together and talk it over quietly while both are in the same town.

A long distance call from Germany came from Joni James and Tony Aquaviva. They were in an Army plane, traveling from Frankfurt to Grafenwohr, when they were ditched in a field. Nobody was hurt, but Joni said she had the scare of a lifetime. They finally got to Grafenwohr where they gave a concert.

The Aquavivas are entertaining the armed forces in Europe. Their next stop is Rome and they have made arrangements to adopt a baby there. They have seen pictures of the baby who they say is a beautiful child but there is still a lot of red tape to be cleared up.

I've said before that Russ Tamblyn was one of the most underrated actors in "West Side Story" and I've just found out that Robert Wise who directed the screen hit which picked off so many oscars for other performers, agrees with me. Now in London casting "The Haunting," Wise has given Russ one of the top roles in the drama. He plays opposite Clare Bloom and Julie Harris.

The part doesn't give Russ a chance to show off his wonderful dancing ability but his director sends word, "Believe me, this time the critics will sit up and notice Russ."

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

While Joan Cohn was arranging a surprise birthday party for Laurence Harvey at the Gresham Hotel in Dublin, she ran into Monsignor Thomas English, well loved in Hollywood, and invited him to tea. She writes that she's bought her first pair of walking boots — to keep her feet warm.

It's rumored that German screen beauty, Romy Schneider, who made her mark with American film fans via "Boccaccio 70," is secretly wed to French actor Alain Delon.

The Ascap boys are meeting at the Beverly Hills Hotel and an interesting piece of business comes up tomorrow night (Thursday) when Stanley Adams, president of Ascap, will present Lawrence Welk with a plaque as a testimonial for using Ascap tunes.

The invitations to the Edwin Pauley's party on Sunday, Oct. 20, are silver edged—they're celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary, and no two people are more loved in Hollywood than Bobbe and Ed.

"Thank you, thank you, thank you," says the telegram director Mervyn Leroy received from Gypsy Rose Lee after she saw "Gypsy." When she went to the premiere, she cried so hard, her sobs were heard by all those around her. Warners can start counting their money — "Gypsy" is a sure hit.

The widow of Billy Wilkerson has been at the Reporter every day. Billy, who realized his span of life was short, gave her instructions on how to run the trade paper, and with the help of the staff, she's done very well.

That's all today, see you tomorrow!

HARRISONBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — A West Virginia woman was one of two persons killed Wednesday night when a car wrecked on Route 11 north of here.

She was identified as Freda V. Hennessey, 31, of Clarksburg. The other victim was Kenneth Burner, 34, of Washington, Pa.

HAPPY LANDING, WALLY—The contrail of astronaut Walter Schirra's Atlas-Mercury rocket is framed by a lei in the hands of Nani Maka, a Tahitian guest at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Nani was demonstrating the warm welcome Schirra would get in the Pacific.

In 1943, Congress passed an act authorizing employers to withhold income tax payments from weekly salary checks of their employes.

The earth tilt amounts to 23½ degrees from an imaginary perpendicular. It always slants in the same direction. Thus the North Pole leans toward the sun during part of the earth's journey and away from it during another part.

IN GOD WE TRUST

NEW MOTTO FOR HOUSE — The motto "In God We Trust," painted in gold letters above the chair of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, now is in place for the few days remaining in the present session of Congress. International Trade Seminar Scheduled November 13

The third Maryland International Trade Seminar will be held at the Emerson Hotel in Baltimore on Tuesday, November 13.

The day-long program, designed to encourage companies throughout the state—both large and small—to enter the foreign trade field for the first time or to accelerate their present overseas sales effort, will be sponsored by the Baltimore Association of Commerce, the Maryland Port Authority and the Sales and Marketing Executives of Baltimore, Inc.

The Association of Commerce and the Post Authority also were sponsors of two previous international trade conferences held in Maryland in recent years, one at College Park in 1959 and the other in Baltimore in 1961.

Both were conducted under titles different than the one scheduled for November 13, but the objective was the same—to expand the economy of Maryland and the United States through increased exports and imports.

The official chairmen of the third Maryland International Trade Seminar will be Henry C. Evans, president of the Association of Commerce; John L. Kronau, chairman of the Port Authority; and Judson G. Dimling, president of the Sales and Marketing Executives.

Arranged as a "down to earth" type of meeting, the sessions will be geared to the international marketability of Maryland industry's products and the best overseas areas in which to find customers, or to locate economical sources of supply in foreign countries.

The seminar also will familiarize Maryland industry with the dollars and cents opportunities afforded by selling more of its products in overseas markets.

Cooperation of chambers of commerce and other trade organizations throughout Maryland will be asked to obtain representation at the seminar of business concerns in their areas.

Morning and afternoon panel discussions will be coordinated with a luncheon at which an expert on the European Common Market will be the principal speaker.

Baltimore businessmen closely associated with foreign trade who will appear on the panel discussions include Geoffrey M. Footner, foreign freight forwarder and custom house broker, and Maxwell R. Sacra, director of export for the Black and Decker Manufacturing Company.

Other participants will come to Baltimore for the meeting from New York, Philadelphia and Washington.

The Third Maryland International Trade Seminar is being arranged in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Commerce and its Philadelphia Regional Export Expansion Council.

Baltimore members of the regional council are Jerold C. Hoffberger, president of the National Brewing Company; Robert A. Kriger, vice president of John H. McGill and Company; John L. Kronau, chairman of the Maryland Port Authority; and Gerald S. Wise, retired group manager of Sears, Roebuck and Company and former president of the Baltimore Association of Commerce.

Lough eulogized Bishop as being "always interested in boys and in boys' activities. He was always willing to help and was always there to help." He spoke to the youths on the importance of facing responsibilities to themselves, their families, and their community in the near future. He pointed out that sports activities are wonderful but that each boy should play hard, learn all that he can, but always play according to the rules. He stressed that one "can be a fine athlete and a fine gentleman at the same time."

Vice-president Alan Paine, who presided at the meeting, introduced Chris Franklin, president of the Student Council at Keyser High School, who explained the work being done by the Council members and students from the government classes to get county residents registered and to the polls on election day. Several girls from the classes pinned the Kiwanians as registered voters.

Other guests were James McIntyre, Clarksburg, and James Stott, Somerset, Pa., who are serving as treasurer and secretary of the Circle K Club at Potomac State College respectively.

A board meeting followed and announcement was made of an inter-club meeting to be held next Thursday at Charles Town.

Farmer Is Honored

Ladies Hear Talk On Mexico

FROSTBURG — The Ladies Aid of Salem United Church of Christ held a dinner meeting at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Porter a recent evening with approximately 32 attending.

A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Alberta Miller at which time plans were outlined for the annual sauerkraut supper to be held November 8 at the church.

Mrs. Elsie Kroll was in charge of the program. Miss Elizabeth Workman spoke on her trip to Mexico this past summer. She was attired in the formal dress of the country and displayed several pictures and articles she had purchased there.

Miss Workman talked on the elementary schools, religion and her visits to an old peoples home and an orphanage.

The Mako shark, which travels at 20 miles an hour, is the fastest member of the shark family, according to the Miami Seaquarium.

John C. Ailes Gives Speech

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—John C. Ailes, editor of the Hampshire Review, spoke to the members of the Woman's Club of Moorefield Monday night on the Constitutional amendments proposed for the General Election this fall.

Mr. Ailes took up each of the five proposals — alcoholic liquor control, state executive and budget, sheriffs' succession, fair representation and legislative — and briefly explained what the amendment was and something of the background of each.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Ailes urged the club members not only to go to the polls on November 6 but to vote on the subject of amendments, whether for or against.

During the business meeting held prior to Mr. Ailes' talk, the club agreed to donate $50 to the Centennial Fund and Mrs. W. J. Teets was appointed chairman of a committee to put on a food sale to help raise this amount. It was also agreed to donate $5 to the CARE literacy program, one of the GFWC projects.

Mrs. James Ansel reviewed some of the work the Fine Arts Committee would be doing while cooperating with the Centennial Arts program. Mrs. M. H. Maxwell stated that Hardy County will select its Centennial Princess November 23 at a public meeting to be held in the Fire Hall. Ten young ladies have shown interest in the contest.

Mrs. Lester Cleaver gave a brief news, or current events, report and Mrs. M. H. Maxwell presented Devotions.

SALISBURY, Pa. — The Annual Fall Educational Workshop Meeting of Somerset Regional Women's Guild of The United Church of Christ will be held in St. John's Church, here on Saturday. The morning session will start promptly at 10 o'clock D.S.T.

Rev. Mary E. Wenck, Berlin, Pa., will give the morning meditation during the opening devotional service led by Mrs. Alvin Niner, Salisbury. Special music will be furnished by the Salisbury Guild Chorus and Mrs. Robert Monn will sing a solo "My God and I."

The morning and afternoon workshop periods will be devoted to studying the use of material for the coming year. They will be conducted by leadership teams from the Regional Guild Executive Board and from local churches. The program book to be presented has been prepared by the Council for Lay Life and Work, United Church of Christ, using the theme Partners With God.

The regional guild represents churches of the United Church of Christ in Somerset County and western Maryland. Farmer Is Honored

John C. Ailes Gives Speech

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—John C. Ailes, editor of the Hampshire Review, spoke to the members of the Woman's Club of Moorefield Monday night on the Constitutional amendments proposed for the General Election this fall.

Mr. Ailes took up each of the five proposals — alcoholic liquor control, state executive and budget, sheriffs' succession, fair representation and legislative — and briefly explained what the amendment was and something of the background of each.

At the conclusion of his talk, Mr. Ailes urged the club members not only to go to the polls on November 6 but to vote on the subject of amendments, whether for or against.

During the business meeting held prior to Mr. Ailes' talk, the club agreed to donate $50 to the Centennial Fund and Mrs. W. J. Teets was appointed chairman of a committee to put on a food sale to help raise this amount. It was also agreed to donate $5 to the CARE literacy program, one of the GFWC projects.

Mrs. James Ansel reviewed some of the work the Fine Arts Committee would be doing while cooperating with the Centennial Arts program. Mrs. M. H. Maxwell stated that Hardy County will select its Centennial Princess November 23 at a public meeting to be held in the Fire Hall. Ten young ladies have shown interest in the contest.

Mrs. Lester Cleaver gave a brief news, or current events, report and Mrs. M. H. Maxwell presented Devotions.

Yankees Take World Series Lead With 6-2 Victory Over Giants

Whitey Ford Goes Distance For New York

Boyer's Home Run Breaks 2-2 Knot In Seventh Inning

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Steady Whitey Ford rose to the occasion once again Thursday, settling down after a shaky start, and won his 10th World Series game for the New York Yankees with a 6-2 decision over the weary San Francisco Giants in the series opener at Candlestick Park.

The stocky 33-year-old left-hander, who has won more series games than any other pitcher, saw his scoreless streak broken after 33 2-3 innings but calmly set down the Giants while scattering 10 hits along the way.

Only Willie Mays, his tormentor in All-Star games, and Jose Pagan gave Ford trouble consistently. Each collected three singles. Against Ford in All-Star and series plays, Mays now has nine hits in 11 at bats.

The American League champions, who have won 19 of 26 previous series, went about this in methodical fashion against the Giants, who Wednesday finished a wild best-of-three playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League pennant.

Clete Boyer, the fielding member of the baseball family from Missouri, contributed the big hit, a 365-foot home run off loser Billy O'Dell that snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh.

Not content with that slender margin, the Yanks kept snapping and snarling away at O'Dell, Don Larsen, and Stu Miller until they had stretched their lead to four runs.

The crowd of 43,852 seemed unusually quiet for a city seeing its first World Series game. Apparently they had celebrated so long into the wee small hours after Wednesday's victory in Los Angeles that they were all worn out.

In sharp contrast to the tired Giants, who had to play 165 games to decide the pennant, the Yanks were well rested. They clinched the flag Sept. 25 and did nothing but tune up for the series until the season ended Sunday.

A light breeze that blew up ruffled Ford's blouse and pantaloons as he came down the stretch for a strong finish. It was his seventh complete series game and his 18th series appearance in all.

Roger Maris, the 61-homer hero of 1961 but a .256 batter this season, gave the Giants a quick taste of Yankee power with a long blast to the right field fence in the first. Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh had singled before Maris laced the ball to the fence. Felipe Alou jumped high into the air and managed to keep the ball from going over the barrier for a homer but couldn't hold it. It bounced away for a two-run double.

The Giants scrambled back with a run in the second on Mays' first single, another single by Jim Davenport and a beautifully-placed drag bunt by Pagan that got Mays home from third.

Ford knew he was in for trouble when the Giants lit into him again in the third. With one out, Chuck Hiller looped a double to left center and Felipe Alou singled to right, moving Hiller to third. Up came Mays and he delivered another single into center that scored Hiller and tied the score at 2-2.

WHITEY AT WORK — Whitey Ford, New York Yankee southpaw, is shown as he threw the final pitch of the first World Series game in San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The pitch was to Giant outfielder Harvey Kuenn. Ford gave up ten hits to the Giants, but the Yanks triumphed, 6-2, to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. (AP Photofax)

Weary Giants Not Ready To Concede To Yankees

Dark Will Bench Orlando Cepeda In Today's Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —That dull thud you just heard was the San Francisco Giants crashing back to reality but a grim-faced Alvin Dark refused to count his team out.

"This club has been bouncing back all year and losing this first game of the World Series doesn't mean a thing," Dark said in the Giants club house just after the Yankees had ground out a routine 6-2 victory.

One thing was certain. Orlando Cepeda will not be in the lineup Friday when the Giants face the Yankees in the second game.

"Orlando is tired," Dark said of his burly first baseman who went hitless in four trips against Whitey Ford and stopped a third-inning rally by grounding into a double play.

"He has played about 260 games this year, including winter ball. That is too much for anyone. It will be McCovey at first, Matty Alou in left field and Tom Haller catching."

All three are left-handed hitters who will be facing Yankee right-hander Ralph Terry.

Not Too Tired

Cepeda, cutting a pineapple into small chunks with a dangerous looking knife, shrugged when told that he would be benched Friday.

Willie Mays made no secret that he is fatigued after the nerve-wracking playoff with Los Angeles for the pennant.

"Did you feel tense for this game?" Mays was asked.

"After that Los Angeles series, man, all the tense is out of me," said Willie who cracked Ford for three singles in four trips and now is nine for 11 against the Yankee southpaw, including All-Star games.

"I think there is no doubt that the club is fatigued — but we're all doing our best. Look at (Billy) O'Dell. He's tired but he didn't gripe. He pitched real good.

"Me? I'm dead."

O'Dell, a loser in his World Series debut, said that Clete Boyer hit a "real good pitch" for the home run that sent the Yankees into a 3-2 lead.

Better Than Pitch

"The pitch was a fast ball, low and away," the lantern-jawed southpaw said. "Boyer was a better hitter than the pitch.'

There were no excuses made for the eighth inning snafu when shortstop Jose Pagan jostled into left-fielder Harvey Kuenn and grabbed Boyer's short fly to let in another New York run.

"Mays called for me to take it and Pagan was calling too," Kuenn said without elaboration.

Kuenn rated Ford, whom he faced a lot in the American League, as looking "quicker than usual. But of course, it's been a while since I've seen him."

Bob Nieman, who has seen a lot of baseball in both leagues, smiled wryly over his mug of beer when asked if the Yankees were like the same old powerhouse.

"When you get a home run from their number eight hitter and you have a guy like Bill Skowron batting seventh, they must be pretty strong," Nieman said. "Well, at least we got Ford out of the way. But we might see him again."

Fight Promoter Hurt In Wreck

MIAMI (UPI) — Chris Dundee, widely known Miami Beach boxing promoter, was hospitalized by an automobile accident Wednesday.

Dundee suffered three broken ribs, a fractured shoulder and scalp lacerations, when his car collided with a concrete-mixer truck. He was admitted to Mt. Sinai Hospital.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Public Service Commission granted the Baltimore & Ohio Railway permission Thursday to discontinue its agency freight station at Reedsville, Preston County. The railway said it was losing money on the agency which will be operated only as a non-agency station restricted to carloads only.

MANILA (UPI) — Gabriel (Flash) Elorde of the Philippines may finally get a crack at Carlos Ortiz' world lightweight crown—early next year.

Negotiations for a title fight between Ortiz and the 26-year-old Elorde, who is world junior lightweight champion, started Thursday.

Kelso Placed Second In TRA Weekly Ratings

Carry Back Still In Top Position

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kelso, making a late bid for an unprecedented third straight horse of the year designation, moved into second place behind Carry Back Thursday in the weekly poll of the racing secretaries of the Thoroughbred Racing Association.

The 5-year old gelding demonstrated his return to form with a solid victory in the Woodward Stakes at Aqueduct last Saturday and as a result moved past Prove It in the older male horse voting. Carry Back, in Paris for Sunday's Prix de L'arc de Triomphe, still holds a commanding lead with 308 points to Kelso's 153.

All of last week's other leaders also retained their positions, although a tight battle developed among the 2-year old colts when Never Bend won the Cowdin Stakes at Belmont last Monday. He now trails the undefeated Candy Spots by 10 points, 275-265.

The top vote-getter was Jaipur with 360 points in the 3-year old colt division. Other leaders were Affectionately (2-year old filly), Cicada (3 - year old filly and Primonetta (older filly or mare).

Miami Meets Florida State In Orange Bowl

GW Tests Furman In Night Contest

By United Press International

Both teams carry unbeaten records into the fray, Miami having upended Pittsburgh and Texas Christian, while the neighboring Seminoles have defeated the Citadel and Furman and played Kentucky to a scoreless deadlock.

Two other games supply the major portion of the Friday schedule. Detroit, with an expert passer in Jerry Gross, faces New Mexico State and George Washington takes on Furman in a Southern Conference contest.

Saturday's attractions include Alabama's steamrolling Crimson Tide against Vanderbilt; Ohio State, top-rated in the first weekly UPI board of coaches' poll, Meeting U.C.L.A.: Texas vs. Tulane; Penn State against Rice; Georgia Tech opposing L.S.U. in the day's nationally televised game (CBS); Army pitted against Michigan; Washington against Kansas State, and Mississippi vs. Houston.

Mira and Florida State quarterback Eddie Feely rank among the national leaders in total offense. The Miami mastermind needs only two more touchdown passes to tie the school record of 13 held by past Hurricane stars Fran Curci and Jack Hackett.

Florida State could be equal to the task of stopping Mira, for the Seminoles have yielded a slim average of 39 yards per game to enemy passers.

Yankees Made 14-5 Favorites To Win Series

NEW YORK (UPI) — Because of Thursday's opening game victory, the New York Yankees were boosted by Broadway oddsmakers to 14-5 favorites, man to man, to beat the San Francisco Giants in the World Series.

Before the opening game in the best-of-seven series, New York had been favored at 7-5. But Thursday night the oddsmakers quoted a professional range of 13 to 5 — 3 to 1, with the man-to-man price in the middle at 14-5.

The Yankees also were made 13-10 man-to-man favorites to win Friday's second game of the Series. The range was 6 to 5 — 7 to 5.

The odds were only 4-1 Thursday night against New York winning the next three games for a four-game sweep of the Series. And the price was 20-1 that the Giants would not take the next four games.

Injury Sidelines WVU Linebacker

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia linebacker John Skinner will not be able to see action in Saturday's game with Boston University because of an ankle injury.

Coach Gene Corum said that Skinner suffered a sprained ankle during drills earlier this week. Corum also said that he has not yet made up his mind whether to start Tom Woodehisck or Eli Kosanovich at right halfback.

Willie And The Wind Get Into Whitey Ford's Hair

Southpaw Says Victory Not One Of Better Games

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Not only Willie Mays, but also the wind got into Whitey Ford's hair Thursday, the Yankee southpaw laughed, adding he'll take the victory gladly even though he "didn't pitch especially good."

Ford, always one to call a spade a spade, admitted his 10-hit, 6-2 triumph over the Giants definitely "was not one of my better games."

Elston Howard, his batterymate, agreed with Whitey but blamed it entirely on the wind at Candlestick Park.

"That wind worked hell with Whitey's curve ball," Howard declared. "It fouls you up at bat, too. You can hit a ball good into the wind and it doesn't go anywhere."

The Giants proved to be more or less what Ford expected, said the veteran little southpaw.

Knows Willie Well

"I knew Willie could hit," he grinned, referring to the three straight hits Mays collected off him. "I faced him in All Star games, so Whitey wasn't exactly startled by his performance against him Thursday.

Principally, though, the wind bothered him more than Mays did.

"A left-hander's curve balls are no good in this park," he said, sipping beer from a can. "The wind blows in from right field and it takes all the stuff off a curve ball."

Ford finally retired Mays on his fourth time up, striking him out on a fast ball to lead off the eighth inning.

Like Ford, Howard also talked mostly about the wind and said he was "surprised" that Clete Boyer's seventh inning belt cleared the left field fence for a home run.

"I thought it was going to be only a double myself," Boyer admitted. "I didn't think it was going over the fence, either.

"I'm not sure what kind of a pitch it was," he added. "All I know is that it was below the belt. I wasn't shooting for a homer; all I wanted to do was get a base hit."

Manager Ralph Houk, who had predicted even before the World Series started that the Yankees would win, took their first triumph against the Giants more or less as a matter of course.

Pitched Good Game

"Ford pitched a helluva ball game," he said (even though Whitey didn't think so) "and the key blows were (Roger) Maris' double in the first inning and Boyer's home run.

"The Giants are a good ball club," Houk said. "Don't forget they had a rough road against the Dodgers in the playoffs and they still may be a little tired. They didn't show it today, though. They played well, I thought."

Most of the post-game crowd centered around Ford, however.

Whitey's string of 33 2-3 consecutive innings without yielding a run in World Series play came to an end in the second inning but Ford said he actually was glad it did.

"I was aware it was over as soon as (Jose) Pagan drove in their first run," he said. "I was happy when the string was ended."

He repeated for the benefit of late-comers that he had pitched better ball games.

"I just hung in there," he said. "I didn't pitch especially good."

The Yankees and Houk, however, were more than satisfied.

Brisk Winds Forecast For Today's Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Brisk winds were forecast Thursday by the Weather Bureau for Friday's second game of the World Series between the Giants and Yankees.

The Weather Bureau predicted westerly winds ranging from 14 to 28 miles an hour for Friday. The bureau also forecast clear skies with temperature high of 76.

The forecast indicated the winds for the second game might be even stronger than those during Thursday's opening game.

AL President Misses Opening Series Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — American League President Joe Cronin missed the opening game of the World Series Thursday to remain at home with his 12-year-old son Kevin, who underwent an emergency appendectomy Tuesday night.

Cronin was in Los Angeles for the second game of the National League playoff when he was summoned home. He will attend the World Series when it resumes in New York on Sunday.

Yankees Take World Series Lead With 6-2 Victory Over Giants

Whitey Ford Goes Distance For New York

Boyer's Home Run Breaks 2-2 Knot In Seventh Inning

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Steady Whitey Ford rose to the occasion once again Thursday, settling down after a shaky start, and won his 10th World Series game for the New York Yankees with a 6-2 decision over the weary San Francisco Giants in the series opener at Candlestick Park.

The stocky 33-year-old left-hander, who has won more series games than any other pitcher, saw his scoreless streak broken after 33 2-3 innings but calmly set down the Giants while scattering 10 hits along the way.

Only Willie Mays, his tormentor in All-Star games, and Jose Pagan gave Ford trouble consistently. Each collected three singles. Against Ford in All-Star and series plays, Mays now has nine hits in 11 at bats.

The American League champions, who have won 19 of 26 previous series, went about this in methodical fashion against the Giants, who Wednesday finished a wild best-of-three playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League pennant.

Clete Boyer, the fielding member of the baseball family from Missouri, contributed the big hit, a 365-foot home run off loser Billy O'Dell that snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh.

Not content with that slender margin, the Yanks kept snapping and snarling away at O'Dell, Don Larsen, and Stu Miller until they had stretched their lead to four runs.

The crowd of 43,852 seemed unusually quiet for a city seeing its first World Series game. Apparently they had celebrated so long into the wee small hours after Wednesday's victory in Los Angeles that they were all worn out.

In sharp contrast to the tired Giants, who had to play 165 games to decide the pennant, the Yanks were well rested. They clinched the flag Sept. 25 and did nothing but tune up for the series until the season ended Sunday.

A light breeze that blew up ruffled Ford's blouse and pantaloons as he came down the stretch for a strong finish. It was his seventh complete series game and his 18th series appearance in all.

Roger Maris, the 61-homer hero of 1961 but a .256 batter this season, gave the Giants a quick taste of Yankee power with a long blast to the right field fence in the first. Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh had singled before Maris laced the ball to the fence. Felipe Alou jumped high into the air and managed to keep the ball from going over the barrier for a homer but couldn't hold it. It bounced away for a two-run double.

The Giants scrambled back with a run in the second on Mays' first single, another single by Jim Davenport and a beautifully-placed drag bunt by Pagan that got Mays home from third.

Ford knew he was in for trouble when the Giants lit into him again in the third. With one out, Chuck Hiller looped a double to left center and Felipe Alou singled to right, moving Hiller to third. Up came Mays and he delivered another single into center that scored Hiller and tied the score at 2-2.

WHITEY AT WORK — Whitey Ford, New York Yankee southpaw, is shown as he threw the final pitch of the first World Series game in San Francisco yesterday afternoon. The pitch was to Giant outfielder Harvey Kuenn. Ford gave up ten hits to the Giants, but the Yanks triumphed, 6-2, to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. (AP Photofax)

Weary Giants Not Ready To Concede To Yankees

Dark Will Bench Orlando Cepeda In Today's Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —That dull thud you just heard was the San Francisco Giants crashing back to reality but a grim-faced Alvin Dark refused to count his team out.

"This club has been bouncing back all year and losing this first game of the World Series doesn't mean a thing," Dark said in the Giants club house just after the Yankees had ground out a routine 6-2 victory.

One thing was certain. Orlando Cepeda will not be in the lineup Friday when the Giants face the Yankees in the second game.

"Orlando is tired," Dark said of his burly first baseman who went hitless in four trips against Whitey Ford and stopped a third-inning rally by grounding into a double play.

"He has played about 260 games this year, including winter ball. That is too much for anyone. It will be McCovey at first, Matty Alou in left field and Tom Haller catching."

All three are left-handed hitters who will be facing Yankee right-hander Ralph Terry.

Not Too Tired

Cepeda, cutting a pineapple into small chunks with a dangerous looking knife, shrugged when told that he would be benched Friday.

Willie Mays made no secret that he is fatigued after the nerve-wracking playoff with Los Angeles for the pennant.

"Did you feel tense for this game?" Mays was asked.

"After that Los Angeles series, man, all the tense is out of me," said Willie who cracked Ford for three singles in four trips and now is nine for 11 against the Yankee southpaw, including All-Star games.

"I think there is no doubt that the club is fatigued — but we're all doing our best. Look at (Billy) O'Dell. He's tired but he didn't gripe. He pitched real good.

"Me? I'm dead."

O'Dell, a loser in his World Series debut, said that Clete Boyer hit a "real good pitch" for the home run that sent the Yankees into a 3-2 lead.

Better Than Pitch

"The pitch was a fast ball, low and away," the lantern-jawed southpaw said. "Boyer was a better hitter than the pitch."

There were no excuses made for the eighth inning snafu when shortstop Jose Pagan jostled into left-fielder Harvey Kuenn and grabbed Boyer's short fly to let in another New York run.

"Mays called for me to take it and Pagan was calling too," Kuenn said without elaboration.

Kuenn rated Ford, whom he faced a lot in the American League, as looking "quicker than usual. But of course, it's been a while since I've seen him."

Bob Nieman, who has seen a lot of baseball in both leagues, smiled wryly over his mug of beer when asked if the Yankees were like the same old powerhouse.

"When you get a home run from their number eight hitter and you have a guy like Bill Skowron batting seventh, they must be pretty strong," Nieman said. "Well, at least we got Ford out of the way. But we might see him again."

Kelso Placed Second In TRA Weekly Ratings

Carry Back Still In Top Position

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kelso, making a late bid for an unprecedented third straight horse of the year designation, moved into second place behind Carry Back Thursday in the weekly poll of the racing secretaries of the Thoroughbred Racing Association.

The 5-year old gelding demonstrated his return to form with a solid victory in the Woodward Stakes at Aqueduct last Saturday and as a result moved past Prove It in the older male horse voting. Carry Back, in Paris for Sunday's Prix de L'arc de Triomphe, still holds a commanding lead with 308 points to Kelso's 153.

All of last week's other leaders also retained their positions, although a tight battle developed among the 2-year old colts when Never Bend won the Cowdin Stakes at Belmont last Monday. He now trails the undefeated Candy Spots by 10 points, 275-265.

The top vote-getter was Jaipur with 360 points in the 3-year old colt division. Other leaders were Affectionately (2-year old filly), Cicada (3-year old filly and Primonetta (older filly or mare).

Miami Meets Florida State In Orange Bowl

GW Tests Furman In Night Contest

By United Press International

Both teams carry unbeaten records into the fray, Miami having upended Pittsburgh and Texas Christian, while the neighboring Seminoles have defeated the Citadel and Furman and played Kentucky to a scoreless deadlock.

Two other games supply the major portion of the Friday schedule. Detroit, with an expert passer in Jerry Gross, faces New Mexico State and George Washington takes on Furman in a Southern Conference contest.

Saturday's attractions include Alabama's steamrolling Crimson Tide against Vanderbilt; Ohio State, top-rated in the first weekly UPI board of coaches' poll, Meeting U.C.L.A.: Texas vs. Tulane; Penn State against Rice; Georgia Tech opposing L.S.U. in the day's nationally televised game (CBS); Army pitted against Michigan; Washington against Kansas State, and Mississippi vs. Houston.

Mira and Florida State quarterback Eddie Feely rank among the national leaders in total offense. The Miami mastermind needs only two more touchdown passes to tie the school record of 13 held by past Hurricane stars Fran Curci and Jack Hackett.

Florida State could be equal to the task of stopping Mira, for the Seminoles have yielded a slim average of 39 yards per game to enemy passers.

Yankees Made 14-5 Favorites To Win Series

NEW YORK (UPI) — Because of Thursday's opening game victory, the New York Yankees were boosted by Broadway oddsmakers to 14-5 favorites, man to man, to beat the San Francisco Giants in the World Series.

Before the opening game in the best-of-seven series, New York had been favored at 7-5. But Thursday night the oddsmakers quoted a professional range of 13 to 5 — 3 to 1, with the man-to-man price in the middle at 14-5.

The Yankees also were made 13-10 man-to-man favorites to win Friday's second game of the Series. The range was 6 to 5 — 7 to 5.

The odds were only 4-1 Thursday night against New York winning the next three games for a four-game sweep of the Series. And the price was 20-1 that the Giants would not take the next four games.

Injury Sidelines WVU Linebacker

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia linebacker John Skinner will not be able to see action in Saturday's game with Boston University because of an ankle injury.

Coach Gene Corum said that Skinner suffered a sprained ankle during drills earlier this week. Corum also said that he has not yet made up his mind whether to start Tom Woodehisck or Eli Kosanovich at right halfback.

Fort Hill Hosts Frederick, Explorers Journey To Keyser Today

Beall-Romney Game Features PVC Schedule

Garrett County Rivals Clash At Oakland Tonight

Fort Hill's unbeaten Sentinels may face their toughest test of the season tonight when they play host to a strong Frederick team at the Stadium. Kickoff time for the Cumberland Valley Athletic League clash is 8 p.m.

The visiting Cadets sport a 2-1 record, with their only loss coming by the margin of the point after touchdown. Wheaton High School of Montgomery County, coached by ex-Fort Hill mentor Bill Hahn, nipped Frederick 7-6 two weeks ago.

Last week, the Cadets displayed awesome power against North Hagerstown as they ran the Hubs into the ground, 48-0. Frederick beat Waynesboro (Pa.), 21-6, in its opener.

Fort Hill, on the other hand, has been having a bit of trouble the past several weekends. Last Friday the Sentinels got an unexpected scare from Beall before finally beating the Mountaineers, 14-7, and the week before topped underdog Martinsburg by one touchdown, 14-7. They've also beaten LaSalle (48-7) and Bell Vocational of Washington, D. C. (35-12).

Both 1-0 In CVAL

Each team has a 1-0 mark in CVAL competition. South Hagerstown (2-0) is in first place in the circuit, and will be out to hold the lead tomorrow night against Allegany. That game will be played in Hagerstown.

One other CVAL game is on tap tonight. Martinsburg, 1-2-1 overall and 0-2-1 in the league, journeys to Hagerstown for an 8 p.m. game with North High. The Hubs are winless in four starts and have managed to score only 12 points, while having 121 racked up against them.

Keyser High School's Golden Tornado, fresh from a 33-28 victory over Allegany, will be out to extend its winning streak over LaSalle today at Stayman Field, where the two rivals of long standing will meet at 1:30 p.m.

Won Seven Straight

Not since 1954, when the Explorers won a 7-6 squeaker, has LaSalle beaten Keyser. Last year the Tornado scored a 19-0 win to make it seven in a row.

The Explorers are 1-1-1 so far this season, while Keyser has reeled off three straight wins after dopping its opener to Martinsburg, 13-7.

Three other Potomac Valley Conference games are scheduled for this afternoon. The main attraction is at Romney, where Beall High School's Mountaineers (2-0 in the conference and 3-1 overall) tangle with the Romney Pioneers, who are undefeated in four starts and have won a pair of PVC encounters.

In other conference action, Petersburg is at Ridgeley and Franklin plays host to Moorefield.

Southern Has Edge

Garrett County's two high schools — Northern of Accident and Southern of Oakland — will meet on the gridiron for the seventh time tonight. The series stands at 4-2 in Southern's favor. Tonight's contest at Oakland will get under way at 8:30 p.m. (EDT).

Other games of area interest include Portage at Bedford, Shepherdstown at Berkeley Springs, Mountaineer at Fairview, Waynesboro at Westminster and Hillsboro at Circleville.

Sonny Liston Opposed To Return Bout Clause

Golfing with ALEX MORRISON

Teacher of Champions

The putting of Arnold Palmer and other players is good only when the entire sole of the clubhead rests on the ground in addressing the ball.

ARNOLD PALMER'S record victory in the 1962 British Open marked the return of his fine putting touch. Obviously, his brilliant scoring over the difficult Troon course called for extra good putting. But, this came through something more tangible than either touch or inspiration.

Shortly before the championship, Arnold, playing at the Riviera course near Los Angeles, complained, "I've been putting badly for months."

I said, "No wonder, you are again addressing the ball with the heel of the sole a half inch off the ground."

He wasn't aware of reverting to this old habit but, immediately began soling the club properly and sinking putts up to 20 feet.

I added, "It is impossible for any player to putt good without resting the entire sole on the ground at address, also keeping the chin properly pointed until well after striking the ball."

Believes Losing Fighters Should Start At Bottom

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (UPI)— Heavyweight champion Sonny Liston said Thursday he does not want a "return bout" clause in the contract in the event of a second match with Floyd Patterson.

"I believe once a champ is defeated he should start at the bottom and work his way up again," Liston said at a luncheon kicking off a benefit fight program for an orphanage. "I am strictly against return fight clauses."

Liston said should Patterson decide against a return bout he would like to meet light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson, a fellow Philadelphian, because "I've already beaten the top heavies."

Johnson's manager, Pat Oliveri said Liston's statemen "was the best news I've heard in a long time."

Liston, who took the title from Patterson in Chicago Sept. 25, appeared at a luncheon for the St. Joseph's in-the-Orphanage, Egg Harbor, N.J.

The usually surly Liston was all smiles as he met priests from the institution and several orphans in connection with a benefit fight show to be staged here Oct. 22. Liston also will attend the fight show.

Liston who has a long police record, received a standing ovation from the 200 persons when he arrived.

Al Klein, members of the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission, said he was "well pleased" with the way Liston is conducting himself.

Ole Miss Moves Homecoming To Jackson Field

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Acting on Army orders, the University of Mississippi moved its Saturday homecoming game with the University of Houston Thursday to prevent further disorders as a result of Negro James H. Meredith's admittance to the Ole Miss campus.

The decision ended uncertainty as to whether the game between the Southeastern Conference power and Houston, an unbeaten independent, would be played.

The change in sites to Jackson's Memorial Stadium was announced by the University of Mississippi Chancellor J.D. Williams:

Gov. Ross Barnett said ways have been found to transport Ole Miss students to the game at Jackson, 170 miles from Oxford. Barnett said funds for transportation would not come from the state treasury, but would be provided from private sources.

Mississippi has defeated Memphis State and Kentucky in its opening games. Houston scored victories over Baylor and Texas A&M.

Fort Hill Hosts Frederick, Explorers Journey To Keyser Today

Beall-Romney Game Features PVC Schedule

Garrett County Rivals Clash At Oakland Tonight

Fort Hill's unbeaten Sentinels may face their toughest test of the season tonight when they play host to a strong Frederick team at the Stadium. Kickoff time for the Cumberland Valley Athletic League clash is 8 p.m.

The visiting Cadets sport a 2-1 record, with their only loss coming by the margin of the point after touchdown. Wheaton High School of Montgomery County, coached by ex-Fort Hill mentor Bill Hahn, nipped Frederick 7-6 two weeks ago.

Last week, the Cadets displayed awesome power against North Hagerstown as they ran the Hubs into the ground, 48-0. Frederick beat Waynesboro (Pa.), 21-6, in its opener.

Fort Hill, on the other hand, has been having a bit of trouble the past several weekends. Last Friday the Sentinels got an unexpected scare from Beall before finally beating the Mountaineers, 14-7, and the week before topped underdog Martinsburg by one touchdown, 14-7. Bobcat Booters Wade To Win Over Salisbury

Score 3-2 Victory On Sloppy Field

On a field described by veteran Frostburg State soccer Ken Babcock as "one of the worst I've ever seen," the Bobcat booters waded to a 3-2 triumph over Salisbury (Md.) State Teacher College yesterday afternoon at Salisbury.

The sloppy victory was the second in a row for the Bobcats, who lost their opening game to the Pitt Panthers. They meet Slippery Rock State College tomorrow morning at 10 in the Pennsylvania community.

Roy Beard, on an assist from Sam Holliday, scored the first goal for FSTC with 10:30 gone in the opening period. After A. Smith's unassisted goal for Salisbury tied the score, fullback George Lauder connected on a penalty kick late in the quarter.

Frostburg's final goal came in the third frame, when Sam DeBone tallied on a cross from Wayne Wharton. Salisbury wound up the scoring in the last quarter on a field goal by Morris.

Bobcat goalkeeper John Nussear was credited with five saves and his understudy Wood made three.

The winners decisively outshot the Salisbury booters in the battle which found players from both sides on the ground rather than on their feet most of the afternoon.

The lineups:

Pos.	Frostburg (3)	Salisbury (2)
G	Nussear	Davis
RF	Winner	Wilson
LF	Lander	Towers

Injured Boxer Still In Coma

Doctors Hopeful About Lavorante

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fighter Alejandro Lavorante remained in a light coma Thursday but doctors continued to hope the 25-year-old Argentine would regain consciousness within several days.

Lavorante, who was carried from the ring Sept. 21 when knocked out by little known Johnny Riggins of San Francisco, showed signs of improvement during the past few days.

Doctors said he responded "briskly" to stimuli and "wanted to beak through the coma but couldn't yet."

Lavorante underwent two delicate brain operations because of cerebral hemorrhaging and swelling of the brain. Dr. J. DeWitt Fox, who performed the surgery, said swelling of the brain was "subsiding nicely."

The handsome Argentine has been unconscious since he was carried from the ring in a stretcher last month.

Two Games Set Today In WMI Soccer League

Bruce High School, idle Tuesday when the five-team WMI Soccer League opened its 36th campaign, will get into action today. The Bulldogs will play Valley at Westernport, and Beall will travel to Mt. Savage this afternoon.

The Bulldogs, coached by Leonard Ritchie, have won more championships than any other school in the league's long history. They first copped the crown in 1927, and since then have annexed ten more. The last time they were on top was 1958, when they shared the title with Valley.

Defending champion Valley was held to a 2-2 tie by Mt. Savage in its opener Tuesday at Lonaconing. In Tuesday's other contest, Beall defeated Flintstone by a 4-2 score. The latter team is idle today.

WBA Rates Eddie Machen Number One Contender

Association Names Ex-Champ Floyd Patterson Second

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., was named top contender Thursday for Sonny Liston's heavyweight crown by the World Boxing Association.

Machen is placed one notch above ex-champion Floyd Patterson of Scarsdale, N.Y., and two above Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in the WBA's latest ratings. Liston was named "Boxer of the Month."

The designation of Machen as top contender by the powerful WBA may force champion Liston and ex-champ Patterson to speed up plans for their contracted return title fight.

Tony Petronella, chairman of the World Boxing Association Rating Committee, suggested Thursday that an elimination tourney should be staged to determine heavyweight champion Sonny Liston's next opponent.

"Floyd Patterson's miserable showing against Liston should force Patterson to prove himself against the other contenders before any second match with Liston," Petronella said.

Petronella said the rating committee was in accord with the tournament idea, which would create renewed interest in the heavyweight division.

As a starter, Petronella said the Oct. 23 Archie Moore-Cassius Clay could serve as the first elimination bout. Matches involving top-rated Ingemar Johansson, Zora Folley, Eddie Machen and Cleveland Williams could provide the balance of the testing grounds for a Liston opponent.

Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore., was named top contender for the vacant new junior middleweight title, with Joey Giambra of San Francisco, second.

Other new top contenders are Louis Molina of San Jose, Calif., junior welterweight; Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., lightweight; Ismael Laguna, Panama, bantamweight, and Salvatore Burruni of Italy, flyweight.

Terrapins Practice In Cole Field House

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland football team reviewed offensive and defensive maneuvers Thursday in a workout forced indoors by a heavy rain.

The Terps also worked on punting and kickoff coverage during the 1½-hour workout, held in huge Cole Field House. The team leaves Friday morning for Raleigh, N. C., where it meets N. C. State Saturday.

Coach Tom Nugent said he was pleased with the week's workouts. He named guard Walter Rock and tackle Dave Crossan, both seniors, as co-captains for the game Saturday afternoon.

Levittown May Get Franchise In EBL

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI) — The president of the Eastern Professional Basketball League indicated Thursday that Levittown, Pa., may get a franchise for the 1962-63 season.

Harry Rudolph said although the seven-team league had adopted its schedule for the coming year, the possibility of admitting Levittown would be brought up at the next meeting of the board of governors. He said the meeting would be held "in the near future."

Levittown has a 3,500-seat gym available. Rudolph said he would propose stocking the Levittown club with players drafted from other teams in the league.

Ohio State Asks Jack Nicklaus To Withdraw

Golfer Would Miss Too Many Classes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) —National Open champion Jack Nicklaus withdrew from Ohio State University Thursday less than two weeks after beginning the fall quarter at the request of university officials.

Nicklaus, who withdrew from the professional golf tour to finish requirements for a bachelor's degree at Ohio State, said he was asked to drop out because he would miss about three weeks of classes in the 12-week quarter.

"I don't like to be told I can't go to school," Nicklaus said. "I've missed classes to play golf every quarter I've been at Ohio State and I feel I could meet my commitments and still do the required work."

Dean J. R. McCoy of the College of Commerce said he made the decision after conferring with Nicklaus' instructors.

"Their judgment was that he could not miss that much class time and still complete the requirements satisfactorily," McCoy said. "He can withdraw in good standing and come back whenever he has time."

Nicklaus said he intended to miss two weeks of school for a tour of Australia and another week for the filming of a television golf show.

Bobcat Booters Wade To Win Over Salisbury

Score 3-2 Victory On Sloppy Field

On a field described by veteran Frostburg State soccer Ken Babcock as "one of the worst I've ever seen," the Bobcat booters waded to a 3-2 triumph over Salisbury (Md.) State Teacher College yesterday afternoon at Salisbury.

The sloppy victory was the second in a row for the Bobcats, who lost their opening game to the Pitt Panthers. They meet Slippery Rock State College tomorrow morning at 10 in the Pennsylvania community.

Roy Beard, on an assist from Sam Holliday, scored the first goal for FSTC with 10:30 gone in the opening period. After A. Smith's unassisted goal for Salisbury tied the score, fullback George Lauder connected on a penalty kick late in the quarter.

Frostburg's final goal came in the third frame, when Sam DeBone tallied on a cross from Wayne Wharton. Salisbury wound up the scoring in the last quarter on a field goal by Morris.

Bobcat goalkeeper John Nussear was credited with five saves and his understudy Wood made three.

The winners decisively outshot the Salisbury booters in the battle which found players from both sides on the ground rather than on their feet most of the afternoon.

The lineups:

Pos.	Frostburg (3)	Salisbury (2)
G	Nussear	Davis
RF	Winner	Wilson
LF	Lauder	Towers
RH	Hesterburg	Lord
CH	Broadwater	J. Barnes
LH	Brown	E. Barnes
OR	Holliday	Clendaniel
IR	Rinker	Jefferson
CF	Beard	H. Smith
IL	Chaney	Morris
OL	Grove	A. Smith

Score by periods:

Frostburg	2	0	1	0	—3
Salisbury	1	0	0	1	—2

Field Goals: Frostburg—Beard, DeBone. Salisbury—A. Smith, Morris.
Penalty Goal: Frostburg—Lauder.
Substitutes: Frostburg—DeBone, Garon, Wharton, McKinney, Boehn, Wood.

Injured Boxer Still In Coma

Doctors Hopeful About Lavorante

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Fighter Alejandro Lavorante remained in a light coma Thursday but doctors continued to hope the 25-year-old Argentine would regain consciousness within several days.

Lavorante, who was carried from the ring Sept. 21 when knocked out by little known Johnny Riggins of San Francisco, showed signs of improvement during the past few days.

Doctors said he responded "briskly" to stimuli and "wanted to beak through the coma but couldn't yet."

Lavorante underwent two delicate brain operations because of cerebral hemorrhaging and swelling of the brain. Dr. J. DeWitt Fox, who performed the surgery said swelling of the brain was "subsiding nicely."

The handsome Argentine has been unconscious since he was carried from the ring in a stretcher last month.

Two Games Set Today In WMI Soccer League

Bruce High School, idle Tuesday when the five-team WMI Soccer League opened its 36th campaign, will get into action today. The Bulldogs will play Valley at Westernport, and Beall will travel to Mt. Savage this afternoon.

The Bulldogs, coached by Leonard Ritchie, have won more championships than any other school in the league's long history. They first copped the crown in 1927, and since then have annexed ten more. The last time they were on top was 1958, when they shared the title with Valley.

Defending champion Valley was held to a 2-2 tie by Mt. Savage in its opener Tuesday at Lonaconing. In Tuesday's other contest, Beall defeated Flintstone by a 4-2 score. The latter team is idle today.

WBA Rates Eddie Machen Number One Contender

Association Names Ex-Champ Floyd Patterson Second

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., was named top contender Thursday for Sonny Liston's heavyweight crown by the World Boxing Association.

Machen is placed one notch above ex-champion Floyd Patterson of Scarsdale, N.Y., and two above Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in the WBA's latest ratings. Liston was named "Boxer of the Month."

The designation of Machen as top contender by the powerful WBA may force champion Liston and ex-champ Patterson to speed up plans for their contracted return title fight.

Tony Petronella, chairman of the World Boxing Association Rating Committee, suggested Thursday that an elimination tourney should be staged to determine heavyweight champion Sonny Liston's next opponent.

"Floyd Patterson's miserable showing against Liston should force Patterson to prove himself against the other contenders before any second match with Liston," Petronella said.

Petronella said the rating committee was in accord with the tournament idea, which would create renewed interest in the heavyweight division.

As a starter, Petronella said the Oct. 23 Archie Moore-Cassius Clay could serve as the first elimination bout. Matches involving top-rated Ingemar Johansson, Zora Folley, Eddie Machen and Cleveland Williams could provide the balance of the testing grounds for a Liston opponent.

Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore., was named top contender for the vacant new junior middleweight title, with Joey Giambra of San Francisco, second.

Other new top contenders are Louis Molina of San Jose, Calif., junior welterweight; Kenny Lane of Muskegon, Mich., lightweight; Ismael Laguna, Panama, bantamweight, and Salvatore Burruni of Italy, flyweight.

Terrapins Practice In Cole Field House

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland football team reviewed offensive and defensive maneuvers Thursday in a workout forced indoors by a heavy rain.

The Terps also worked on punting and kickoff coverage during the 1½-hour workout, held in huge Cole Field House. The team leaves Friday morning for Raleigh, N. C., where it meets N. C. State Saturday.

Coach Tom Nugent said he was pleased with the week's workouts. He named guard Walter Rock and tackle Dave Crossan, both seniors, as co-captains for the game Saturday afternoon.

Levittown May Get Franchise In EBL

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI) — The president of the Eastern Professional Basketball League indicated Thursday that Levittown, Pa., may get a franchise for the 1962-63 season.

Harry Rudolph said although the seven-team league had adopted its schedule for the coming year, the possibility of admitting Levittown would be brought up at the next meeting of the board of governors. He said the meeting would be held "in the near future."

Levittown has a 3,500-seat gym available. Rudolph said he would propose stocking the Levittown club with players drafted from other teams in the league.

Ohio State Asks Jack Nicklaus To Withdraw

Golfer Would Miss Too Many Classes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI) —National Open champion Jack Nicklaus withdrew from Ohio State University Thursday less than two weeks after beginning the fall quarter at the request of university officials.

Nicklaus, who withdrew from the professional golf tour to finish requirements for a bachelor's degree at Ohio State, said he was asked to drop out because he would miss about three weeks of classes in the 12-week quarter.

"I don't like to be told I can't go to school," Nicklaus said. "I've missed classes to play golf every quarter I've been at Ohio State and I feel I could meet my commitments and still do the required work."

Dean J. R. McCoy of the College of Commerce said he made the decision after conferring with Nicklaus' instructors.

"Their judgment was that he could not miss that much class time and still complete the requirements satisfactorily," McCoy said. "He can withdraw in good standing and come back whenever he has time."

Nicklaus said he intended to miss two weeks of school for a tour of Australia and another week for the filming of a television golf show.

Motor Sales Pace Mild Recovery Of Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks extended their recovery Thursday, finishing at the best level of the day in the averages under the leadership of motor stocks, glamor electronics and specialties.

Turnover Thursday tailed off to the lowest level since Sept. 10 totaling 2,530,000 shares against 2,610,000 in the prior session. Of the 1962 issues traded, 583 advanced and 329 declined. New highs for 1962 numbered 3, new lows 26.

In the Dow-Jones averages, industrials gained 3.89 to 582.41, rails rose 0.35 to 115.96 and utilities added 0.55 at 118.14. Standard & Poor's inclusive 500 stock index climbed 0.54.

Korvette was by far the most active issue, losing 2⅞. Shortly after the company's report for the fiscal year indicated an earning decline in the final quarter, trading was temporarily suspended to match orders and when the issue reopened it was down 3⅜ at the day's low.

It was followed in turnover by Polaroid, up 3¾, Firestone up ⅛—the volume largely comprising a single distribution — General Motors up 1⅜, and Sperry Rand up ⅛.

Ford and Chrysler roughly matched GM's gain, the spurt in the group apparently mirroring the favorable tenor of sales of 1963 models during their introductory period. American Motors and Studebaker picked up around ½ apiece.

Steel shares idled narrowly, mirroring worries about Kaiser's West Coast price cuts and fears of dividend slashes later this month by Bethlehem and U. S. Steel. Du Pont climbed 2½ as most other chemicals firmed along with the international oils.

As usual electronic and growth specialties were volatile. IBM jumped 9¾, Xerox scored for 5 and Litton, Texas Instruments, Fairchild Camera and Beckman at least 2.

On the American Exchange prices firmed on a turnover of 760,000 shares against 720,000 on Wednesday. Canada Southern Petroleum, up ½ to 4⅛ on 49,000 shares was the most active AMEX issue.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grain futures moved unevenly Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade and finally wound up with irregular price changes.

Wheat closed off ¼ to up 1⅜, corn off ¼ to up ⅝, oats unchanged to up⅜, rye off ⅜ to 1⅝, soybeans off 1. to up ½.

The market displayed little sense of direction. Prices opened mostly higher, eased during the first hour, rallied around noon and then proceeded aimlessly until the final bell.

Nearby wheat deliveries advanced on short covering and buying by mills and other commercial brokers. Selling was mixed. Reports from the Southwest that country offerings may increase on further price markups tempered interest.

Tunisia brought around 355,000 bushels of yellow hard wheat, bringing its purchases in the last two days to 1,880,000 bushels. Offerings on a large quantity of wheat will go to India Friday.

Local demand rallied nearby corn prices for a time. A continuing strong cash market bolstered futures. The key number 2 yellow grade sold at 8 cents above December.

Dealers said new crop corn has not arrived in much volume yet, partly due to a shortage of box cars. Holland and Britain each bought 400,000 bushels of corn, according to export advices.

Nearby oats firmed after buying by an industry. Rye prices lost about a cent.

Soybeans advanced at the start and then grew mixed. Oil futures held early gains, but meal prices also eased. Dealers attributed some of the selling to a return of favorable harvest weather.

Outside markets were also mixed.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Motor Sales Pace Mild Recovery Of Stocks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks extended their recovery Thursday, finishing at the best level of the day in the averages under the leadership of motor stocks, glamor electronics and specialties.

Turnover Thursday tailed off to the lowest level since Sept. 10 totaling 2,530,000 shares against 2,610,000 in the prior session. Of the 1962 issues traded, 583 advanced and 329 declined. New highs for 1962 numbered 3, new lows 26,

In the Dow-Jones averages, industrials gained 3.89 to 582.41, rails rose 0.35 to 115.96 and utilities added 0.55 at 118.14. Standard & Poor's inclusive 500 stock index climbed 0.54.

Korvette was by far the most active issue, losing 2⅞. Shortly after the company's report for the fiscal year indicated an earning decline in the final quarter, trading was temporarily suspended to match orders and when the issue reopened it was down 3⅜ at the day's low.

It was followed in turnover by Polaroid, up 3¾, Firestone up ⅛—the volume largely comprising a single distribution — General Motors up 1⅜, and Sperry Rand up ⅛.

Ford and Chrysler roughly matched GM's gain, the spurt in the group apparently mirroring the favorable tenor of sales of 1963 models during their introductory period. American Motors and Studebaker picked up around ½ apiece.

Steel shares idled narrowly, mirroring worries about Kaiser's West Coast price cuts and fears of dividend slashes later this month by Bethlehem and U. S. Steel. Du Pont climbed 2½ as most other chemicals firmed along with the international oils.

As usual electronic and growth specialties were volatile. IBM jumped 9¾, Xerox scored for 5 and Litton. Texas Instruments, Fairchild Camera and Beckman at least 2.

On the American Exchange prices firmed on a turnover of 760,000 shares against 720,000 on Wednesday. Canada Southern Petroleum, up ½ to 4⅛ on 49,000 shares was the most active AMEX issue.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grain futures moved unevenly Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade and finally wound up with irregular price changes.

Wheat closed off ¼ to up 1⅜, corn off ¼ to up ⅝, oats unchanged to up⅜, rye off ⅜ to 1⅝, soybeans off 1. to up ½.

The market displayed little sense of direction. Prices opened mostly higher, eased during the first hour, rallied around noon and then proceeded aimlessly until the final bell.

Nearby wheat deliveries advanced on short covering and buying by mills and other commercial brokers. Selling was mixed. Reports from the Southwest that country offerings may increase on further price markups tempered interest.

Tunisia brought around 355,000 bushels of yellow hard wheat, bringing its purchases in the last two days to 1,880,000 bushels. Offerings on a large quantity of wheat will go to India Friday.

Local demand rallied nearby corn prices for a time. A continuing strong cash market bolstered futures. The key number 2 yellow grade sold at 8 cents above December.

Dealers said new crop corn has not arrived in much volume yet, partly due to a shortage of box cars. Holland and Britain each bought 400,000 bushels of corn, according to export advices.

Nearby oats firmed after buying by an industry. Rye prices lost about a cent.

Soybeans advanced at the start and then grew mixed. Oil futures held early gains, but meal prices also eased. Dealers attributed some of the selling to a return of favorable harvest weather.

Outside markets were also mixed.

The Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father George B. Jones, who passed away Oct. 5, 1961.

Hold him gently, Jesus.
He was very tired a year ago today.
He tried so hard to hide the pain
And kept away the tears.
You know how much he suffered, Lord.
You know how many heartaches
Were hidden with a smile.
He knows how much we miss him since he's gone.
So hold him gently, Jesus
And we are sure you'll say
The cross he bore so patiently
Became his cross one year ago today.

Sadly missed by Wife, Nellie and Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mary Glantzer, who passed away 10 years ago today, October 5, 1952.

She was just a plain dear Mother,
With a loving smile each day;
Always trying to do for us
As she journeyed on her way.
To those who have a Mother
Treat her with love and care;
You will never know her value
Until you see the vacant Chair.

Sadly missed by her loving son, daughters, and grandchildren.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved sister, Nettie J. Kiddy.

We especially thank Rev. John R. McClain and Rev. George A. Roberts, the pallbearers, those who sent flowers and those who donated the use of cars for the funeral.

Brother and Sisters

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so thoughtful and kind during our bereavement, the death of our brother William P. Geary. We especially thank those who sent flowers and loaned cars for the funeral.

The Family

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father George B. Jones, who passed away Oct. 5, 1961.

Hold him gently, Jesus.
He was very tired a year ago today.
He tried so hard to hide the pain
And kept away the tears.
You know how much he suffered, Lord.
You know how many heartaches
Were hidden with a smile.
He knows how much we miss him since he's gone.
So hold him gently, Jesus
And we are sure you'll say
The cross he bore so patiently
Became his cross one year ago today.
Sadly missed by Wife, Nellie and Children and Grandchildren

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mary Glantzer, who passed away 10 years ago today, October 5, 1952.

She was just a plain dear Mother,
With a loving smile each day;
Always trying to do for us
As she journeyed on her way.
To those who have a Mother
Treat her with love and care;
You will never know her value
Until you see the vacant Chair.
Sadly missed by her loving son, daughters, and grandchildren.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo!
No more on life's parade shall meet
The brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

No rumor of the foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind,
Nor troubled thought at midnight haunts
Of loved one left behind;
No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms,
No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms.

Their shivered swords are red with rust,
Their plumed heads are bowed,
Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their martial shroud—
And plenteous funeral tears have washed
The red stains from each brow,
And the proud forms by battle gashed
Are free from anguish now.

The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
The bugle's stirring blast,
The charge, — the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout, are passed;
Nor war's wild notes, nor glory's peal
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that nevermore shall feel
The rapture of the fight.

Like the fierce Northern hurricane
That sweeps his great plateau,
Flushed with the triumph yet to gain,
Come down the serried foe,
Who heard the thunder of the fray
Break o'er the field beneath,
Knew well the watchword of that day
Was "Victory or death!"

No. 171 The man who wrote the most quoted of verses associated with Memorial, or Decoration, Day was well known as their writer before he became a Confederate officer. He, Theodore O'Hara, son of an emigrant from Ireland to Kentucky, was inspired to write the poem for ceremonies attending the burial of some Mexican War dead in the cemetery at Frankfort, Ky. O'Hara, a captain in the forces led by Winfield Scott in 1847, had been among the wounded.

He was wounded again with the Lopez volunteers who tried to liberate Cuba from Spanish oppression, and he also accompanied William Walker's filibuster soldiers-of-fortune in Central America.

Upon joining the Rebels in 1861, O'Hara was assigned to command defenses at Mobile Bay, saw service later as staff officer with A. S. Johnston and J. C. Breckenridge. He survived the conflict, to die of fever in 1867. Meanwhile, quotations from his verses (left) had been carved upon military monuments internationally.

—CLARK KINNAIRD

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood you gave—
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave.
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While Fame her record keeps,
Or honor points the hallowed spot
Where valor proudly sleeps.

Yon marble minstrel's voiceless stone
In deathless song shall tell,
When many a vanquished year hath flown,
The story how ye fell.
Nor wreck nor change, nor winter's blight
Nor time's remorseless doom,
Can dim one ray of holy light
That gilds your glorious tomb.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 172 The ringing lines of "The Conquered Banner," a poem evocative of the "Lost Cause" to be found in Hartnett Kane's "The Romantic South" and other anthologies of Confederate States sentiment, were the composition of a Roman Catholic priest, Father Abram Ryan, who resigned his teaching post at St. John's College in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1861, to go South with younger brother David. They were natives of Virginia.

The two joined James Ewell Brown (Jeb) Stuart's cavalry, Father Ryan as a chaplain, David as a trooper. The latter was killed in action at Chancellorsville. The priest's health, never robust, broke down under the rigors of field service, and he went to a military hospital. After his recovery, he took charge of a mission near Nashville.

There, when he received the news in April 1865 of the surrender of Lee, he was moved to write the seven verses that concluded, "Furl that banner, softly, slowly! / Treat it gently—it is holy— / For it droops above the dead. / Touch it not—unfold it never, / Let it droop there, furled forever, / For its people's hopes are dead."

Ralph Woods says in his collection, "Famous Poems and the Stories Behind Them" (pub. by Hawthorn Books), that Father Ryan read it next day to a wounded soldier who had stopped in. The latter demanded a copy and began its circulation; "before long it had swept through the South and made its author famous."

Father Ryan, Woods adds, "was in New Orleans in 1878 when a yellow fever epidemic struck that city. Generous aid was rushed the stricken Louisianians from the North. Happy at this demonstration of good will, the Southern poet-priest wrote verses entitled 'Reunited.' But 'The Conquered Banner' was the poem of his that still waves."

There were, of course, Roman Catholics on both sides in the conflict, and Father Ryan was not the only priest with the Confederate forces. No other one was so notably partisan.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 171

The man who wrote the most quoted of verses associated with Memorial, or Decoration, Day was well known as their writer before he became a Confederate officer. He, Theodore O'Hara, son of an emigrant from Ireland to Kentucky, was inspired to write the poem for ceremonies attending the burial of some Mexican War dead in the cemetery at Frankfort, Ky. O'Hara, a captain in the forces led by Winfield Scott in 1847, had been among the wounded.

He was wounded again with the Lopez volunteers who tried to liberate Cuba from Spanish oppression, and he also accompanied William Walker's filibuster soldiers-of-fortune in Central America.

Upon joining the Rebels in 1861, O'Hara was assigned to command defenses at Mobile Bay, saw service later as staff officer with A. S. Johnston and J. C. Breckenridge. He survived the conflict, to die of fever in 1867. Meanwhile, quotations from his verses (left) had been carved upon military monuments internationally.

—CLARK KINNAIRD

The muffled drum's sad roll has beat
The soldier's last tattoo!
No more on life's parade shall meet
The brave and fallen few.
On Fame's eternal camping ground
Their silent tents are spread,
And glory guards with solemn round
The bivouac of the dead.

No rumor of the foe's advance
Now swells upon the wind,
Nor troubled thought at midnight haunts
Of loved one left behind;
No vision of the morrow's strife
The warrior's dream alarms,
No braying horn nor screaming fife
At dawn shall call to arms.

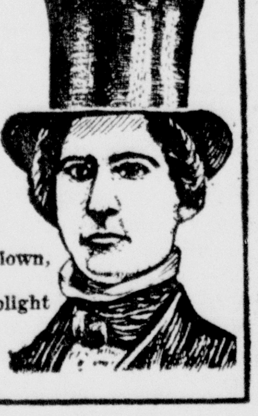
Their shivered swords are red with rust,
Their plumed heads are bowed,
Their haughty banner, trailed in dust,
Is now their martial shroud—
And plenteous funeral tears have washed
The red stains from each brow,
And the proud forms by battle gashed
Are free from anguish now.

The neighing troop, the flashing blade,
The bugle's stirring blast,
The charge, — the dreadful cannonade,
The din and shout, are passed;
Nor war's wild notes, nor glory's peal
Shall thrill with fierce delight
Those breasts that nevermore shall feel
The rapture of the fight.

Like the fierce Northern hurricane
That sweeps his great plateau,
Flushed with the triumph yet to gain,
Come down the serried foe,
Who heard the thunder of the fray
Break o'er the field beneath,
Knew well the watchword of that day
Was "Victory or death!"

Rest on, embalmed and sainted dead!
Dear as the blood you gave—
No impious footsteps here shall tread
The herbage of your grave.
Nor shall your glory be forgot
While Fame her record keeps,
Or honor points the hallowed spot
Where valor proudly sleeps.

Yon marble minstrel's voiceless stone
In deathless song shall tell,
When many a vanquished year hath flown,
The story how ye fell.
Nor wreck nor change, nor winter's blight
Nor time's remorseless doom,
Can dim one ray of holy light
That gilds your glorious tomb.



Right: O'Hara, whose gravestone at Frankfort, Ky., bears his verses.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 172

The ringing lines of "The Conquered Banner," a poem evocative of the "Lost Cause" to be found in Hartnett Kane's "The Romantic South" and other anthologies of Confederate States sentiment, were the composition of a Roman Catholic priest, Father Abram Ryan, who resigned his teaching post at St. John's College in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1861, to go South with younger brother David. They were natives of Virginia.

The two joined James Ewell Brown (Jeb) Stuart's cavalry, Father Ryan as a chaplain, David as a trooper. The latter was killed in action at Chancellorsville. The priest's health, never robust, broke down under the rigors of field service, and he went to a military hospital. After his recovery, he took charge of a mission near Nashville.

There, when he received the news in April 1865 of the surrender of Lee, he was moved to write the seven verses that concluded, "Furl that banner, softly, slowly! / Treat it gently—it is holy— / For it droops above the dead. / Touch it not—unfold it never, / Let it droop there, furled forever, / For its people's hopes are dead."

Ralph Woods says in his collection, "Famous Poems and the Stories Behind Them" (pub. by Hawthorn Books), that Father Ryan read it next day to a wounded soldier who had stopped in. The latter demanded a copy and began its circulation; "before long it had swept through the South and made its author famous."

Father Ryan, Woods adds, "was in New Orleans in 1878 when a yellow fever epidemic struck that city. Generous aid was rushed the stricken Louisianians from the North. Happy at this demonstration of good will, the Southern poet-priest wrote verses entitled 'Reunited.' But 'The Conquered Banner' was the poem of his that still waves."

There were, of course, Roman Catholics on both sides in the conflict, and Father Ryan was not the only priest with the Confederate forces. No other one was so notably partisan.

New Juvenile Quarters Are Dedicated Here

$33,939 Building Ready For Use

Nearly 50 persons interested in the welfare of Allegany County children yesterday attended a ceremony marking the dedication of the new $34,000 County Juvenile Detention Building adjacent to the County Infirmary.

Participants in the comparatively brief program traced the history of the project and the purposes of the building, and expressed hope that the structure can be used to get wayward juveniles back on the right track.

Miss Esther M. Carter, chairman of the detention and foster care committee of the County Youth Commission, presided at the ceremonies.

Traces History

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, chairman of the County Youth Commission, in tracing the history of the project, pointed out that the detention and foster care committee of the commission has had an active interest in this new building ever since the commission was organized in 1958.

She noted that the County Board of Commissioners first appropriated $16,000 toward the project in 1960 when it was thought that state funds could finance the other half of the project. When the state money was not available, the county appropriated additional funds and the contract was awarded to the John I. Vandegrift Construction Company on a low bid of $29,470 in February. With extra costs, the construction has cost the county $31,752.08 plus $2,186.95 for equipment or a total of $33,939.03 to date.

Louis A. Fatkin, the county's magistrate for juvenile causes, in discussing the purposes of the new building, pointed out that it has long been known that juveniles should not be placed in jails with older and more seasoned offenders if any rehabilitation is to result from their confinement.

For years juvenile offenders in Allegany County have been placed in rooms at either end of the County Infirmary. This has not proven satisfactory because some of these young inmates have caused considerable damage to the infirmary rooms and have annoyed the elderly patients at the infirmary.

Favorable Attention

Magistrate Fatkin pointed out that Allegany County's Juvenile Detention Building has focused favorable attention upon the county from nearby areas. He observed that Judge David E. Cuppett in a charge to the Mineral County grand jury in nearby West Virginia had suggested that Mineral County could follow Allegany's example and build detention facilities for juveniles.

The magistrate for juvenile causes also read parts of a letter he had just received from Judge George H. Whaley of Wood County Intermediate Court at Parkersburg, W. Va. Judge Whaley wrote that his county is interested in building detention facilities and would like to profit from Allegany County's experience.

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, formally accepted the building from Carl S. Vandegrift, vice president of the John I. Vandegrift Construction Company. Mr. Rowan accepted the building "for all the people" of Allegany County and commended the County Youth Commission for its persistent efforts which resulted in the building.

Commissioners John T. Mason and Louis V. Shinnamon, who also were responsible for providing the necessary funds, made brief responses, too.

"A Monument"

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey called the new building a monument to the cooperative efforts of all agencies interested in the welfare of children and especially stressed the County Youth Commission and the clergy of the county.

Judge Cobey observed that in 1961, some 4,500 persons were placed in penal institutions of Maryland and only 600 of them were first offenders. All of these places except the Patuxent Institution for psychiatric care are overcrowded. Some $10,000,000 is being spent on a new Maryland Institution for Males in Washington County. He expressed hope that the new building here, equipped to take care of up to six young offenders, will play an important role in straightening out juveniles.

Brief comments also were made by William Koelber, chief of the Division of Prevention and Consultation Services of the State Welfare Department; Mrs. William H. Wood, Bladensburg, first vice president of the Maryland Commission For Children and Youth, and John H. Jeffries, probation officer for the Juvenile Court.

Two clergymen participated in the program. Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, delivered the benediction.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Elizabeth Irene Stokes vs. Upton Stokes, and Ira Gertrude Bolyard vs. Jonas Bolyard Jr.

Participate In Dedication

These five persons were among the leaders in the ceremonies yesterday afternoon marking the dedication of the new Allegany County Juvenile Detention Building. Pictured, left to right, Juvenile Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin, Miss Esther M. Carter of the County Youth Commission; Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, Mrs. Gordon L. Two Escapees Of Keyser Jail Still At Large

Authorities of the tri-state area are on the lookout for two prisoners who escaped early yesterday morning from the Keyser city jail.

They were identified as Harry E. Lowry, Morgantown, who was being held for questioning by state police in connection with a grand larceny, and Benny Hudson, 17, of Keyser.

Authorities said Hudson was awaiting transfer to a forestry camp at Davis where he was sentenced to serve a year in connection with felony charges resulting from a number of breaking and enterings.

The escape was discovered by the jailer, Mrs. Bessie Welch, who said she heard a noise around 1:45 a. m. and thought it was her husband, Frank Welch, moving around. She investigated and found the two prisoners missing from the second-floor cell.

Mrs. Welch said the escape was made when the two prisoners tore off a latch of the cell door and used it to pry apart four bars on a window of the door through which food is passed to the prisoners.

Mrs. Welch said she could not figure out how the two prisoners, particularly Lowry, squeezed through the small opening.

The escapees made their way downstairs and walked out after unlocking the front door of the jail.

It is believed the duo then walked to the south end of Keyser and made off in a pickup truck which was reported stolen by the owner yesterday.

State Police were notified of another vehicle theft yesterday in the Fort Ashby region, and it is theorized that the escapees abandoned the truck stolen from Keyser in that area. The first stolen vehicle has not yet been located, authorities state.

Mrs. Welch said another young prisoner in the cell made no attempt to escape with Lowry and the Hudson youth.

Bloomington Dam Gets Senate Okay

The proposed $51 million Bloomington Dam on the North Branch of the Potomac River passed its third hurdle this week when it was included in a flood control bill adopted yesterday by the Senate in Washington, according to Senator Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrat.

Senator Randolph said his state will receive $123.64 million for flood control projects and $121.1 million in federal aid for highway construction from two measures adopted by the Senate.

The Senator said the highway bill includes authorization of $23 million for the scenic highway which would run from Tucker County to Richwood.

On Wednesday, the Bloomington Dam got the approval of the House of Representatives when it was included in an omnibus bill in that branch of Congress. Monday it had received the sanction of the House Public Works Committee.

Sixth District leaders are Don MacArthur of Rock Creek Hills, chairman, and Mrs. Alvin L. Aunbinoe, Greenwich Forest, co-chairman.

The district and county finance committees will seek contributions to support the efforts of the Committee to Re-elect Congressman Mathias.

Medical Self-Help Class Set At Memorial Hospital

Allegany County Health Department, Memorial Hospital nursing staff and the Allegany County Pharmaceutical Society will jointly offer a medical self-help course this month.

Maryland has been selected as the pilot area for the self-help program which is sponsored by the Civil Defense Agency.

Representatives of county industries, service organizations, the police and fire departments have been invited to participate in the course which will consist of 12 lessons.

The 12 classes will be held on consecutive Wednesday nights at Memorial Hospital, October 24, 31 and November 7, from 7 until 10 p.m.

Those persons completing the first course will act as instructors for classes in the individual organizations.

The self-help course is designed to prepare citizens to take care of themselves in the event of a nuclear attack. It is assumed that the number of casualties would be tremendous and far exceed the capabilities of trained medical personnel. It is also estimated that about 40 per cent of the population would survive a massive attack and it is hoped that with preparation such as the self-help program, survival could rise to 80 per cent.

The first three lessons will be given by the Pharmaceutical Society and the fourth by the Health Department nursing staff. Memorial Hospital staff will teach the fifth through eighth classes, and the ninth through eleventh will be given by the health nurses. The twelfth and final class will be in charge of Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, county health officer.

Miller Blasts New Frontier, LBJ's Speech

Wheaton, Md. (AP)—Maryland's Republican candidate for U.S. Senate charged the Kennedy Administration Thursday night with failing "to resist, or even recognize the Communist threat."

"The administration tells us that we shouldn't criticize the administration on its foreign policy, as criticism is bad for our prestige abroad," Edward T. Miller said in a speech prepared for a rally in the Wheaton Plaza Shopping Center.

"How much prestige have we gained as a result of our weak-kneed, vacillating policy on Cuba" Miller asked.

"Russia is openly sending troops and equipment into Cuba while the world hears the administration blithely tell us these thousands of men and tons of equipment are for defensive use.

"Since when is Cuba a part of Russia's defenses? I'll tell you when—since the advent of the New Frontier."

Miller criticized a televised speech in Pikesville by Vice President Lyndon Johnson Wednesday night, in which the Democratic leader said the borders of the Free World "everywhere remain uncompromised, uncrossed, and defended resolutely."

"I regard such irresponsible disregard of the truth as an insult to the intelligence of th people of Maryland," Miller said.

"On the basis of such distortions and half truths," Miller said, ". . . Johnson asked you . . to elect more Democrats because the President isn't getting enough support from the vast Democrat majority he already has in Congress.

"In short, fellow Marylanders, he wants you to elect rubber stamps to the Congress and the Senate of the United States."

Tydings Urges All Citizens To Fight Slots

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — U.S. Attorney Joseph D. Tydings has called for bipartisan efforts to rid Maryland of gambling.

Tydings told the Silver Spring Board of Trade that gambling is a corrupting influence on government. He said national officials have been swayed by gambling interests and the same thing can happen in Maryland.

Tydings cited Anne Arundel County as an example of how gambling interests can influence public officials. Anne Arundel is one of four Southern Maryland counties where slot machines are legal.

The federal attorney said 11 men in Anne Arundel County control the slot machine operations and maintain a fund, "used for public relations, campaign funds, the right lawyers, the right politicians, and even the right press men."

Tydings said the money is even used to influence one executive director of a crime commission in Maryland.

Tydings said the sums of money involved nationally dwarfs the payoff money used during the days of prohibition.

The federal prosecutor said the former Anne Arundel County business manager, J. J. Salovaara, was fired because he would not comply with the demands of slot machine interests represented by a majority of the county commissioners.

Tydings says the gambling issue should be removed from the arena of partisan politics and efforts made by all citizens to rid the state of slot machins and commercial bingo games.

2 Men Face Questioning In Entry

Two Green Spring, W. Va., men who were turned over to local police last night by West Virginia authorities are being held in the city jail in connection with the breaking and entering and theft of about $100 on September 1 from a local service station.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said that Robert Lee Kerns, 21, and John Riggleman, about 20, will be questioned this morning.

Earlier this week Kerns admitted that he was involved in the breaking and entering and theft of the money and implicated Riggleman who was picked up by West Virginia authorities on a warrant forwarded to them by Van.

Yesterday the two men waived extradition and were turned over to local authorities by Sheriff J. M. Buckbee and a West Virginia trooper.

Captain Van and Detective Kenneth Morrissey met the West Virginia authorities between here and Romney and brought the two men to the city jail.

Entry to the service station at the intersection of Park and Williams streets was made by breaking a window on the south side of the building, police said.

Discontinuance Of Speedliners Opposed Here

Residents Testify At ICC Meeting

Opposition to the proposed discontinuance of the B&O's Passenger Trains 21 and 22, the Speedliners, was voiced yesterday by local and area persons during a hearing conducted at City Hall by Elden J. Miller, an examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Among those testifying at the hearing was William Walsh, local attorney and member of the Allegany County delegation to the Maryland General Assembly.

He pointed out that the Cumberland area has a chronic unemployment problem and is constantly seeking new business and industry.

A key factor in encouraging new business and industry here is the accessibility of Cumberland by rail. Discontinuance of the two trains would be a step toward isolating Cumberland, he said.

Cites Mountainous Land

Mr. Walsh also said that because of the mountainous terrain businessmen rely on rail transportation, especially during the winter months when highway travel is hazardous.

Businessmen want to spend as little time as possible in traveling, and they find the Speedliners which connect Cumberland with Pitsburgh, Washington and Baltimore an attractive means of transportation.

He said he sympathizes with the loss of revenue the railroad claims it is faced with but he hopes the ICC will refuse to allow discontinuance.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Heart Association, spoke on behalf of cardiac patients being transferred from here to the medical center of Baltimore.

She referred to the Speedliner as being convenient, fast and clean, and worth keeping on the railroad's schedule.

Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage, another member of the House of Delegates from Allegany County, spoke as a member of the delegation and an interested citizen.

He feels that the discontinuance of the two trains would affect the economy and welfare of Cumberland and outlying communities.

Mr. Reed said he has ridden on the Speedliner and finds it a convenient means of transportation.

Notes Train Schedules

W. B. Harris, city, representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, pointed out that Cumberland is situated between Pittsburgh and the Washington-Baltimore area, and with the discontinuance of Trains 21 and 22, the Queen City will become more isolated.

Officials of local industries, he said, are in need of rail transportation to various other cities in the east.

Mr. Harris pointed out that Train No. 7 leaves Cumberland for Pittsburgh at 2:02 a.m., the Speedliner at 12:58 p.m. and Train No. 9 at 4:57 p.m. With the elimination of the Speedliner, those who wish to travel to Pittsburgh would have to wait about 15 hours between the time Trains 7 and 9 depart from the Queen City Station.

No Support Given B&O

There were no witnesses in favor of the railroad's proposal.

The first witness, Barnett W. Smallwood, Martinsburg, W. Va., said he is acting general chairman of the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen on the B&O system.

He presented figures which he said were conductor's reports on paid passengers using the Speedliners between Baltimore and Cumberland during certain periods of September.

Although this is about the tenth year for a parent-child program under the direction of the pupil personnel department, it is only the seventh year with outside leadership under a structured program.

Mr. Higgins said most of the groups still can accept additional parents next week.

Other groups will be organized in other schools to start the week of January 7. Registration for these sessions will be conducted just before and just after Christmas.

Mr. Higgins and the three visiting teachers who work with him are providing consultant service for these 15 parent-child study groups. The visiting teachers are Miss Esther M. Carter, Glenn U. Hanna and Eugene J. Hopkins.

Goldstein With Tawes On Slot Machine Issue

Tells Why He's Changed His Mind

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said Thursday he favors abolition of slot machines in Maryland.

He thus got in line with Gov. Tawes and the other members of Tawes' Democratic ticket in opposition to the slots.

Goldstein is from Calvert County, one of four counties in Maryland where the gambling devices are legal. He had previously maintained the slot machines were a local issue.

Reminded at a news conference of this, Goldstein said:

"A wise man changes his mind and a fool never does. My statement is issued in light of present-day conditions."

The Republican candidate for governor against Tawes, Frank Small Jr., has held that slot machines are a local issue which should be submitted to referendum. But most of Small's running mates have called for abolition of the machines.

Endorses Tawes' Idea

Goldstein's statement said:

"I endorse Governor J. Millard Tawes' position with reference to slot machines and the appointment of an outstanding committee, headed by Richard W. Emory, to study this matter and its effect on the economy of Southern Maryland, particularly with respect to the effect on revenues, tax structures, hospitals, schools, public works and bond issues.

"The committee will make its report to the governor and the legislature for action at the State House."

Goldstein said he conferred with Tawes and showed him his statement before releasing it. He said the governor did not try to influence him in the matter.

"This is my own statement and I will stand or fall on it," he said. Asked if it meant he personally favored abolition of the slot machines, Goldstein said it does.

A Delicate Position

He is in probably the most delicate position of any of the statewide candidates on the issue. He is the only statewide candidate from either party from a county in which gambling is legal and he has had powerful political support from Southern Maryland.

In 1948, when he was a state senator from Calvert County, he sponsored the legislation which made the slot machines legal in the county. County voters approved the bill on referendum by a margin of more than two to one.

His statement ended a two-week silence on the issue. Asked why he waited, Goldstein said he was entitled to make his own decision and to take his time in doing so. He also mentioned that he was outside of Maryland because of a death in his wife's family when Tawes issued his statement against the slots.

The comptroller said he thought the people of Southern Maryland would understand his position.

"They know I don't sit on a fence," he said.

New Juvenile Quarters Are Dedicated Here

$33,939 Building Ready For Use

Nearly 50 persons interested in the welfare of Allegany County children yesterday attended a ceremony marking the dedication of the new $34,000 County Juvenile Detention Building adjacent to the County Infirmary.

Participants in the comparatively brief program traced the history of the project and the purposes of the building, and expressed hope that the structure can be used to get wayward juveniles back on the right track.

Miss Esther M. Carter, chairman of the detention and foster care committee of the County Youth Commission, presided at the ceremonies.

Traces History

Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, chairman of the County Youth Commission, in tracing the history of the project, pointed out that the detention and foster care committee of the commission has had an active interest in this new building ever since the commission was organized in 1958.

She noted that the County Board of Commissioners first appropriated $16,000 toward the project in 1960 when it was thought that state funds could finance the other half of the project. When the state money was not available, the county appropriated additional funds and the contract was awarded to the John I. Vandegrift Construction Company on a low bid of $29,470 in February. With extra costs, the construction has cost the county $31,752.08 plus $2,186.95 for equipment or a total of $33,939.03 to date.

Louis A. Fatkin, the county's magistrate for juvenile causes, in discussing the purposes of the new building, pointed out that it has long been known that juveniles should not be placed in jails with older and more seasoned offenders if any rehabilitation is to result from their confinement.

For years juvenile offenders in Allegany County have been placed in rooms at either end of the County Infirmary. This has not proven satisfactory because some of these young inmates have caused considerable damage to the infirmary rooms and have annoyed the elderly patients at the infirmary.

Favorable Attention

Magistrate Fatkin pointed out that Allegany County's Juvenile Detention Building has focused favorable attention upon the county from nearby areas. He observed that Judge David E. Cuppett in a charge to the Mineral County grand jury in nearby West Virginia had suggested that Mineral County could follow Allegany's example and build detention facilities for juveniles.

The magistrate for juvenile causes also read parts of a letter he had just received from Judge George H. Whaley of Wood County Intermediate Court at Parkersburg, W. Va. Judge Whaley wrote that his county is interested in building detention facilities and would like to profit from Allegany County's experience.

John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, formally accepted the building from Carl S. Vandegrift, vice president of the John I. Vandegrift Construction Company. Mr. Rowan accepted the building "for all the people" of Allegany County and commended the County Youth Commission for its persistent efforts which resulted in the building.

Commissioners John T. Mason and Louis V. Shinnamon, who also were responsible for providing the necessary funds, made brief responses, too.

"A Monument"

Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey called the new building a monument to the cooperative efforts of all agencies interested in the welfare of children and especially stressed the County Youth Commission and the clergy of the county.

Judge Cobey observed that in 1961, some 4,500 persons were placed in penal institutions of Maryland and only 600 of them were first offenders. All of these places except the Patuxent Institution for psychiatric care are overcrowded. Some $10,000,000 is being spent on a new Maryland Institution for Males in Washington County. He expressed hope that the new building here, equipped to take care of up to six young offenders, will play an important role in straightening out juveniles.

Brief comments also were made by William Koelber, chief of the Division of Prevention and Consultation Services of the State Welfare Department; Mrs. William H. Wood, Bladensburg, first vice president of the Maryland Commission For Children and Youth, and John H. Jeffries, probation officer for the Juvenile Court.

Two clergymen participated in the program. Rev. Russell E. Fink, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, gave the invocation and Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, delivered the benediction.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits were filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Elizabeth Irene Stokes vs. Upton Stokes, and Ira Gertrude Bolyard vs. Jonas Bolyard Jr.

Participate In Dedication

These five persons were among the leaders in the ceremonies yesterday afternoon marking the dedication of the new Allegany County Juvenile Detention Building. Pictured, left to right, Juvenile Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin, Miss Esther M. Carter of the County Youth Commission; Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, Mrs. Gordon L. Two Escapees Of Keyser Jail Still At Large

Authorities of the tri-state area are on the lookout for two prisoners who escaped early yesterday morning from the Keyser city jail.

They were identified as Harry E. Lowry, Morgantown, who was being held for questioning by state police in connection with a grand larceny, and Benny Hudson, 17, of Keyser.

Authorities said Hudson was awaiting transfer to a forestry camp at Davis where he was sentenced to serve a year in connection with felony charges resulting from a number of breaking and enterings.

The escape was discovered by the jailer, Mrs. Bessie Welch, who said she heard a noise around 1:45 a. m. and thought it was her husband, Frank Welch, moving around. She investigated and found the two prisoners missing from the second-floor cell.

Mrs. Welch said the escape was made when the two prisoners tore off a latch of the cell door and used it to pry apart four bars on a window of the door through which food is passed to the prisoners.

Mrs. Welch said she could not figure out how the two prisoners, particularly Lowry, squeezed through the small opening.

The escapees made their way downstairs and walked out after unlocking the front door of the jail.

It is believed the duo then walked to the south end of Keyser and made off in a pickup truck which was reported stolen by the owner yesterday.

State Police were notified of another vehicle theft yesterday in the Fort Ashby region, and it is theorized that the escapees abandoned the truck stolen from Keyser in that area. The first stolen vehicle has not yet been located, authorities state.

Mrs. Welch said another young prisoner in the cell made no attempt to escape with Lowry and the Hudson youth.

Bloomington Dam Gets Senate Okay

The proposed $51 million Bloomington Dam on the North Branch of the Potomac River passed its third hurdle this week when it was included in a flood control bill adopted yesterday by the Senate in Washington, according to Senator Jennings Randolph, West Virginia Democrat.

Senator Randolph said his state will receive $123.64 million for flood control projects and $121.1 million in federal aid for highway construction from two measures adopted by the Senate.

The Senator said the highway bill includes authorization of $23 million for the scenic highway which would run from Tucker County to Richwood.

On Wednesday, the Bloomington Dam got the approval of the House of Representatives when it was included in an omnibus bill in that branch of Congress. Monday it had received the sanction of the House Public Works Committee.

Medical Self-Help Class Set At Memorial Hospital

Allegany County Health Department, Memorial Hospital nursing staff and the Allegany County Pharmaceutical Society will jointly offer a medical self-help course this month.

Maryland has been selected as the pilot area for the self-help program which is sponsored by the Civil Defense Agency.

Representatives of county industries, service organizations, the police and fire departments have been invited to participate in the course which will consist of 12 lessons.

The 12 classes will be held on consecutive Wednesday nights at Memorial Hospital, October 24, 31 and November 7, from 7 until 10 p.m.

Those persons completing the first course will act as instructors for classes in the individual organizations.

The self-help course is designed to prepare citizens to take care of themselves in the event of a nuclear attack. It is assumed that the number of casualties would be tremendous and far exceed the capabilities of trained medical personnel. It is also estimated that about 40 per cent of the population would survive a massive attack and it is hoped that with preparation such as the self-help program, survival could rise to 80 per cent.

The first three lessons will be given by the Pharmaceutical Society and the fourth by the Health Department nursing staff. Memorial Hospital staff will teach the fifth through eighth classes, and the ninth through eleventh will be given by the health nurses. The twelfth and final class will be in charge of Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, county health officer.

Miller Blasts New Frontier, LBJ's Speech

Wheaton, Md. (AP)—Maryland's Republican candidate for U.S. Senate charged the Kennedy Administration Thursday night with failing "to resist, or even recognize the Communist threat."

"The administration tells us that we shouldn't criticize the administration on its foreign policy, as criticism is bad for our prestige abroad," Edward T. Miller said in a speech prepared for a rally in the Wheaton Plaza Shopping Center.

"How much prestige have we gained as a result of our weak-kneed, vacillating policy on Cuba" Miller asked.

"Russia is openly sending troops and equipment into Cuba while the world hears the administration blithely tell us these thousands of men and tons of equipment are for defensive use.

"Since when is Cuba a part of Russia's defenses? I'll tell you when—since the advent of the New Frontier."

Miller criticized a televised speech in Pikesville by Vice President Lyndon Johnson Wednesday night, in which the Democratic leader said the borders of the Free World "everywhere remain uncompromised, uncrossed, and defended resolutely."

"I regard such irresponsible disregard of the truth as an insult to the intelligence of th people of Maryland," Miller said.

"On the basis of such distortions and half truths," Miller said, ". . . Johnson asked you . . to elect more Democrats because the President isn't getting enough support from the vast Democrat majority he already has in Congress.

"In short, fellow Marylanders, he wants you to elect rubber stamps to the Congress and the Senate of the United States."

Tydings Urges All Citizens To Fight Slots

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — U.S. Attorney Joseph D. Tydings has called for bipartisan efforts to rid Maryland of gambling.

Tydings told the Silver Spring Board of Trade that gambling is a corrupting influence on government. He said national officials have been swayed by gambling interests and the same thing can happen in Maryland.

Tydings cited Anne Arundel County as an example of how gambling interests can influence public officials. Anne Arundel is one of four Southern Maryland counties where slot machines are legal.

The federal attorney said 11 men in Anne Arundel County control the slot machine operations and maintain a fund, "used for public relations, campaign funds, the right lawyers, the right politicians, and even the right press men."

Tydings said the money is even used to influence one executive director of a crime commission in Maryland.

Tydings said the sums of money involved nationally dwarfs the payoff money used during the days of prohibition.

The federal prosecutor said the former Anne Arundel County business manager, J. J. Salovaara, was fired because he would not comply with the demands of slot machine interests represented by a majority of the county commissioners.

Tydings says the gambling issue should be removed from the arena of partisan politics and efforts made by all citizens to rid the state of slot machins and commercial bingo games.

2 Men Face Questioning In Entry

Two Green Spring, W. Va., men who were turned over to local police last night by West Virginia authorities are being held in the city jail in connection with the breaking and entering and theft of about $100 on September 1 from a local service station.

City Police Detective Captain James E. Van said that Robert Lee Kerns, 21, and John Riggleman, about 20, will be questioned this morning.

Earlier this week Kerns admitted that he was involved in the breaking and entering and theft of the money and implicated Riggleman who was picked up by West Virginia authorities on a warrant forwarded to them by Van.

Yesterday the two men waived extradition and were turned over to local authorities by Sheriff J. M. Buckbee and a West Virginia trooper.

Captain Van and Detective Kenneth Morrissey met the West Virginia authorities between here and Romney and brought the two men to the city jail.

Entry to the service station at the intersection of Park and Williams streets was made by breaking a window on the south side of the building, police said.

Discontinuance Of Speedliners Opposed Here

Residents Testify At ICC Meeting

Opposition to the proposed discontinuance of the B&O's Passenger Trains 21 and 22, the Speedliners, was voiced yesterday by local and area persons during a hearing conducted at City Hall by Elden J. Miller, an examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Among those testifying at the hearing was William Walsh, local attorney and member of the Allegany County delegation to the Maryland General Assembly.

He pointed out that the Cumberland area has a chronic unemployment problem and is constantly seeking new business and industry.

A key factor in encouraging new business and industry here is the accessibility of Cumberland by rail. Discontinuance of the two trains would be a step toward isolating Cumberland, he said.

Cites Mountainous Land

Mr. Walsh also said that because of the mountainous terrain businessmen rely on rail transportation, especially during the winter months when highway travel is hazardous.

Businessmen want to spend as little time as possible in traveling, and they find the Speedliners which connect Cumberland with Pitstburgh, Washington and Baltimore an attractive means of transportation.

He said he sympathizes with the loss of revenue the railroad claims it is faced with but he hopes the ICC will refuse to allow discontinuance.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive secretary of the Allegany-Garrett Counties Heart Association, spoke on behalf of cardiac patients being transferred from here to the medical center of Baltimore.

She referred to the Speedliner as being convenient, fast and clean, and worth keeping on the railroad's schedule.

Lester B. Reed, Mt. Savage, another member of the House of Delegates from Allegany County, spoke as a member of the delegation and an interested citizen.

He feels that the discontinuance of the two trains would affect the economy and welfare of Cumberland and outlying communities.

Mr. Reed said he has ridden on the Speedliner and finds it a convenient means of transportation.

Notes Train Schedules

W. B. Harris, city, representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, pointed out that Cumberland is situated between Pittsburgh and the Washington-Baltimore area, and with the discontinuance of Trains 21 and 22, the Queen City will become more isolated.

Officials of local industries, he said, are in need of rail transportation to various other cities in the east.

Mr. Harris pointed out that Train No. 7 leaves Cumberland for Pittsburgh at 2:02 a.m., the Speedliner at 12:58 p.m. and Train No. 9 at 4:57 p.m. With the elimination of the Speedliner, those who wish to travel to Pittsburgh would have to wait about 15 hours between the time Trains 7 and 9 depart from the Queen City Station.

No Support Given B&O

There were no witnesses in favor of the railroad's proposal.

The first witness, Barnett W. Smallwood, Martinsburg, W. Va., said he is acting general chairman of the Order of Railroad Conductors and Brakemen on the B&O system.

He presented figures which he said were conductor's reports on paid passengers using the Speedliners between Baltimore and Cumberland during certain periods of September.
